FILMING OF "BEN HUR" HALTED AGAIN AS FASCISTI AND FOES BATTLE ON SCENE NEAR ROME

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, Aug. 20.—Rioting of a near serious nature today broke out between pro-Fascisti and anti-Fascisti workmen employed by an American motion-picture company which is making a film production of "Ben Hur" a few miles from Rome.

Carabiners were summoned to quell the disturbance.

The trouble started yesterday afternoon when the anti-Fascists who were greatly in the majority attempted to get the pro-Fascisti workers to join them in a half holiday in honor of the late Socialist Deputy Giacomo Matteotti. This morning, however, the pro-Fascisti numbers were augmented by compatriots from the surrounding countryside. They proceeded to administer fistic chastisement to the Matteotti sympathizers.

Trouble between the pro and anti-Fascisti factions in Italy previously has caused serious uneasiness and hampered the filming of "Ben Hur" which is employing some 20,000 persons near Rome, according to reports reaching Louis B. Mayer, of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture Corporation.

"I had hoped that our troubles with the Fascisti were at an end," said Mr. Mayer last night, "but every few days we have a cable reporting new difficulties. The entire government is under the control of the Black Shirts, and we have not had much help from that quarter. This new outbreak may result in forcing me to make a trip over there."

LABOR PARTY CHIEFS AT ODDS ON LONDON PACT

Finance Chancellor Sets England Agog With Attack on Accord; French Are Incensed

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Aug. 20.—An unprecedented situation has arisen here as the result of the outspoken criticism of the work of the London conference on the Dawes plan by Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Recently, in an interview published in the Manchester Guardian, Mr. Snowden voiced his disapproval of several phases of the London agreement as drawn up by the conference delegates and he especially warned British traders and manufacturers against the dangers to them of the conclusion of a Franco-German commercial treaty.

In the second interview, granted a London paper today, Mr. Snowden reiterates his belief that the policy of permitting the French to remain in the Ruhr another twelve months was a wrong one.

STRANGE SPECTACLE

The spectacle of a Chancellor of the Exchequer openly dissenting from his chief, without first having resigned and thus receiving freedom to speak at large, has taken political circles aback. A serious crisis would have been precipitated instantly by such an action in the case of any previous government. But the Labor government has been making precedents and evidently Mr. Snowden has no more intention of resigning than Mr. MacDonald has of asking him to do so.

Mr. Snowden in today's interview declares:

"The essential feature of the Dawes scheme is that Germany should be left free in her economic and financial affairs. It will be impossible to pay the very heavy reparations imposed upon her under this scheme unless she is free to work and develop her trade and commerce to the greatest possible extent.

"That is why I feel so strongly that the French and Belgians, even from the point of view of their own interest in reparations, have made a mistake in not volunteering completely to evacuate the Ruhr as soon as the Dawes scheme comes into operation."

FEARS FOR TRADE

Mr. Snowden also stresses his point regarding the proposed Franco-German commercial treaty and its repercussion on British trade and industry.

"This draft of an agreement," he continues, "proposes to compel Germany to admit imports free of duty from Alsace and Lorraine, goods which are in keen competition with similar British manufactures. British goods entering Germany would be subject to a very high tariff. It is thus an unfair argument which I have in mind, and which if carried through undoubtedly would be disastrous to many British interests."

The Conservatives and Liberals are reading the sign on the wall and are preparing in view of the labor dissension for an energetic campaign in the autumn preliminary to the next general election which may come sooner than expected.

AGAINST SOVIET

Mr. Snowden carried with him a strong element in the Labor party and his resignation is out of the question at present because it almost inevitably would be a mortal blow to the labor Cabinet in which he is the second most powerful minister.

Mr. Snowden does, however, consider it his duty as guardian of the British national finances to make clear his views of the recent developments and his personal dissatisfaction with Mr. MacDonald's methods in certain respects.

Mr. Snowden was bitterly disappointed over Mr. MacDonald's method in concluding the treaties with the Russians. Backed by the advice of big British financial interests, Mr. Snowden is opposed to the last to Great Britain's guaranteeing any sort of a loan to the soviets.

President of University of California Mothers' Club Faces Fight Against Resignation Demand

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Because she smokes cigarettes and doesn't see why University of California co-eds shouldn't smoke, too, Mrs. Kimball G. Easton of Berkeley, president of the University of California Mothers' Club, probably will be asked to resign her office.

Mrs. Addie Billings, East Bay attorney, is leader of the club faction which will fight for Mrs. Easton's resignation at the next meeting of the organization.

ATTITUDE ASSAILED

"If she smokes herself, that is a personal matter," admitted Mrs. Billings, "but as president of a club which is pledged to watch over the morals of the young people of the State, she cannot take the attitude she has and expect mothers of California to have confidence in the organization of which she is chief executive."

The club tempest is the outgrowth of the opening of a beauty parlor and girls' smokeshop at the edge of the university campus. Announcement that the shop's avowed purpose was the providing of a place where fair co-eds may smoke cigarettes to their heart's content, has precipitated a discussion that has leaped the bounds of the campus and has become a Berkeley-wide topic of controversy.

MRS. EASTON'S STAND

Mrs. Easton herself says:

"I am not a hypocrite. I smoke and whether or not I'm president of the Mothers' Club doesn't make any difference. We can't lay down a set of rules for everyone to follow. I'm sorry that my remarks have caused so much excitement and there is one thing I do want to make clear—I do not believe in overindulgence."

Mrs. Josephine Perry, past president of the Mothers' Club, representing the middle course element in the organization, said: "Let the girls of the college settle it themselves. They are capable of pro-

Many Eyes Moist as Youthful Prosecutor Tells Facts in Franks Murder

Associate Attorney Cites Cases of Many Young Gallows Victims

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—A miracle happened today in Judge John R. Caverly's court, where Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb are facing death for the murder of 14-year-old Bobbie Franks.

A young man arose and talked of the crime—and the grins left the faces of the debonair defendants—men and women in the seats beyond the railing cried and did not know it—and the father of the murdered boy got up and left the courtroom that he might not suffer so before the gaze of men.

The young man was Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage. He followed Thomas Marshall when the latter had done with his exposition of the law.

Up until this afternoon Mr. Savage had had little to do with the prosecution. But this afternoon he was the prosecution, he was the outraged law itself, he was a Daniel come to judgment. He thundered, he pitied, he painted pictures so that all might see and weep.

WARMS TO SUBJECT

He was speaking on the evidence, and he did not warm up to his subject until he came to the point where Leopold and Loeb saw Bobbie Franks and beckoned him to their car—beckoned him with smiles that he might come and have his life gouged out of him to give "his Judas friends a thrill."

Constant repitition of the facts may have dulled them a little—but the young man sharpened them again and made them bite. Pointing a hard finger at the two self-confessed slayers, Mr. Savage called them "these fiends," "these murderers." And turning to the judge, the assistant prosecuting attorney thundered: "It was the most cold-blooded, most cowardly, most cruel murder, not only in the Illinois courts, but also in any court in the country."

One after the other he arrayed the details of the "crime of the century," and piece by piece he built up what appeared to be an impregnable mountain to show that Judge Caverly can do no other thing than send these two youthful slayers to the gallows.

VICTIM'S FATHER LEAVES

Jacob Franks, the father of the slain child, sat for a long time with his hand to his eyes. Then he whispered to the young woman next to him: "I can't stand it any more," and he took his hat and shuffled out of the courtroom. And as he left the crowded courtroom was in tears.

It was the first time that eyes have been moist with sympathy for the victim. Only once before did any tears at all fall over the case, and that was when Nathan and Richard stood up to the bar to plead guilty. Then Nathan Leopold, Sr., cried like a child, and Jacob Loeb, the uncle of Richard, broke down at the sad disgrace and uselessness of it all.

Savage had followed Assistant State's Attorney Marshall, who had talked all morning and most of the afternoon, filling the courtroom with ghosts—the ghosts of boys and young men, from 18 to 26 years of age, whom the State of Illinois had hanged for murder.

Marshall veritably told Judge Caverly that under the law he has no choice; he must sentence Loeb and Leopold to death. For, if he does not, then Marshall presumes to show by the law books, that all the long line of men who have taken the mournful last walk over

Our "District Attorney"

KEYES AND "BIG HUTCH"

Probably no greater feeling of amazement and indignation ever was experienced by the people of Los Angeles city and county than that which followed exposure of the secret attempt of Dist.-Atty. Keyes to obtain the release from San Quentin prison of Everett Hutchings, known to the police and the criminal underworld as "Big Hutch"—one of the most skillful and ruthless bunko men in the United States.

The wave of public disapproval and denunciation that greeted publication of Keyes's letter to the State Board of Prison Directors suggesting the release of the notorious thief and confidence man would have swept Keyes out of office and into obscurity had the scheme been exposed at a time when the electorate could express a repudiation of a public official willing to lend himself and his office to such ends.

Proceeding from any source, such a surreptitious attempt to liberate a dangerous criminal would have been outrageous enough to call down upon its author's head the just condemnation of the community. Proceeding from the chief law-enforcement officer of the district in which "Big Hutch" operated, the official whose sworn duty it is to guard the people of this rich area from just such predatory criminals, the enormity of the attempt is multiplied a thousandfold.

That Hutchings is not free to resume his depredations upon the people of Los Angeles and their guests is not due to the District Attorney, but to the refusal of the prison board to accept the remarkable statement of Keyes that Hutchings, if paroled, could be used to advantage as an employee of the District Attorney's office.

The conviction of "Big Hutch" on a charge involving an especially flagrant and heartless fraud practiced upon John B. Norris, an elderly visitor in Los Angeles, whose life savings approximating $51,000 were stolen, constituted one of the greatest legal victories ever won in a local court and was accomplished only after the exercise of the utmost vigor, persistence and legal skill by Keyes's predecessor, Thomas Lee Woolwine.

Hutchings fled from California and was apprehended in New York City, where his use of money and his influence with powerful politicians prevented for months his extradition for trial in Los Angeles. Woolwine, however, succeeded in extraditing him and, after a trial in which every effort was made to prevent conviction, the bunko man was found guilty and sentenced to ten years in State's prison.

The search conducted through the country for Hutchings, the extradition proceedings in New York and the subsequent trial in Los Angeles cost the people of this county approximately $30,000.

In all of his dealings with the law-enforcement officers Hutchings showed himself to be a criminal of exceptional intelligence and energy. Following his conviction he fought desperately for eighteen months to avoid going to prison. At the time he gave up this fight he was at liberty under bond of $100,000, of which $50,000 was for the case in which he had been convicted and $50,000 under a charge of swindling $20,000 from John Swanson.

Thomas Donahue of Altoona, Pa., won a suit against a local bank and its officers for recovery of more than $40,000 asserted to have been lost to Hutchings and associates because of lack of due diligence on the part of the bank in protecting its patrons from the bunko ring. Hutchings was charged, with others, with conducting a gambling establishment in Los Angeles, and numerous other accusations were brought against him.

Keyes, a deputy under Woolwine and associated with his chief in prosecuting the man whom Woolwine described as a "prince of crooks," was fully cognizant of the craft and cunning exercised by "Big Hutch" in his numerous tilts with the law. He was, therefore, in an unusually favorable position to know to what lengths the convicted swindler would go to obtain his release from prison.

Yet on August 14, 1923, when Hutchings had served approximately eighteen months of his ten-year sentence, Keyes, having been appointed District Attorney to succeed Woolwine (resigned,) wrote secretly to the State Prison Board to the effect that he had visited Hutchings in San Quentin, that "Mr. Hutchings represented that if he were at liberty in Los Angeles city

SHELDON ON SWINDLERS

Keys's Opponent Will Not Go to San Quentin for Investigators

Warning the citizens of Los Angeles that the approaching winter season in Southern California will bring not only a rush of visitors anxious to escape the rigors of eastern snow and ice, but a horde of bunko men eager to fleece and swindle the unwary, Judge Caryl M. Sheldon, candidate for District Attorney, announced yesterday that the organization of a squad of competent officers to cope with the situation will be one of his first official acts if elected at the primary next Tuesday.

"And neither the head of the department nor his assistants," said Judge Sheldon, "will be recruited from the ranks of the bunko men."

For several months the rumor has been current that Los Angeles will be visited next winter by the so-called top-notchers of the ring of bunko men whose crooked operations have resulted in the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars by men and women lured into fraudulent transactions. Prior to and even following the sensational trial and conviction of "Big Hutch," the most notorious of the bunko operators, Los Angeles proved a fruitful field for the confidence men, and their advent again this year may be logically anticipated.

"I do not know of a single department of the District Attorney's office," said Judge Sheldon, "where men of greater ability or integrity are needed than in the department charged with defeating the schemes of the plausible crooks who prey upon the gullible and befool experienced business men. A District Attorney's office on the alert for the depredations of the bunkos will be able to protect the public either by prevention of bunko operation of those apprehended.

As to the general conduct of the District Attorney's office if he is elected, Judge Sheldon guarantees:

"That equal justice will be accorded every citizen, with no special privilege to any, and that political or personal favoritism will be eliminated from the law-enforcement branch of the county service."

FUEL NEEDS SPUR HOP

Decision Follows Conference on Board Richmond; Ships Shy on Oil

Lieut. Locatelli to Go With Americans; Gale Raging at Reykjavik

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

REYKJAVIK (Iceland) Aug. 20. The American 'round-the-world flyers and Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator who will accompany them on their flight to the North American continent, will take off on the long lap to Frederiksdal, near Cape Farewell, East Greenland, at 3 a.m. tomorrow, it was decided today.

The decision was made this morning at a conference on board the United States cruiser Richmond between Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander of the 'round-the-world flyers, and Lieut. Locatelli.

The Richmond was to leave Reykjavik at 7 o'clock tonight to take up its patrol station about seventy miles west of here.

FUEL SHORTAGE

The fortnight's delay in the American Army aviators' world flight, due to uncertainty regarding ice conditions in Greenland and several mishaps, has brought about a fuel shortage in the naval patrol which is further complicating the flight situation.

Admiral Magruder said tonight a further delay in the flight, owing to weather or other causes, would necessitate refuelling the patrol vessels.

Flight Commander Leighton, who returned to Reykjavik on the Richmond after having made an air reconnaissance along the Greenland coast in one of the planes of the cruiser Raleigh, reported to Admiral Magruder that the entire coast in the vicinity of Angmagsalik is unsuitable for landing purposes owing to ice. He said that in the event of forced landings the planes could find no shelter.

According to Flight Commander Leighton, another aviator who flew over the region reached the same conclusion as he did. The harbor twenty miles north of Angmagsalik, reported last week by Lieut. Schuits, was found to be impracticable, as motorboats would have been unable to enter it and deliver gasoline and oil to the planes had they gone there.

GALE STILL RAGING

When the Richmond came to anchor here a gale was raging and Lieut. Smith, Lieut. Nelson and Lieut. Crumrine of the Air Service had difficulty in boarding her for a conference with Admiral Magruder. The admiral presented to the aviators the difficulties of the situation from the naval viewpoint, laying stress on the fuel scarcity. Lieut. Smith earnestly pointed out that it was possible for himself and Lieut. Nelson to make the remainder of the flight without delay, barring accidents and with a little rest between the hops to Labrador.

Lieut. Locatelli, the Italian aviator, came aboard the Richmond during the conference. He arranged with Admiral Magruder to permit his representative, Lieut. Nareschalchi, to ship on board the Richmond.

Later Lieut. Smith said:

"I am suffering over this delay as much as anybody else. There is no fun in waiting around for a chance to finish the flight. I am as anxious as anybody to get back to America, and will move quickly when we start."

The suspense is seriously affecting Lieut. Crumrine, according to his friends. They say the officer has been on the point of a nervous breakdown during the past few days.

The prospect of a fresh start on the journey tomorrow appeared this evening to have heartened the entire group. Lieut. Nelson was busy putting on his new propeller, while Lieut. Arnold was working to repair the other plane.

Lieut. Locatelli, who is to accompany the American flyers, said tonight that to lighten the weight of his plane it was probable that only three men would be taken along, instead of four, on the next hop.

DISTRICT MAJORITY JOINS TO GET DAM SANS CANAL

Owners of More Than Half Imperial Lands Repudiate Swing Bill; Control Club Grows

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Aug. 20.—The program of the Colorado River Control Club, a nonpartisan organization which seeks control of the river through legislation unincumbered by the all-American canal or other entangling features, now has the indorsement of owners of more than 260,000 acres of land, or more than half of the land comprising the Imperial Irrigation District.

With its campaign still under way and its stand receiving additional indorsements every day, the Colorado River Control Club is assured of the overwhelming backing of farmers and land owners of the valley.

This indorsement automatically carries with it abandonment of the Swing-Rose program. The club is not a political organization. It is engaged in a determined effort to get results for Imperial Valley and its declaration of principles states plainly that river control has been blocked by the Swing bill.

FARMERS LINING UP

Thus Congressman Swing and his bill are repudiated by the very people whom he pretends to represent. The farmers of Imperial Valley are lining up for flood protection, and the majority now registered is growing larger every day.

This outstanding declaration is not surprising to people of Imperial Valley, but is an eye opener to the many individuals, chambers of commerce and newspapers outside of Imperial county who have supported the Swing bill because they believed it was for the benefit of Imperial Valley farmers, and that it had their support. Now it is clear that Congressman Swing's contentions in this respect have fallen flat, and that much of the support given his measure has been based on the false premise that Imperial farmers wanted it. On the contrary, it is now shown that the land owners of Imperial Valley have repudiated the Swing all-American canal bill and are earnestly seeking relief in another way.

The club, whose announced purpose is to obtain Federal legislation for the control of the Colorado River, has been engaged in a campaign by mail among owners of Imperial county property to obtain their sanction in order that when a bill is proposed in Congress it will be seen that property owners actually are behind it.

The club is a nonpartisan organization, composed of business men and ranchers of the valley. It was formed by leading citizens, who asserted that they had been waiting long enough for Federal aid in the handling of the river that supplies Imperial Valley with water. It was believed by those active in organizing the club that a bill providing solely for the construction of a dam in the river, without any entangling alliance with local canal projects or other engineering plans, should be presented to Congress for action.

WOULD FIND BACKING

Assurances have been made by Washington officials that such a bill would meet with ready cooperation among Congressmen interested in the development of the nation's resources as long as local projects are not tacked on to the legislation, as is the case with the Swing-Johnson bill providing for a dam at Boulder Canyon and an all-American canal through the desert sandhills.

R. E. Wills, extensive landowner of the valley and former Assemblyman from Imperial county, was elected chairman of the club. C. E. Paris, pioneer resident of the valley, was named vice-chairman in charge of the campaign for indorsements. O. G. Horne, manager of the El Centro branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, is treasurer, and John F. Greer, land-title expert, is secretary. George W. Anderson, president of the Imperial Valley Hardware Company system of chain stores, is chairman of the finance committee.

Indorsements of the club's purposes have been obtained almost entirely by mail in response to literature sent to property owners throughout Southern California from club headquarters. At first petitions were circulated, but these were superseded by cards upon which the property owners were requested to sign their names, and state the number of acres owned and the assessed valuation of the land. Scores of these cards of indorsement are being received by the club daily, until the total valuation of property represented by the signatures has exceeded $20,000,000. The total assessed valuation of land in the district is $46,000,000.

In the Imperial Irrigation District there are 516,000 acres of land. Of this area, 350,000 this year are under cultivation. This has no reference to land in Lower California, the irrigation district operating as a district only in Imperial county.

RALLY BEHIND IT

"Sentiment expressed by both resident and nonresident owners of Imperial Valley land indicates that the Colorado River Control Club's program is favored by the majority of owners," asserted Vice-Chairman Paris. "The club has maintained a strictly nonpartisan attitude from the beginning of its operations. It has refrained from personalities and from getting behind any particular candidates for office. The work of the club is gaining momentum as its purposes become better known by the property owners and it will function after the primary election even better than it has to date."

Members of the executive committee of the club include: R. E. Wills, R. A. Walker, Walter P. Casey and August T. Taecker, Brawley; Al Kalin, Westmoreland; A. O. Dolson, Mesquite Lake; J. D. Moughmer, Seeley; Fred Gunterman, Bond Corner; C. B. Ralphs and Roy D. McPherrin, Imperial; J. H. McKim, McKim Bridge; Will S. Fawcett, Charles E. Scott, E. A. Nance, Ray Edger and James E. Peck, El Centro; Roy E. Breedlove, Meloland; T. J. Worthington, Calexico; M. E. Greeson, Mt. Signal.

Despite the unquestioned patriotism and sincerity of these men, who have been prominent in Imperial Valley in business, farming and professional life for many years, they have been charged by opponents of the club's program with operating in collusion with so-called "Mexican" and "power" interests.

Although club officials have not entered into discussion of the feasibility or cost of the proposed all-American canal, sponsored by Congressman Swing and his ally, Mark Rose, owner of the Imperial Laguna Water Company, some of the members of the club are openly opposed to the canal plan. One of the main objections has been the effect the canal rider has had in preventing Federal legislation on the Colorado River.

It was indicated by Secretary Hoover in public on a visit here three years ago, and repeated to Imperial Valley representatives in Washington conferences, that the all-American canal project should be laid aside temporarily to aid the passage of the Boulder dam bill, yet the Swing-Rose crowd has refused to heed the advice of the Cabinet officer. This situation is frankly referred to by members of the club in urging that a bill should be introduced in Congress that carries no embarrassing excess baggage.

"We want the government to harness the Colorado River and put its vast resources of water and power to practical and constructive use," is one expression used to sum up the desires of the members of the Colorado River Control Club.

A temporary water shortage, due to lack of storage facilities in the Colorado River this week has impressed on valley water users stronger than ever the need of governmental legislation to control the river. For the first time in several years, when crop prices are high and prospects for continuous prosperity in Imperial Valley are good, prorating of water has been ordered by irrigation district engineers.

Although no damage is yet in evidence, fear of damage to the valuable crops is felt if the shortage should continue more than two weeks. A storage dam in the Colorado River, it is pointed out, would assure a steady flow of water to Imperial Valley and to all other irrigated districts in the river basin throughout the year.

GEN. DAWES APPLAUDED AS MUSICIAN

His "Melody in A" Pleases Foreign Hearers Who Praise His Versatility

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—Brig.-Gen. Charles G. Dawes, already well known in Czecho-Slovakia, attained further recognition when Milan Lusk, a Chicago violinist touring Europe, played the general's "Melody in A" for President Masaryk at his summer residence.

In commenting on the piece President Masaryk said:

"Gen. Dawes's composition is the logical successor to 'Humoresque.' America has produced a man whose vision is as large as your country. It is only America that can produce a man big enough to see a method to cure Europe's ills and at the same time develop his esthetical side to a point where he can produce a musical composition."

Mr. Masaryk has ordered his private orchestra to play the piece daily, and it is predicted that Gen. Dawes's composition will sweep the country.

tecting their own morals. We can't expect to dictate to young people and expect them to keep our confidence.

CO-EDS UNPERTURBED

As for the co-eds themselves, they do what they please despite the wordy furors the tobacco puffing has precipitated.

"Most girls who come to college have seen their mothers and sisters smoke," protested Miss Miriam Fisher, a senior at University of California. It's really a convention to smoke now, and even some people I know who are prudish and religious smoke and think nothing of it. At Eastern colleges they have smoking rooms; why is a girl committing a crime if she smokes at the University of California?"

Another senior, Miss Charlotte Bronson, shrugs her shoulders, takes another puff or two, and says: "The smoking room is darling."

Lew Cody Sorry, But Nora Bayes Not to Be Wife

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Aug. 20.—Lew Cody, screen actor, tonight proffered an energetic but friendly denial of his supposed engagement to Nora Bayes, now in London. Lew, who is stopping at the Hotel Crillon, where the late President Wilson helped make the Treaty of Versailles, says that he would be glad if the news were true, but the fact is that it is all pure fiction.

SWING SOLDIER AID CONCOCTED

Withdrawal of Valley Land for Them False Boast

Ninety-day Priority of Law Only Hope of Veterans

Imperial Opened Prior to Congressman's Seating

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Voters of the Eleventh California Congress District told that Congressman Swing has been responsible for the withdrawal of many acres of government land for the special benefit of soldiers in the vicinity of the proposed all-American canal may be interested in the real facts about withdrawal of these lands. Altogether between 800,000 and 1,000,000 acres of this land have been withdrawn by the government, and under the law all soldiers, sailors or marines have ninety days preference in making entry when the government opens the land to settlement. This land is worthless without water for agricultural purposes.

The first withdrawal was in 1909 when somewhere between 200,000 and 300,000 acres of this land in Imperial Valley down to the eastern border of California was withdrawn. On October 19, 1920, approximately 800,000 acres were withdrawn. John Barton Payne, then Secretary of the Interior approving the order.

In both cases Congressman Swing had not yet been in national politics. He was not sworn in as Congressman until March 4, 1921, when he began his first term. All the land affected by the projected All-American Canal was withdrawn under the order of 1909 and the order approved October 19, 1920, by a Democratic administration. Congressman Swing can do nothing more than the ex-soldiers than the basic law of the United States gives them in land settlements and that is a nine-day priority over all civilian entrymen.

Lest there be some confusion in the minds of persons interested in the lands affected by the All-American Canal sponsored by Swing, there is given the following official copy of the withdrawal order approved October 19, 1920, several months before Swing first entered Congress, effectually controlling all the government land.

The order reads as follows:

Dial and Polls Opponent Face Trial for Fight

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GAFFNEY (S. C.) Aug. 20.—Arrested today on charges of disorderly conduct and fighting at a campaign meeting here last night, United States Senator Nathaniel B. Dial and his opponent in the primary campaign, John M. McMahan, State Insurance Commissioner, had their trial postponed until after the campaign when a hearing was held on the case in court tonight.

Both the Senator and his opponent were released on bond.

Charging that McMahan had referred to him as a "dirty liar," Senator Dial was said by spectators to have advanced upon his opponent armed with a chair and to have been intercepted by the chairman of the meeting with the help of several of those in the audience.

KEYES AND "BIG HUTCH"

he would be of material assistance to me in apprehending and prosecuting various bunko men who are now here and who are expected to come here in the fall."

The District Attorney's letter continued:

"I believe Mr. Hutchings is sincere in his statement to me and that, if your honorable board should see fit to grant his application for parole, I could use him to advantage in the detection and prosecution of this class of criminals. If he were at liberty I could use him now, and while I do not deem it advisable to make a recommendation either one way or the other to your board as to your action in regard to this application, I am stating these facts to you for your information."

Mr. Keyes, who had helped to prosecute "Big Hutch," who had seen this resourceful thief and swindler resort to every possible subterfuge, first, to stay out of prison, and, second, to regain his liberty, did not "deem it advisable to make a recommendation either way" as to the Prison Board's action on the application for a parole, but did feel that "Mr. Hutchings is sincere in his statements to me," and "if he were at liberty I could use him now."

It is open to serious question as to how many law-abiding citizens of Los Angeles, knowing that "Big Hutch" had been released to prowl with his former crooked companions and associates, would come to the amiable conclusion that the bunko steerer would delude these wary individuals by a semblance of his old criminal tendencies while, in reality, leading the life of a police spy. "Big Hutch" in the role of stool-pigeon is hardly conceivable.

This is one instance, and possibly the most flagrant, of various acts by Mr. Keyes indicating, in the opinion of The Times, his unfitness for the office of District Attorney.

AN OUTRAGEOUS FABRICATION

Yesterday's developments supplied further evidence of that unfitness.

The following statement by Keyes appeared yesterday in Hearst's morning newspaper:

"The animus and the real reason behind the unwarranted eleventh-hour attack on me by the Los Angeles Times is that I refused to be used as its political tool to 'muss up' its political enemies. The proposition that I use the District Attorney's office of this county to further the candidacy of John D. Fredericks and to besmirch the name of Ralph Criswell, his opponent in the race for Congress, by a grand jury investigation came to me directly from The Times. I rejected this infamous proposition despite the fact that it carried with it, at least by inference, an offer of support for election. As long as I am District Attorney I will not tolerate the use of my office to blacken the good name of anyone for political or any other ulterior purpose."

The ordinary statement of a politician seeking public office seldom merits or receives particular attention, but the foregoing, uttered deliberately by the District Attorney of this county and involving so serious a charge, warranted The Times in seeking to learn direct from the office of Mr. Keyes whether he or his newspaper support should be credited with the authorship.

The Times hesitated to believe that Mr. Keyes was the author, but when a representative of The Times visited the District Attorney's office he received from Mr. Keyes's secretary a carbon copy of the published statement with the assurance that the District Attorney had given it out.

The statement of Mr. Keyes in its entirety is a lie.

Mr. Keyes lied deliberately and with full knowledge that his untruthful and malicious statement is wholly at variance with his own almost hysterical and persistent efforts to persuade The Times to indorse his candidacy.

No representative of The Times ever asked Mr. Keyes to support or oppose any candidate for Congress or to use his official position to aid or embarrass the candidacy of any candidate for Congress or for any other office.

On the five separate occasions within the last few weeks that Mr. Keyes has besought The Times to support his candidacy he has been informed both by the publisher of The Times and by members of the editorial staff of The Times that this newspaper has no interest in his office other than a desire to see the office administered honestly, courageously and ably.

Mr. Keyes and his chief deputy, Buron Fitts, have been told separately and together that The Times, in keeping with a very large portion of the citizenship of Los Angeles, deplores the lack of vigor and intelligence displayed by Mr. Keyes since his appointment as District Attorney. Both Mr. Keyes and Mr. Fitts have assured this newspaper that each recognized the disinterested and public-spirited attitude of The Times.

The Times had no animus toward Mr. Keyes personally when it indorsed his opponent, Judge Caryl M. Sheldon, who, incidentally, was indorsed by The Times on the simple basis of a belief by this newspaper that, if elected, he will conduct his office with integrity and energy and upon his own assurance that his sole aim in seeking the place is to perform a public duty.

The fact that Mr. Keyes, disgruntled by the editorial policy of The Times, has launched a malicious and lying attack on this newspaper is of no particular concern to the people generally of this city and county, but the fact that he is willing and ready to utter a charge so irresponsible and false furnishes another reason why he is not regarded as one qualified to fill the chief law-enforcement office of the county.

circular mailed today to the 180,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, advice is given regarding political action, which will be repeated in the September issue of the brotherhood's official publication, in which President W. G. Lee says he "has taken the position that our organization should not indorse either Coolidge, Davis or La Follette for President of the United States."

Under the slogan, "Indorsement of Candidates," the circular reads:

"The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, through its conventions, has declared that it would not ally itself with any political party, but believed in following the policy of rewarding labor's friends and defeating labor's enemies.

"The Toronto 1922 convention reaffirmed its belief in this policy. A resolution covering the question of political action was presented to the convention.

"Adoption of this recommendation committed the organization to independent political action. In keeping with this resolution the undersigned has taken the position that our organization should not indorse either Coolidge, Davis or La Follette for President of the United States.

"Information furnished this office by the Washington legislative bureau shows the labor record of each of the three above-mentioned candidates for President to be as nearly 100 per cent in each instance as could reasonably be expected. We are advised the legislative boards in certain States were favorable to indorsing John W. Davis, in other States President Coolidge and in other States Senator La Follette.

"State legislative boards have been advised that in our opinion they should confine their indorsement to candidates for State offices, including candidates for the United States House and Senate.

"The September issue of the official publication will carry the labor records of all candidates for President, United States Senate and House as furnished by the Washington legislative bureau.

"The records of State officials, as furnished by those authorized according to brotherhood law to compile them, will be published as soon as they are furnished the official publications. All members are urgently requested to review these records and determine for themselves how they should vote in order to support the friends of labor and defeat its political enemies.

COUZENS SUPPORTS REPUBLICAN TICKET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DETROIT, Aug. 20.—Senator James Couzens, who during the last session of Congress was frequently aligned with the La Follette group and whose Republicanism has been questioned by political opponents, announced yesterday in two speeches that he will support the Republican ticket in November, irrespective of the outcome of the September primaries at which he is a candidate for renomination.

Twenty-five in Body Get Death Doom by Soviet

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—A dispatch from Moscow states that twenty-four men and a woman school teacher named Ivanova have been sentenced to death by a soviet court at Nicola for killing three Communists in revenge for their having attacked the teacher.

Under a new Moscow order all school teachers are examined by a special board to determine their political views. The board entered Ivanova's home where they attacked her. She organized a band of friends who lynched the three Communists. Ivanova herself shot the chairman.

ENGLISH LABOR CHIEFS SPLIT

bitter and caustic comment here, both in official circles and in the opposition groups.

"We now understand why England was so anxious to have France and Germany at swords points over the Ruhr and Rhineland questions," is a fair summary of a majority of the comments. "The reason is that English industry fears any peaceful and friendly development of French and German industrial activities."

A member of the French delegation, attending the conference, characterized Mr. Snowden as an "obstinate doctrinaire," and said that he had been in sharp conflict with Prime Minister MacDonald and the French Premier over economic and financial questions as well as the evacuation of the Ruhr. He further stated that Mr. Snowden showed every evidence of being reluctant to put the Dawes plan into operation.

NONE OF HIS BUSINESS

The semi-Socialist Temps, giving a sharp response to this "new effort to separate France and Germany on the eve of a productive accord," declares that France can acquire a share of German industry after the arbitration of American financiers and with the consent of the Germans. Therefore, it calls Mr. Snowden's intervention distinctly unwelcome and adds flatly that it was none of his business.

"Mr. Snowden wants to prevent the Germans from delivering coal to France and he wishes to prevent France from interesting herself in any German industry," the paper asserts. "On top of all this he wishes to make the French and Germans quarrel on the subject of the Ruhr and thus being occupied in hating one another, France and Germany will more easily allow themselves to be bound and gagged for the profit of what Mr. Snowden calls British commercial interests."

In general it may be said that Mr. Snowden's speech has moved France nearer to a comprehension of the enormous advantages to be gained by an industrial and commercial alliance with Germany than any other factor in recent weeks.

FIRST DAWES PLAN STEP SLATED FOR TODAY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The first step toward actually putting the Dawes plan into operation probably will be taken at the Cabinet meeting tomorrow when there will be appointed some of the various officials who will represent France in the Dawes plan organization, or at least the members of the committee of French experts who will co-operate with the Germans in putting the final touches to the plan for economic evacuation of the Ruhr.

This evacuation will not begin until after the London agreements have been signed the 30th inst.

As there are many thousands of French and Belgian railroad men and large economic staffs who are comfortably settled in Germany, there will be quite a task to unscramble all of the affairs in which the civilian forces of occupation have taken part during the last year and a half.

Parliamentary groups today actively were generating enthusiasm or depression, according to their political complexion, but even Premier Herriot's worst enemies would not predict his fall when he faces the Legislature tomorrow. His friends say that the approval of the London accord is certain, while his adversaries expect merely to give him a few disagreeable hours and rej themselves on the record.

HAVE GOOD CHANCE

The Premier's opponents are downcast because they think they have excellent material to attack the government, particularly on Premier Macdonald's letter which they interpret as showing that Great Britain is not a friend of France and as a proof that the bankers will try to drive the French from the Ruhr before the time agreed upon at the international conference.

The trouble is that M. Herriot's political enemies do not care to attempt an overthrow of the government now that an apparent solution of the reparations question has been reached. M. Poincare's course is still unknown, but it is believed he will make a bitter analysis of the Premier's negotiations in London. His group will assemble to vote on its attitude tomorrow.

Former Finance Minister Klotz has become the spokesman for a group that insists Parliament ought not to be asked to act without discussing the complete text drafted in London. Others suggest that the Senate can go home after hearing M. Herriot tomorrow and discuss the plan later. There are many who believe the Dawes plan alters or replaces the Treaty of Versailles and therefore must be ratified by Parliament after it is signed.

GERMANY IS HELD CERTAIN TO RATIFY PLAN

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—Political circles are convinced that the German government will be successful in its efforts to force the nationalists to accept and approve the London agreement on the Dawes plan. The nationalists had a long round of conferences yesterday and today at which was discussed the advisability of walking out of the Reichstag while the other members were voting on the London agreement.

This could be interpreted as a protest and at the same time it would enable the government to obtain a two-thirds vote for the Dawes legislation.

Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresemann asserted at today's conference between the Cabinet and the Committee of Foreign Affairs that the international bankers in London promised to provide Germany with a loan by November, if the London agreement was approved by the Reichstag by the 31st inst.

THEUNIS AND HYMANS INDORSED BY CABINET

BRUSSELS, Aug. 20.—After listening today to a detailed account of the recent reparation conference in London, the Belgian Cabinet unanimously indorsed the conduct of affairs by Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Hymans and congratulated them on the agreements reached.

from the death house in the County Jail to the gallows, have done so by mistake and their executions have been injustice after injustice.

CITES PARALLEL

Just as four anarchists were hanged on November 14, 1887, for murders committed in the Haymarket riots, Loeb and Leopold, Jr., should be sent to the gallows for killing Bobbie Franks, declared Mr. Marshall. Just as Nicholas Viani was hanged at 18 years of age for murder committed at 17—hanged on a plea of guilty—so should be his successors at the bar of the Criminal Court.

He told Judge Caverly the superman philosophy of Nietzsche followed by Loeb and Leopold, Jr., did not excuse the murder any more than the anarchistic philosophy of August Spies, Albert D. Parsons, Louis Engel and Adolph Fischer made them immune from the law thirty-seven years ago. Hitting a boy over the head with a chisel until he is dead is no different in the eyes of the law than killing a policeman with a bomb, was Mr. Marshall's point.

A list of sixteen men from 18 to 26 years of age, who have been hanged in Cook county since 1906, constituted one of Mr. Marshall's chief points. Besides Viani, who died on the gallows with other members of the famous Cardinello gang, the ages as read by Mr. Marshall were recorded at the time of the hangings, which in some cases followed the crimes by one or two years.

Richard Ivens, at 24, and R. E. Williams at 23; Thomas Schultz at 19; Lloyd Bopp at 23; Earl Dear at 26; "Smiling Jack" O'Brien at 23; William Mills at 21; Harvey Church at 23, were on the list. Bernard Grant at 19, awaiting execution in the County Jail, was cited.

If Cook county could hang those youths for murder, why couldn't it hang Leopold, Jr., and Loeb, 18 and 20, Mr. Marshall wanted to know.

DETAILS CRIMES

Mr. Marshall detailed some of the stories of the crimes committed by the youths he named. Then he always pointed out to Judge Caverly, who must fix the sentence and who listened intently, that none of the cases was as horrible as the Franks murder, because not so premeditated or long planned.

"If age, if youth is to mitigate an atrocious murder, if age is to save these men from their just punishment," said Mr. Marshall, "every conviction that I have cited to your honor that led to the gallows in these cases has been a mistake, because no one of them compares in premeditation, in malicious or in execution with the terrible crime before your judgment.

"James Butler," Mr. Marshall said further, "was sentenced by Judge Marcus Kavanaugh to hang on a plea of guilty the day after he entered his plea. And in the case of Harry Haensel, the soldier, he had just grounds for insanity, but was convicted and subsequently hanged."

And Marshall appears to show further that not one bit of the testimony offered by the defense for Leopold and Loeb is competent as evidence to ... punishment for ...

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

...FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—... J. Lee, professor of mathe... United States Navy, and ... astronomer at Mare ... in a statement made today ... that astronomical research has ... beyond doubt that Mars is ... planet, and therefore ... by vegetable and ani... of some kind. Of that ... is certain. All other de... are speculative, according to his statement. The statement follows:

"The observations of astronomers since 1638 have shown that Mars rotates in 24 hours 37 minutes and 22.67 seconds; that the obliquity of Mars' ecliptic is about 28 deg., so that the seasons on our neighboring planet are about the same as here, though the year is nearly twice as long—687 days.

LIFE HELD CERTAIN

"Mars has polar caps of ice and snow, which melt with the advance of the Martian summer and build up again with the return of the Martian winter. We can see this very distinctly in the several large telescopes I have used during the last thirty years. And, wonderful, to relate, we can see the clouds floating in the atmosphere of Mars. The clouds were distinctly photographed in 1907, 1916, 1920 and will no doubt be seen again this year when Mars is unusually near the earth.

"If Mars has seasons, day and night, clouds, ice and snow, and a sunlight as favorable as that in the plateau of Tibet, the planet certainly is habitable. Therefore it is inhabited by vegetable and animal life of some kind, but we cannot define the kind of life.

"Mars and Venus are both habitable, besides our earth. And if we do not admit that such worlds are inhabited, we are compelled to hold that the life upon our earth is an accident and a mistake, existing in violation of the general laws of nature. A philosopher cannot hold such views, therefore we believe life to be a general phenomenon of nature, existing wherever worlds are habitable.

"The chemical elements in Mars are the same as upon the earth, the electrical, atomic and molecular forces are similar in all respects; all physical conditions are the same; therefore Mars and Venus are habitable, like the earth, and therefore also inhabited like our own globe. The canals of Mars most likely are vegetation banks along water courses.

"If anyone asks if we can signal to Mars, we answer that we can, but that the chance of an answer is slight, because we could not have answered such a signal ourselves thirty years ago. Radio telegraphy was not then invented. Alexander the Great, Caesar, Napoleon and Washington could have used radio to advantage; the forces of nature were here, but Helmholtz, Hertz and Marconi had not yet lived and this radio signaling upon the earth is recent. It is unlikely that the Martians could answer us, even if we signaled them for a thousand years. Hence the prospect of signaling to Mars is slim, though some kind of life certainly exists there."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Aug. 20.—Repeating in Spanish the words of her favorite hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul"—"Carifioso Salvador, Ullio de la Tempestad," Mrs. Carmelita Barrera, 122 years of age, believed to have been the oldest woman in New Mexico, if not in the entire West, clasped the hand of the loving Savior whose praise she sang. Death came to Mrs. Barrera at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Tonita Jiron de Baca, with whom she had lived for many years.

Mrs. Barrera was born in 1802 at El Tajo ranch, near Socorro, N. M., almost a score of years before New Mexico passed from under Spanish rule and forty-four years before the Mexican rule gave way to that of the United States. She was a girl of 10 when the War of 1812 began, a woman of middle age at the time of the Mexican War and almost an old woman during the Civil War.

UNDER THREE FLAGS

It has been her lot to live in New Mexico under three flags during five wars in which the United States has engaged. Her birth lacks but a few years of antedating the American Constitution. During the 122 years that she lived in this State, seven Spanish Governors, nineteen Mexican Governors and thirty American Governors held sway in New Mexico.

The parents of Mrs. Barrera, whose names her granddaughter cannot remember, also were natives of New Mexico. Whether their parents, in turn, came to New Mexico from Old Mexico or directly from Spain the granddaughter cannot recall, but she does know that they were ranchers in the Socorro country about the time of the American Revolution when there were very few Spanish families in New Mexico.

MARRIED TWICE

Mrs. Barrera was married twice, the first time about the year 1822, the second time in late middle life, probably about the time of the Civil War. The record of the second marriage has been lost, but it is known that she was married by Rev. M. Mathieson, the first Spanish Presbyterian minister to come to New Mexico, who arrived in the Territory about 1860. "At the time of her second marriage she forsook the Catholic religion and embraced the Presbyterian faith, remaining in that denomination all the rest of her life.

Until about two months before her death Mrs. Barrera could walk about freely without other assistance than that which she gave herself with a large staff. Her vision was keen and she never wore spectacles. Her mind was clear up to the time of her death. She never learned to read or write, but had an extraordinarily receptive mind and retentive memory and was able to repeat long passages after they had been read to her two or three times. She could learn the words and tune of any hymn which pleased her after hearing it twice, sometimes after hearing it only once. She had been a cigarette smoker from childhood, always rolling her own.

MURDERING OF SCORE OF TOTS DENIED

"Dinorah" Unable to Tell Fate of Infants; France is Puzzled by Case

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Aug. 20.—"Dinorah," or Mme. Dinorah Galou, the woman who has aroused all France by her asserted confiscating and murdering or otherwise disposing of twenty-one babies, maintained her innocence yesterday in a three-hour examination at Agen, Southern France.

Dinorah says she is a daughter of Maharajah Baroda by an English woman. She is married to Dr. Galou, a country physician. The twenty-one babies which had been adopted or kidnaped by her were passed off as her own during the past three years all over Southern France.

Dinorah possesses undeniable hypnotic powers, as well as enormous ingenuity in making up tales as to where she got all the babies and what she did with them. Justice is completely baffled as it is unable to prove where she obtained the infants or what was their fate—recalling the similar vagueness of the Landru case. Under French law, however, as Dinorah is unable to prove her innocence, she probably will pay for the asserted crimes with her head on the guillotine.

She maintained throughout the examination that she had adopted all twenty-one children "out of pure maternal love." She described the accidental deaths of three of the babies, but maintained that she did not know what had happened to the others.

Dr. Galou said he believed eleven of these children belonged to his adventurous wife, whom he met first in Constantinople in 1919. The father of three of them is supposed to be an American millionaire.

Britons Better Husbands, Says Woman Writer

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Englishmen make better husbands than Americans because they "treat their wives as companions and not as American husbands treat theirs, as dolls, spoiling them with presents, furs and jewels," said Mary Borden, the novelist, who has returned to the United States for a visit after an absence of eleven years. She is the wife of Gen. E. L. Spears, who has been a member of Parliament for three years.

"English husbands don't nag," continued Mrs. Spears. "A wife to an Englishman is a 'pal' and their life is more normal than over here. The English women do everything the men do and so they do not have so much time for bridge and clothes. Consequently they are not as good dressers as American women."

Ex-Ship Builder is Missing From Pleasure Yacht

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—While Ill. C. N. Seaborn, formerly manager of the Seaborn Shipyard in Tacoma, disappeared last night from a yacht in Elliott Bay off this city. Friends today gave him up for drowned.

K. H. Scheel, architect of the yacht, the Tenino, said that he left Seaborn lying with his head on a coil of rope and went to get a robe to place over the sick man. When Mr. Scheel returned Mr. Seaborn was gone.

Mr. Seaborn was associated with Phillips Morrison and H. F. Ostrander in building many wooden ships at the Tacoma yard during the World War. He was a brother of Henry G. Seaborn, wartime shipbuilder, of this city.

Many Brazilian Rebels Go Down With Troopship

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 20.—The Brazilian troops stationed on the banks of the River Parana sank a steamship carrying rebel forces proceeding from the port of Tibirica, according to official advices from Piraju forwarded by La Nacion's Santos correspondent. The boat went down after heavy firing and many of the rebels were drowned.

Advices also say several troops engaged rebel patrols at Campos Novos, which is 200 miles west of Sao Paulo and fifteen miles north of the Parana border.

THREAT TO KIN OF MRS. EVANS

Sister of Slain Woman Being Guarded by Soldiers

Servants Terror-Stricken as Death Hints Pass

British Attache Examines Asserted Assassin

BY FREDERICK NEUMEIER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—Veiled threats by the agrarians have been made against Mrs. W. J. Pettus, sister of the late Mrs. Rosalie Evans, at her ranch near Puebla.

Mrs. Pettus, accompanied by her husband, a doctor in the United States Marine Hospital in San Francisco, and George Camp, World War veteran, who fought for months with Mrs. Evans to prevent the seizure of the property, went there last Friday. They were met at the depot by a squad of soldiers, who escorted them to the hacienda, which was guarded by a lieutenant-colonel and twenty-five soldiers.

The party found all the servants at the ranch terror-stricken. They were warned by the military that the situation was dangerous and they should not move around the country unless escorted by soldiers.

Two days later Mrs. Pettus received word to the effect that "if she were not careful she would be sent the same way as her sister." This was passed by word of mouth by various people.

The place where Mrs. Evans was assassinated is now marked by a simple white wooden cross, erected there late yesterday by Mrs. Pettus and the former servants of Mrs. Evans.

The cross was blessed by a priest, while soldiers guarding the Pettus party stood bareheaded and the servants wept. A fragment of blood-stained clothing worn by Mrs. Evans was buried under the cross, while the priest, who was a warm friend of Mrs. Evans, promised at the request of her sister to say prayers for the souls of individuals who ordered her death.

The Pettus party returned to Mexico City yesterday. Capt. R. Holicombe of the British legation returned from Puebla, where he had made an investigation. He examined one of the asserted assassins, but declined to give the result of his investigations.

Jones died a short time later, a "dream suicide."

OKLAHOMA DEMAND IN OIL STRONG

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Aug. 20.—Oil producers of fields of Western Oklahoma say they have not witnessed such a strong demand for crude oil contracts nor such keen competition in bidding for storage oil. An illustration of what is happening was given recently by a producer in the Duncan and Walters districts, whose contract with the Pauline Oil & Refining Company was terminated when the company's refinery at Duncan recently was permanently shut down. No less than a dozen buying concerns besought him for a contract on his oil, he said, and as many as three ascending premiums were offered before he made a contract.

Bidding in that territory was without regard to posted prices. The Magnolia Pipe Line Company pays one price and the Prairie Pipe Line Company a 25-cent higher price. Offers for this man's oil went beyond the Prairie price.

Oil purchasers say that an export demand is developing that forecasts a livelier scramble for oil in the Mid-Continent area, a widespread resumption of drilling in the early fall, and a probable increase of crude oil prices before long.

Another unusual situation prevails in Southwestern Oklahoma. Not enough gasoline is being produced by refineries of that area to supply the demand and marketers are shipping gasoline there from the eastern part of the State. Most refineries that are running at all are operating at capacity. The gasoline demand is said to be the heaviest in the history of that part of the State at this season of the year. It is a fact, however, that probably half the refineries in that section are closed down, some of them permanently, because of inability to get crude or to get it at reasonable prices or the low price of gasoline at the refinery.

Republicans to Make Governor Choice in Texas

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DALLAS (Tex.) Aug. 20.—The State Executive Committee will meet again in Houston on the 26th inst., to name a man to uphold the Republican gubernatorial banner in the general elections this fall. Charles A. Boynton, vice-chairman of the committee, visited Republican headquarters here and made this announcement.

The committee recently selected L. R. Lee of Houston, to run against the Democratic nominee to be selected next Saturday, but Mr. Lee withdrew following criticism directed at a telegram he forwarded Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Mr. Lee, in a statement, says he had nothing to retract, said he had been misunderstood by members of his party and definitely withdrew from the race.

FORMER SAXON PRINCE OFFICIATES AS PRIEST

GEORGE, LATELY CONFIRMED, APPEARS AT DRESDEN IN COURT CHURCH

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Aug. 20. — Crown Prince George of Saxony, who has chosen the vocation of a priest, and was confirmed recently, officiated for the first time yesterday at Dresden in the court church, which for centuries saw the pageants and pomp of his family and ancestors.

The father of Prince George is a son of King August of Saxony and Louise Von Toscanana, famous through her escape from the "most rigid court in the world" into a life of many adventures and marriages, ending in utter poverty as a teacher of lace makers and sometimes as a servant.

Another tragedy has befallen the royal house of Saxony. It was discovered yesterday that the casket of Countess Cozel, treasured in the court church, had been broken open and a valuable ring and gold chain stolen. The authorities accuse the priest in charge of the mausoleum of having exchanged these jewels for cheap modern imitations.

GRAND JURY TO HEAR TOPSY DUNCAN PLAINT

JUSTICE COURT HOLDS CICERO OFFICER FOR BEATING OF ACTRESS ON FOURTH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Her nose still obscured by a bandage, Rosetta Duncan, the actress, repeated before Justice Henry Williams in Evanston today her story of the mix-up with Cicero police on Independence Day, which cost her, she said, besides the damage to her nasal appendage, two black eyes and a broken rib.

At the conclusion of the hearing Officer Whitlock, who was not in court, was ordered held pending action of the grand jury.

In response to a question from Max Borchardt as to whether the Duncan family had been ejected from the Belden Hotel, on the North Side, for drinking, Rosetta shouted indignantly, "No!"

Miss Duncan, her brothers and others were stopped for violating a traffic ordinance while passing through Cicero, she said, and the attack followed a dispute with Officer Whitlock. The other members of the party were in court.

An Open Letter to the Chamber of Commerce; all Trade Associations, Civic Bodies, Commercial, Educational, Professional, and Religious Enterprises and other Groups or Individuals engaged in business in Los Angeles

GENTLEMEN:—

Every branch of the Graphic Arts is competently represented in the Sixty-six Los Angeles firms here listed. (All are members of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association of this city.)

There is no need or justification for any orders for our lines of work and service to go outside of this city. Every dollar of such orders belongs in Los Angeles.

Craftsmen as skilled as any in the entire United States find opportunities far superior here for year 'round employment under nearly ideal conditions in the Graphic Arts, and at wages totaling upward of $95,000.00 per week. All of this money goes into circulation in Los Angeles. Every other enterprise gets a proportionate share.

This is not in any sense a Price-Fixing Organization

Our members (listed at the right) are absolutely free to make any prices they choose for the work they do, without reference to competitors.

Obviously,—having some knowledge of costs of doing business, it is probable that prices for similar work will not vary greatly. (Certainly this will be true of prices for quality Printing.)

Our prices here in Los Angeles, compared quality for quality, are materially less than you would pay for work done in a "Unionized Closed Shop" city.

THIS ONE FACT, STATED BELOW, SHOULD CONVINCE ANY HONEST MAN OF HIS DUTY TO DO BUSINESS HERE IN LOS ANGELES.

The Sixty-six firms listed here stand PERMANENTLY for the great American Principle of the Open Shop in and for this fair city of Los Angeles. It is the very basic Foundation upon which is being built this White Spot in Industry.

The Open Shop is the Principle for which our respected and lamented citizen General Harrison Gray Otis is best and will be longest remembered.

That is another and most potent reason why no citizen has the moral right to give any orders for any branch of the Graphic Arts to any shop that is dominated by enemies of the Open Shop.

When you favor such union shops, your money goes to swell the contents of the money bucket which is in active use today by enemies of Los Angeles Prosperity. You are actually contributing to a fund to bring disaster upon your own fair city.

Stand by the Open Shop all the time!

Come, friends and fellow citizens—be perfectly frank with us. Be truthful to yourselves and your constituents.

ARE YOU WITH US—all the way?

We are united to render fair and square service.

Yours faithfully,

TRAFFIC SNARLS TO GROW WORSE

Expert Cites Conditions Found in New York

Shows Final Doom of Large Cities by Congestion

High Buildings in Small Areas Biggest Problem

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Traffic congestion is becoming more and more the great problem of the modern city. The average citizen thinks about it only to curse the inconvenience and delays to which he is subjected. A few forward-looking individuals are addressing themselves to a solution of the problem, and one of these days the average citizen will discover that it is up to him to do something besides complain. He will have to approve some one of the constructive remedial proposals that are being advanced, and then line up with others of his kind to put it through.

Every urbanite is proud of his city and boasts of its growth and of its future. He is a booster and "watch us grow" is his slogan.

But he rarely stops to think of what would happen if his city should grow to its maximum possibilities in its congested district. Suppose all the available space in that district were covered with buildings of the maximum height permitted by the city's building regulations?

This problem has been presented in an interesting manner by Daniel L. Turner in a discussion of the effect of high building on the traffic situation in New York, where a committee is hard at work on a regional plan for the city and its environs. He points out that excessively high buildings are imposing both traffic and transit burdens on the city that it is almost impossible to cope with and he says that this fact must be brought home to the public in some manner or the necessary relief measures will be beyond accomplishment.

EXAMPLES CITED

As an example Mr. Turner cites the extreme downtown section of New York below Fulton street. The area of this district is about 345 acres, or a little more than one-third of a square mile. However, only about 48 per cent of it, or 118 acres, is building area. The remaining 52 per cent is taken up by streets, alleys, sidewalks, parks and cemeteries.

Of the 118 acres of building area only about 3 per cent of the total, approximately four acres, is covered with buildings of twenty-four stories or more in height. There are only ten of these buildings, seven ranging from twenty-four to thirty-two stories and three that are thirty-eight, thirty-nine and forty-one stories, respectively. The average building height for the entire area is only 7.8 stories, and yet this amount of concentration produces the traffic congestion that prevails along lower Broadway and in Nassau, Broad and Wall streets, with which every New Yorker and every visitor to Manhattan is so familiar.

"To serve this district with rapid transit," says Mr. Turner, "with only a 7.8-story concentration on the average, already twenty rapid transit stations are provided. Think of it—twenty stations to serve one-third of a square mile of gross area or one-sixth of a square mile of net building area.

"Or, expressed in another way, a rapid transit station is now provided in this area to serve every twelve acres of gross area in the one case, or every six acres of net area in the other case. The twelve acres gross area served by each station is about equivalent to that of a circle with a 400-foot radius. The length of a station platform is 530 feet, so this radius only extends 135 feet beyond the end of the station platforms.

PROBLEMS PRESENTED

"The building height restrictions for this area permit a potential development of approximately two and a half times the existing heights. How can two and a half times the existing street space be provided to serve this area? How can thirty more rapid transit stations be added to the twenty already furnished, or fifty supplied altogether? Yet if every landowner undertakes and is permitted to exercise his full existing rights, that is what the problem means.

"Why permit one landowner to erect on a single block a building that would house 15,000 workers, who would saturate the sidewalks and roadway space around the building to the exclusion of all other local or through traffic?"

Such a building, it is pointed out, if it covered an entire block would be surrounded by about 20,000 square feet of sidewalk space. The 15,000 occupants of the building would require 30,000 square feet of sidewalk space if they were standing still, or 90,000 square feet if they were walking. That is to say, the occupants of such a building would require one and a half or four and a half times as much sidewalk space as would be available for their use either standing still or walking, as the case might be.

MOTOR CAR PROBLEM

If the occupants of such a building had as many automobiles as is indicated by the present ratio of motor vehicles to population they would have about 1000 cars. Standing still these cars would require 90,000 square feet of roadway space, or over three times the 27,000 square feet of roadway space available for them. Moving even slowly the 1000 cars would need ten times as much space as would be available for their use, or 270,000 square feet.

The area under survey by the committee on a regional plan for New York and its environs embraces 5528 square miles in the three States of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

It is predicted that by 1960 the total population of the region will have increased to 19,000,000. Obviously, there is much work to be done by Mr. Delano's committee.

EX-SOLDIER HAVEN FULL TO CAPACITY

Veterans' Hospital Near Tucson to be Enlarged to Care for New Demand

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Aug. 20.—Every ward bed at MacArtan Veterans' Hospital, near Tucson, is filled, an unprecedented condition in this season of the year. The cause lies in the fact, demonstrated last fall, that the patients who remained in Tucson over summer were better at its end than those who returned after spending the heated season in a cooler climate.

Ordinarily half the beds have been empty in August. It now is expected that the capacity of the hospital will be enlarged. There now is nearly finished a new mess hall, as well as an educational building, in which various crafts will be studied by the semi-invalid men. Within a month connections will be completed that will bring the radio to 200 beds. The men thus will be permitted to enjoy programs that originate within a radius of 1000 miles.

One tale from the hospital concerns Stafford W. Bridges, who developed tuberculosis in 1918 in a Texas camp. After years of waiting, he received a government check for $2200, in full payment of arrears of compensation for full disability. He was overjoyed and immediately began making plans for the future, for his physical condition had been improving. But the next day he was stricken by a hemorrhage and died. Relatives reside at Shidler, Okla.

CONVENT AT DOUGLAS AWAITING DEDICATION

GIFT OF TWO LOS ANGELES WOMEN TO BE SCENE OF CEREMONY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Aug. 20.—On September 1 is to be formal dedication of the new Loretto convent school in this city. Bishop Daniel J. Gercke of the Arizona Catholic diocese will conduct the ceremonial, with attendance also expected of Bishop A. J. Schuler of El Paso and Bishop J. Navarette of Sonora. The local council of Knights of Columbus will be in general charge of the exercises and James P. Boyle will deliver the address of welcome. The building and its modern equipment cost $150,000, given by Mrs. Ellen C. Brophy of Los Angeles, as a memorial to her husband, William H. Brophy, for years manager of the mercantile business of the Phelps Dodge corporation, and her daughter, Mrs. Brophy and her son, Frank C. Brophy of Phoenix, will be honored visitors at the time of dedication.

A bronze tablet at the main entrance bears the inscription: "For the glory of God and the Christian education of the children of Arizona this building is erected by Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Brophy." The tablet also bears a medallion of Ellenita Brophy.

The next Catholic construction in Arizona is to be a chapel at Ajo, for which plans have been completed.

SUN'S STRATEGY FOILS FASCISTI

Arms of Canton Merchants Are Seized by Trick

Feeling Running High, With Fears of Bloodshed

Leader of Volunteer Corps Forced to Flee City

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20.—The first definite brush between the Chinese merchants' Volunteer Corps, or the Fascisti of Canton, as it is popularly called, with Sun Yat Sen's military organization resulted in a victory for the latter, according to news received here.

The Volunteer Corps was organized more than a year ago, and it was gradually strengthened and unified until its leaders thought it strong enough for a stand against Sun Yat Sen and the militarists, but apparently Sun outgeneraled the merchants at the last moment by a clever arms seizure.

RESCINDS ORDER

The Volunteer Corps obtained the consent of Sun Yat Sen to import a large shipment of arms on a Norwegian steamer. The shipment consisted of several million dollars' worth of rifles, machine guns and ample ammunition, but when the ship reached Canton Sun Yat Sen rescinded the order secretly and seized the arms for his troops.

The committee at the head of the Volunteer Corps then resigned and Chan Lim Pak, recently elected head of the corps and the most wealthy and influential merchant of Canton, was forced to flee.

Sun Yat Sen was enabled to put over his coup, according to reports received here, through the support of labor unions and Japanese mercenary troops in the Canton area.

OUTBREAK FEARED

The Chinese merchants who financed the Volunteer Corps now are highly incensed, and for two days they have been conducting parades and demonstrations in Canton's streets. Feeling is running high with fears of an outbreak and fighting in the streets.

Chan Lim Pak has issued a statement outlining the purpose of the Volunteer Corps as being in the nature of vigilantes for the protection of the lives and property of the $1,000,000 in the Kwangtung province against the depredations of the military factions. The corps is not intended for political purposes, and it was organized under the very definite permission and regulation of both the provincial and central governments.

The statement explains that it is impossible to maintain the corps as an effective body without arms and ammunition, so permission was obtained to make purchases abroad.

FOE OF CIGARETTES DIES

Miss Lucy Gaston Succumbs to Throat Malady After Spectacular Career as Reformer

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Miss Lucy Page Gaston, nationally known reformer and foe of cigarettes, died in a sanatorium here today. Her health failed several months ago after she was injured in a street-car accident, and a malignant growth in her throat developed. Miss Gaston was conscious until thirty minutes before she died.

Miss Gaston was born in 1860 at Delaware, O., and her activity as a reformer began while she was attending the Illinois State Normal School.

LED MANY RAIDS

During her career she had led raids on saloons, gambling resorts and cigarette establishments.

Undaunted by ridicule which often met her efforts, Miss Gaston was the arch enemy of tobacco for more than a quarter of a century as superintendent of the organization which she founded. In spite of her admissions that smoking among women and boys was on the increase, she continued her efforts.

She sent a letter to the late President Harding asking him to quit smoking cigarettes and made a similar request of other nationally known dignitaries.

During the war when relatives and friends were supplying soldiers with cigarettes, she never relaxed her efforts in spite of appeals made in the name of patriotism.

She was associated with the late Frances Willard in the organization of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

EDITED JOURNALS

She had edited the Citizen, published at Harvey, Ill., and later the Boy Patriot, among reform journals.

In 1920 she filed petitions for the Republican Presidential nomination in the South Dakota primaries.

Miss Gaston at times turned to experiments even in international reform. Her zeal occasionally became too strong for other professional reformers and in 1921 her advocacy of certain proposals led to a breach with her associates. She left the Anti-Cigarette League for two years to work independently, but returned to its superintendency in 1923.

Arrangements for her funeral had not been announced tonight.

Unmasked Men Steal Gems Worth $150,000 in Boston; Kansas City Bank Robbed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Timing their attack to within five minutes of opening of business hours, four unmasked men held up the manager of the jewelry store of Carl H. Skinner on Boyleston street today and escaped with rings and gems valued at $150,000.

The manager, Frederick W. Ives, was carrying several boxes of jewelry from the safe to the showcases at five minutes to nine when he heard a command:

"Throw up your hands and drop that stuff. We want it."

He looked up to find four revolvers aimed at him out he grappled with the nearest bandit. A blow from a revolver butt and Ives was stretched out unconscious while the robbers swiftly carried their booty to the sidewalk.

A bystander, Mrs. Anna Conway, tried to stop them but one of the four knocked her down. The bandits escaped in a stolen car.

TROOPS ARE RESTRICTED IN RIOT QUIZ

Entire Battery is Held in Barracks During Inquiry in Kalihi Mob Affair

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU, Aug. 20.—Army authorities here have announced that the entire personnel of Battery A, Fifty-fifth Artillery, has been restricted to barracks pending an investigation of a riot in the Kalihi district, which now appears to have been more serious than first reported. Eyewitnesses assert that an organized mob of 200 soldiers armed with clubs, rocks and pistols created a reign of terror, attacking indiscriminately every civilian appearing on the street.

Those taken to the hospital include a sergeant who, dressed in civilian clothes, was mistaken for a civilian and beaten; a Japanese storekeeper and other innocent persons. Arthur Powlson, a Y.M.C.A. secretary, who witnessed the affair, said he saw several bystanders, including a small boy, knocked down with clubs, stores wrecked and automobiles stoned.

Army authorities deny that any of the soldiers participating carried guns. The raid evidently was well planned, the organized groups of soldiers mobilizing from different directions and concentrating in Kalihi, scattering before the police arrived.

Sheep Frozen in Ice Fifty Years Found on Shasta

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The carcass of a big mountain sheep that had been frozen in the ice of Mt. Shasta's glaciers for the last half-century was found Monday by a party of mountain climbers, H. McAllister, director of the Sierra Club, was informed today by letter from Mack Olberman, keeper of the Shasta Alpine Lodge.

The sheep was discovered 12,000 feet up, above the west slope of the "red banks" where a landslide had occurred owing to the inordinate melting of the glaciers, the lodge keeper wrote. McAllister directed that the body be sent to the California Academy of Sciences, in Golden Gate Park, for examination and exhibition.

"The last record we have of big sheep on Mt. Shasta was in 1872," McAllister said today. "It is probable that the sheep fell into a crevasse, and laid frozen in the ice for some fifty years."

Picture Machine Men Resolve to Quit Work at Midnight, 31st Inst.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The 1000 members of the Motion Picture Machine Operators' Union, Local 306, resolved tonight to go on strike at midnight the 31st inst. Earlier in the afternoon members of Theater Owners' Chamber of Commerce had decided to reopen negotiations over the wage scale for the coming year.

Discussion of the question was broken off last Friday.

The strike, if it goes into effect, as union leaders assert it undoubtedly will, will darken every important moving-picture house in the city and its suburbs and curtail the programs in many houses which combine vaudeville and pictures. The operators seek an agreement calling for a higher wage scale for next year. The contract was drawn up by members of the T.O.C.C., union men say, and accepted when it was discovered that the employees' body would not insure the acceptance of its individual members.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cercana se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestras hermanas, las repúblicas del sur. Tan se dan cuenta de este hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25,000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Mujer que Ha Hecho Desaparecer a Veintiún Bebés

PARIS, Agosto 20.—"Dinorah", o sea la señora Dinorah Galou, mujer que ha conmovido a toda Francia por el supuesto secuestro y asesinato, o, por lo menos, la supuesta desaparición de veintiún bebés, sostuvo ayer que es inocente en un interrogatorio de tres horas a que se le sometió en Agen, Francia del sur.

Dice Dinorah que es hija del Maharajah Baroda y de madre inglesa, y está casada con el doctor Galou, médico rural. Los veintiún bebés que había adoptado o plagiado, los hizo pasar por suyos durante tres años en toda la Francia meridional.

Dinorah posee indudable potencia hipnótica, así como una enorme ingeniosidad para fabricar historias acerca de dónde hubo a todos los niños y le que ha hecho con ellos. La justicia se siente completamente burlada, pues no ha podido determinar dónde obtuvo esa mujer a las criaturas, ni cuál ha sido la suerte de éstas, por lo que este caso ha hecho recordar la análoga vaguedad del de Landru. Bajo las leyes francesas, sin embargo, como Dinorah no pueda probar su inocencia, tendrá probablemente que pagar sus pretendidos crímenes con la cabeza.

Durante todo el interrogatorio sostuvo que adoptó a todas las veintiún criaturas por puro amor maternal. Describió las muertes accidentales de tres de los bebés, pero mantuvo que ignoraba lo que les había ocurrido a los otros.

El doctor Galou declaró que creía que once de estos niños pertenecían a su aventurera esposa, a quien conoció en Constantinopla en 1919. Se supone que el padre de tres de ellos sea un millonario amaricano.

Invasión de Langostas en Méjico

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Agosto 20. Ha seguido causando grandes daños una invasión de langostas en ciertas regiones del Estado de Veracruz, y a lo largo del istmo de Tehuantepec. Los trenes han tenido que pararse, las cosechas han sido destruídas, y propiedades de otra clase, asoladas. En un tramo del ferrocarril de Tehuantepec hay cinco millas de vía cubiertas de langosta, alcanzando las pilas de este dañine insecto hasta seis pies de altura.

Las locomotoras que tienen que abrirse paso por entre las masas de insectos, están empleando tubos por los que sale una corriente de petróleo ardiendo que se esparce sobre la vía, y disemina o mata a las langostas. La situación es análoga a la de los trenes detenidos por la arena en Arizona, o por la nieve en las montañas. Ya se han originado varios descarrilamientos y muchas gentes han resultado lesionadas.

Es difícil la exterminación de la langosta, pues se reproduce por millones. El ministerio de Agricultra, que está cooperando con el ferrocarril, ha llegado a la conclusión de que el uso del petróleo es el mejor medio de combatir a los invasores. Se riega petróleo crudo en gran cantidad a ambos lados de los rieles que atraviesan las densas maniguas, y esto hace que los enjambres de insectos alteren su curso cuando llegan a los tramos impregnados de petróleo. Después, al llegar la estación de lluvias, perecen.

Tal Vez el Papa Perdone a Méjico

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Agosto 20. En los círculos católicos de aquí ha renacido la esperanza de que pronto envíe el Papa a Méjico un nuevo delegado pontificio. Desde que hace varios meses fue expulsado de la república el Delegado Apostólico, Monseñor Ernesto Filippi, los católicos han tenido muy poca intervención en política, a pesar de que su partido representa, toravía al elemento más rico de Méjico, y a un noventa por ciento de la población.

Créese que han cambiado la actitud del Presidente Obregón, a quien los líderes del partido católico han considerado como uno de los más grandes adversarios de dicho partido, desde aquella vez en que, habiendo entrado a Méjico como general en jefe de las fuerzas revolucionarias victoriosas, en 1914, ordenó que todos los sacerdotes fueran expulsados de la ciudad de Méjico.

Menciónase que en discurso pronunciado ayer declaró que "la Virgen de Guadalupe ha sido siempre la Reina de Méjico, y como tal, merece toda nuestra gratitud y nuestro respeto."

Los católicos fundan ahora sus esperanzas en la actual visita al Vaticano de buen número de obispos mejicanos. Se anuncia que éstos han conseguido largas audiencias especiales con el Sumo Pontífice.

También expresan los católicos la creencia de que Luis Bustos, Caballero Supremo de los Caballeros de Colón mejicanos, que se halla al presente en Nueva York, tratará con las altas autoridades eclesiásticas americanas la cuestión del nombramiento de un Nuncio papal en Méjico, y les pedirá su ayuda.

Algunos de los más significados católicos del mundo van a reunirse aquí en Octubre, según se espera, en congreso eucarístico, y se confía en que, con el Arzobispo de Méjico, decidirán de manera definitiva si es prudente recomendar que el Papa nombre un nuevo delegado apostólico para Méjico.

DEPORTES

Baseball

Los Patos de Portland hicieron ayer tarde una de sus exhibiciones de alto vuelo en el parque Washington, y con elevadísimo vuelo aereo en los turnos cuarto y quinto, le regalaron a Vernon una victoria por 9 a 6, emparejando de ese modo el tanteo en la presente serie. El empresario Fran Brazill llegó hasta arrojar por la borda a dos de sus tiradores, para ver de hacer bajar a tierra a sus consentidos; pero cuando logró que la brigada de Portland arrojara su exceso de lastre, el daño estaba ya hecho.

Pugilato

NUEVA YORK, Agosto 20.—Johnny Dundee anunció esta tarde que se retiraba de campeón pesopluma. De modo formal hizo entrega de su título a la Comisión Atlética del Estado de Nueva York, para lo que ésta crea más conveniente hacer con él. Declaró Dundee que ya no podía mantenerse en 126 libras, que es el límite de los pesopluma, y conservarse fuerte; y que prería bajar de su trono a poner en peligro su título cuando no estuviera en lo mejor de su condición.

Tennis

BROOKLINE (Mass.) Agosto 20. Hoy pudo haberse llamado el "Día de California" en el torneo nacional de parejas de tennis. Los atletas del Estado Dorado dominaron y acapararon el interés de la muchedumbre, habiéndole ganado San Francisco, representado por Robert y Howard Kinsey, a Los Angeles, representado por Walter Westbrook y Harvey Snodgrass, en series seguidas, por anotación de 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

COLOR LINE NOT ISSUE, SAYS DAVIS

Democratic Nominee Tells Questioner How He Will Pick Employees

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—In filling governmental positions, John W. Davis, as President, "would consider only the ability of the applicant and his fitness for the position which he wishes to occupy," the Democratic candidate for President declared in a letter to Eugene McIntosh, executive leader of the Bronx Colored Voters' Democratic Progressive Association, made public today.

Mr. McIntosh, in a letter, has reminded Mr. Davis that he had not included the word "color" in a phrase of his acceptance speech, in which he declared that in making appointments in the event of his election, he would "set up no standard of religious faith or racial origin as a qualification for any office."

"Since the national Democratic party in the past has not seemed to favor Presidential appointment to office of colored citizens, may I not ask you directly the question: 'If being a colored citizen would be a bar to Presidential appointments by you if elected President?'"

"The Democratic candidate replied:

"My acceptance speech meant exactly what it said. In making appointments I shall consider only the ability of the applicant and his fitness for the position which he wishes to occupy."

73-Year-Old Gland Patient Sets Up Running Record

Onlookers were amazed to see a 73-year-old runner dash across the line winner of a 50-yard running race in the sensational time of 6 seconds, just 4-5 of a second short of the world's record. This almost unbelievable incident occurred at the annual field meet held at one of California's State institutions.

It was another victory for Science, proving again that youthful vigor, stamina, ambition and power may be restored by reviving the vital glands of the body, for the winner was a gland patient.

Dr. Arnold Lorand says in his book, "Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions, if changed by age or disease, by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy young animals."

Science has now prepared such a treatment in convenient tablet form—Glandogen—which combines the healthy glands of young animals with other efficacious ingredients. Thousands of keen-eyed vigorous men and women are today taking Glandogen. It is prepared in two forms—one for women and one for men.

Glandogen is obtainable at Chambers Drug Co., 1st and Broadway; Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; Blaney-Chambers Drug Co., 7th and San Pedro and 6th and Los Angeles; in Long Beach at Oakford Drug Co., 211 Pine Ave.; in San Pedro, Wilmington and Torrance at Beacon Drug Stores.—[Advertisement.

AFRAID SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Operation Advised, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made It Unnecessary

Glasgow, Kentucky.—"I was rundown, nervous, with no appetite. My side had given me trouble for five or six years. At times it was all I could do to live, and the doctor said I couldn't live but a short time longer without an operation. That was two years ago. My sister-in-law recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She had never used it herself, but she said one of her neighbors suffered just like I did, and it cured her. After I had taken four bottles the pain left my side. I had a fine appetite to eat anything that was put before me, and I began to do all my work and my washing, something I hadn't done for years. I am a dressmaker, and this last fall I began suffering with my side again, so I began taking the Vegetable Compound again. I am on my fourth bottle, which makes eight in all I have taken. I feel so much better when I take it and everybody tells me I look better. My appetite improves and I feel stronger in every way. I am a very nervous woman and it seems to help my nerves so much."—Mrs. MAGGIE WALLER, Glasgow, Kentucky.

CAREFUL POLICY IN RECLAMATION

Commissioner Makes Report of Survey of West

Colonization of Irrigation Projects in View

Chief Asks More Attention to Settlement

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Adoption of a carefully-planned policy for colonization of irrigation projects to be constructed in the future was urged by Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation, in a special report he submitted to Secretary Work today on his return from a 9000-mile inspection trip in the West. Dr. Mead visited projects in Utah, Nevada, California, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Nebraska.

"On each proposed new project, an economic survey has been organized under the direction of G. C. Krentzer, director of the Division of Farm Economics," said the report. "In this survey the co-operation of the State agricultural colleges of Utah, Nevada, California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho has been obtained and these institutions have generally extended the services of experts on soils and farm management. These experts are now engaged in working out the problem of what water for irrigation is worth in the districts of their States where the proposed projects are located and what it will cost settlers to change raw land into improved form. When the experts have reached their conclusions on all of the proposed projects, they are to be submitted to local committees of bankers, farmers and business men for their suggestions as to costs and methods of development.

ECONOMICS STUDIED

"Every factor that would lessen expense and hasten development of income must be considered. While water charges must in the end come from irrigated crops, irrigation works that are not followed promptly by irrigated agriculture are a financial burden to landowners. Long-delayed agricultural development has wrecked more of these enterprises than all other causes combined. The costlier the work the more important it is that this fact be recognized."

Dr. Mead pointed out that hereafter attention must be given of where and how money needed in agricultural development is to be obtained; where and how settlers are to be obtained, and how the settlers must be aided and directed to enable them to use their money, effort and time to best advantage.

"In order that the farmers may succeed, a practical business superintendent who has a knowledge of farm conditions should be employed to plan settlement and advise settlers," said Dr. Mead. "For the last six months I have been studying the causes for increasing arrears of payments by settlers and the widespread demand for postponement of payments on Federal irrigation projects. One reason has been the extreme agricultural depression, which, however, is temporary and may be ignored.

PURCHASE TERMS

"There are other reasons which we must consider. One of these is the terms on which settlers have bought farms and the prices they have paid for them. Another is the lack of capital and the lack of other qualifications indispensable to success in agriculture. The evidence is conclusive that we must in the future pay more attention to settlement problems and the qualifications of settlers if we are to escape complications and losses that will discredit, if not terminate, this policy.

"What I have seen in the last fifteen years of the achievements of planned settlement and financed farm development in other countries compels me to realize that we are ignoring the most valuable feature of reclamation, and a few demonstrations like the colonization plan I propose will assure the success of reclamation in the future."

AIMS OF SOVIET DISTURB PEKING

Efforts to Regain Legation Involve Schurman

American Minister Obliged to Address Russian

Troops and Corps Seniority Affect Envoys

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Efforts of the soviet government to regain possession of legation properties at Peking, lost when the Czarist government was overthrown and diplomatic relations with China severed, involve questions regarded here as of great importance.

They already have brought Jacob Gould Schurman, the American Minister to China, to the necessity of conferring directly with L. M. Karakhan, the soviet Ambassador, whose government is not recognized by the United States, and have given rise to problems the solution of which are said to be viewed with some concern by other members of the Diplomatic Corps whose governments also have decided against recognition of the soviet.

NO RECOGNITION

One point understood to have been strongly emphasized by Minister Schurman is that before the diplomatic body agreed to return the properties sought by the soviet government, it should be understood beyond all doubt that nothing that transpired in that connection should be considered as implying recognition of the soviet and in addition that the soviet should accept full responsibility for enforcement of all provisions contained in the protocol.

Another phase of the situation puzzling representatives of the diplomatic body is the probable arrival in Peking of soviet troops, once the properties have been surrendered to the Moscow government. It is understood that none of the legation authorities is anxious to have their guards associate with the soviet troops or have them in such close contact as life in the compound naturally brings about.

RANK IN QUESTION

It is pointed out, too, that since all members of the Peking diplomatic body now hold the rank of minister, the presence of a soviet Ambassador at once would give the Moscow government a senior representation in Peking and automatically cause the transfer of the deanship of the corps to soviet hands. It is the duty of the dean to preside at all meetings of the diplomatic body, in whose hands the control of the compound rests, and which also is responsible to the various nations for any joint issue between them and the Chinese government.

This point is considered of unusual importance just now as the central government of China is admittedly a weakened institution.

JAPANESE UNCERTAIN WHAT TO DO WITH NOTE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PEKING, Aug. 20.—Members of the Japanese Legation here conducted a long conference today in an effort to reach a decision as to what disposition should be made of the communication now held by K. Yoshizawa, senor diplomat at Peking, from L. M. Karakhan, Russian Ambassador to China, in which the soviet representative refused to accept conditions laid down by the United States Minister as a member of the diplomatic corps in turning the Russian Legation over to the soviet government.

The reply from Karakhan is a direct answer to a note sent by the United States Ministry, through Yoshizawa, in which the American government wished the soviet government to understand that turning over the old czarist legation to the soviet in no wise constituted recognition of the soviet by the United States.

TOKIO MAY ACT

The course of the Japanese Minister in handling the correspondence further was undetermined after the conference today and it was intimated the matter may be referred to Tokio for advice.

As a result of the uncertainty existing among the Japanese diplomats the American Legation has received no communication of any sort from Yashizawa on the subject of Karakhan's rejection of the American note.

It developed today that Yoshizawa was forced into the position of senior diplomat to handle the acceptance note of the diplomatic corps on account of the absence of Sir Ronald MacLean, British Minister, who returned to Peking the day after the main acceptance under the American reservations had been sent to Karakhan by Yoshizawa. The task devolved upon Yoshizawa after the reply of the Italian government to the proposal to turn the legation over to the Soviet was received. Immediately a meeting of the diplomatic corps was called before Sir Ronald MacLean's return and Yoshizawa found himself in the position of senior diplomat.

AMERICANS SILENT

It was Yoshizawa's idea to embody the American reservation in a separate note, it was said today, since representatives of other countries present gave no indication of making similar reservations.

The attitude of the American legation today was that its duty was accomplished when Ambassador Karakhan became apprised of the attitude of the Washington government and that no further comment would be forthcoming.

The Wrath to Come

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

Synopsis.—Grant Slattery, wealthy American, meets his former fiancee, Gertrude, in Monte Carlo, as Princess Von Diss. The International Congress is meeting in Nice; Lord Yeovil, British Premier is attending. Subtle opposition delays session one day. Lord Yeovil entertains at the Villa Miranda. Slattery and Yeovil confer regarding Yeovil's intention to force the congress to invite the United States to become a member of the pact. Susan, Yeovil's daughter, prevails upon Grant to drive her to the club. Baron Naga, Japanese Ambassador, pays a midnight visit to Lord Yeovil to impart valuable information but collapses and dies in the Yeovil apartment. Slattery and Susan discover Yeovil's secretary in company with Princess Von Diss.

"Arthur is hopelessly enslaved," Grant announced. "The beautiful Princess has him in her clutches. He says he'll come along presently. I should doubt whether we see him again this evening."

"It doesn't really matter whether we do or not," Susan remarked, as she stepped into the car, by Grant's side. "That nice Wheeler boy who plays tennis so well is coming along, so we shall get all the dancing we want. Are you going to dance with me, Grant. And why do you look so cross?

"I'm not really cross," he assured her, "but Arthur, when he likes, can be such a hopeless young ass. Anyway, I'll get the first dance with you."

They glided across the square, past the gardens and into the quiet street on the right-hand side. They entered the restaurant to the strains of modified jazz music, ordered champagne and sandwiches and sat down at a round table.

"You do dance well, you know, Grant," Susan told him after their second turn.

"You're rather wonderful yourself after eight sets of tennis," he observed. "Is it my fancy or are you a little pale?"

"I did feel tired a little time ago," she admitted. "It's passed off now, though. What a shame one of you have to sit out."

"Bobby isn't going to sit out long," he pointed out. "Young rascal!"

They watched the young man lead away one of the professional danseuses. Susan laughed heartily.

"Just like Bobby," she declared. "He can't dance for nuts. If he wanted to dance with a professional though, I wonder why on earth he didn't choose the little one at the next table to us."

Grant glanced at the girl whom his companion had indicated, at first carelessly, but afterward with genuine interest. She was seated at a small round table close to their own,—dark, pale, almost sallow, with rather narrow eyes of a deep brown shade, silky eyebrows and eyelashes, and black hair in which, as she moved her head to the music, there seemed to be a gleam of wine colour. She was plainly dressed in a black taffeta gown and she wore no jewellery of any sort. There was something about her expression peculiarly inscrutable and yet Grant fancied that as his eyes met hers she intended in some mysterious way to let him know that she had observed his interest.

"What a quaint creature," he observed. "I wonder who she is?"

"She's one of the professional dancers," Susan told him. "She was here on Monday, and when we were here the week before. She was dancing all the time with the Japanese Count then, the young man who does the interpreting at Nice. Look at Bobby being taught new steps: isn't he priceless?"

The evening wore on in the usual way. The little party danced incessantly, drank a moderate quantity of champagne and a great many orangeades, and watched the throng of people with a certain amount of interest. Suddenly Susan touched Grant on the arm.

"A tragedy!" she whispered. "Look at the dark young woman's face. Her Japanese Count has just come in with another woman."

Grant turned around and was just in time to catch an expression on the girl's face which, for a moment, almost shocked him. The slightly scornful air of inscrutability was gone, the lips had parted, there was a gleam of white teeth, her eyes had narrowed almost into slits, and her eyebrows had drawn closer together. It was all over in a moment, so quickly indeed that Grant wondered whether it had really been murder that he had seen there. She even glanced across the room and nodded carelessly at the young man and the girl, a danseuse from a neighboring cafe. Grant exchanged a questioning glance with Susan.

"Do you know," he said, "it seemed to me, for a moment, that she was going to play the virago."

"She looked like a little fiend," Susan replied. "Bother, here comes Arthur. I suppose I shall have to dance this with him."

Lymane came in, full of apologies. He was a little absorbed in manner and he took the chaff to which he was subjected in a somewhat spiritless fashion.

"Don't see what any one's got against me" he remarked, as he helped himself to a glass of wine. "You're a man over, already. What about this dance, Lady Susan?"

"The next," she answered, waving him away. "After that you, please, Grant."

Grant and Arthur Lymane were left alone. At the adjoining table the dark girl with the inscrutable face was smoking cigarettes and drinking tea glancing occasionally toward them.

"Lymane," his companion said, "May I take a liberty with you?"

"Go ahead."

"I don't think you're altogether wise to cultivate your acquaintance with the Princess Von Diss."

"Why the devil not?" the young man demanded.

"If you're going to take it like that, there's no more to be said about it. Sorry I interfered."

"You'd better tell me what you mean, anyway."

"Mine is simply the obvious point of view," Grant explained. "You are the private secretary of the Prime Minister of your country, who is also President of the Pact of Nations. I do not think that I would become too intimate or be seen too much in public with the wife of a German statesman of Von Diss's known proclivities."

Lymane lit a cigarette with trembling fingers.

"You're out of your mind, Slattery," he declared.

"Perhaps," was the quiet rejoinder. "The advice I have offered you is for your own good."

"The usual cant," the young man sneered. "Why you might have been born thirty years ago. What's the difference between Germany and the other nations? What's the Pact done, I should like to know, if it hasn't brought them all into a group? You seem to be harking back to the primeval days when German spies and adventurous princesses were the stock in trade of the sensational novelist."

"Such people may still exist," Grant persisted.

"Rubbish! What is there to spy about? They're all making a fuss over at Nice, but I've come to the conclusion that it doesn't amount to anything. You're a bit of an alarmist, I know, Slattery, but I'm not. In any case, to take exception to my friendship with the Princess simply because you yourself have had a misunderstanding with her is neither more nor less than ridiculous."

Grant looked at his companion curiously.

"I am sorry you take it like that," he said. "I will admit that I hold a somewhat gloomy view of the international situation just now, but you are wrong when you suggest that I have had any sort of a misunderstanding with the Princess."

"At any rate, Von Diss is not a particular friend of yours, is he?" the young man asked meaningly.

Grant rose to his feet.

"Look here, Lymane," he protested, "there are limits to the disagreeable things you may say to me. I think—"

It was one of those happenings which Grant could never explain even himself. He rose to his feet simply with the intention of leaving his companion for a moment or two. As he did so, unseen to him, the girl at the next table rose also. She held up her arms quite naturally, without saying a word, without even looking directly towards him. No word of invitation passed from either one to the other. When, afterward, Grant asked himself how that dance had come about, he could only surmise that the girl had willed it.

CHAPTER VI

"I suppose," Grant remarked, after their first turn of the room, "that I must be psychic."

"Why?" the girl asked.

"Because, although you have never addressed a word to me, not even since we commenced to dance, I believe that you have something to say."

"It is not you who are psychic," she replied. "It was I who conveyed that impression to you. We will stop now. Come this way, please."

She led the way, to two chairs set in a retired corner of the bar, which was just then almost deserted.

"That was a very short dance," he complained.

"You dance very well," she answered, "but to talk is sometimes more important."

He looked at her with quickening curiosity. In her strange, quiet way she was, without a doubt, attractive, but in an absolutely unanalyzable manner. Not only was she without ornaments, but her dress itself was made in the plainest possible fashion. There was no color upon her cheeks or carmine upon her lips. She seemed even to have disdained the powder puff.

"What will you have?" he asked, as a waiter drew near. 'Some champagne?"

"Thank you," she replied. "I never drink wine. I will have some tea and some cigarettes."

"Aren't you a little unusual for a place like this?" he asked.

"Very," she admitted. "At first they did not wish to take me. Now they know better. I can bring them the custom when I choose."

ONCE RICH, NOW RAGGED AND BROKE

Hugo Pitte, Long Missing Banker, Found Penniless in Chicago Hospital

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Hugo L. Pitte, former Alderman, political power and wealthy private banker, who dropped out of sight seven years ago, after financial reverses and trouble with the Federal court, was discovered today, ragged, penniless and friendless at the County Hospital.

"Sick and broke," he announced, as he wandered into the institution and was assigned a cot. Examination showed he was suffering from a complication of ailments, including heart disease, and that he had small chance to recover.

In 1917, Pitte, who, with his father, operated a private bank, filed a petition in bankruptcy and a few weeks later the elder Pitte attempted suicide. On his recovery he was held to the grand jury with his son and at a hearing Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis trapped them into admitting forgery for several signatures to mortgages. It was at this time that the elder Pitte carried out a successful suicide plan and the son disappeared.

Man Who Went to Jail for Wife is Bullet Victim

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Maj. C. A. Cameron, who went to jail in 1911 charged with fraud rather than testify against his wife, and who was reinstated as an officer by the King after his wife's confession absolving him, was found dying today from a bullet wound in the head at the barracks at Sheffield.

Mrs. Cameron asserted in 1911 that a pearl necklace, valued at $32,000 had been stolen. Charged with attempting to defraud Lloyds, she and her husband, were sentenced to three years imprisonment, although Maj. Cameron might have proved his ignorance of the plot by taking the stand. Her confession later cleared him. Field Marshal Lord Kitchener allowed Cameron to rejoin the army.

Maj. Cameron held the highest decorations in Europe.

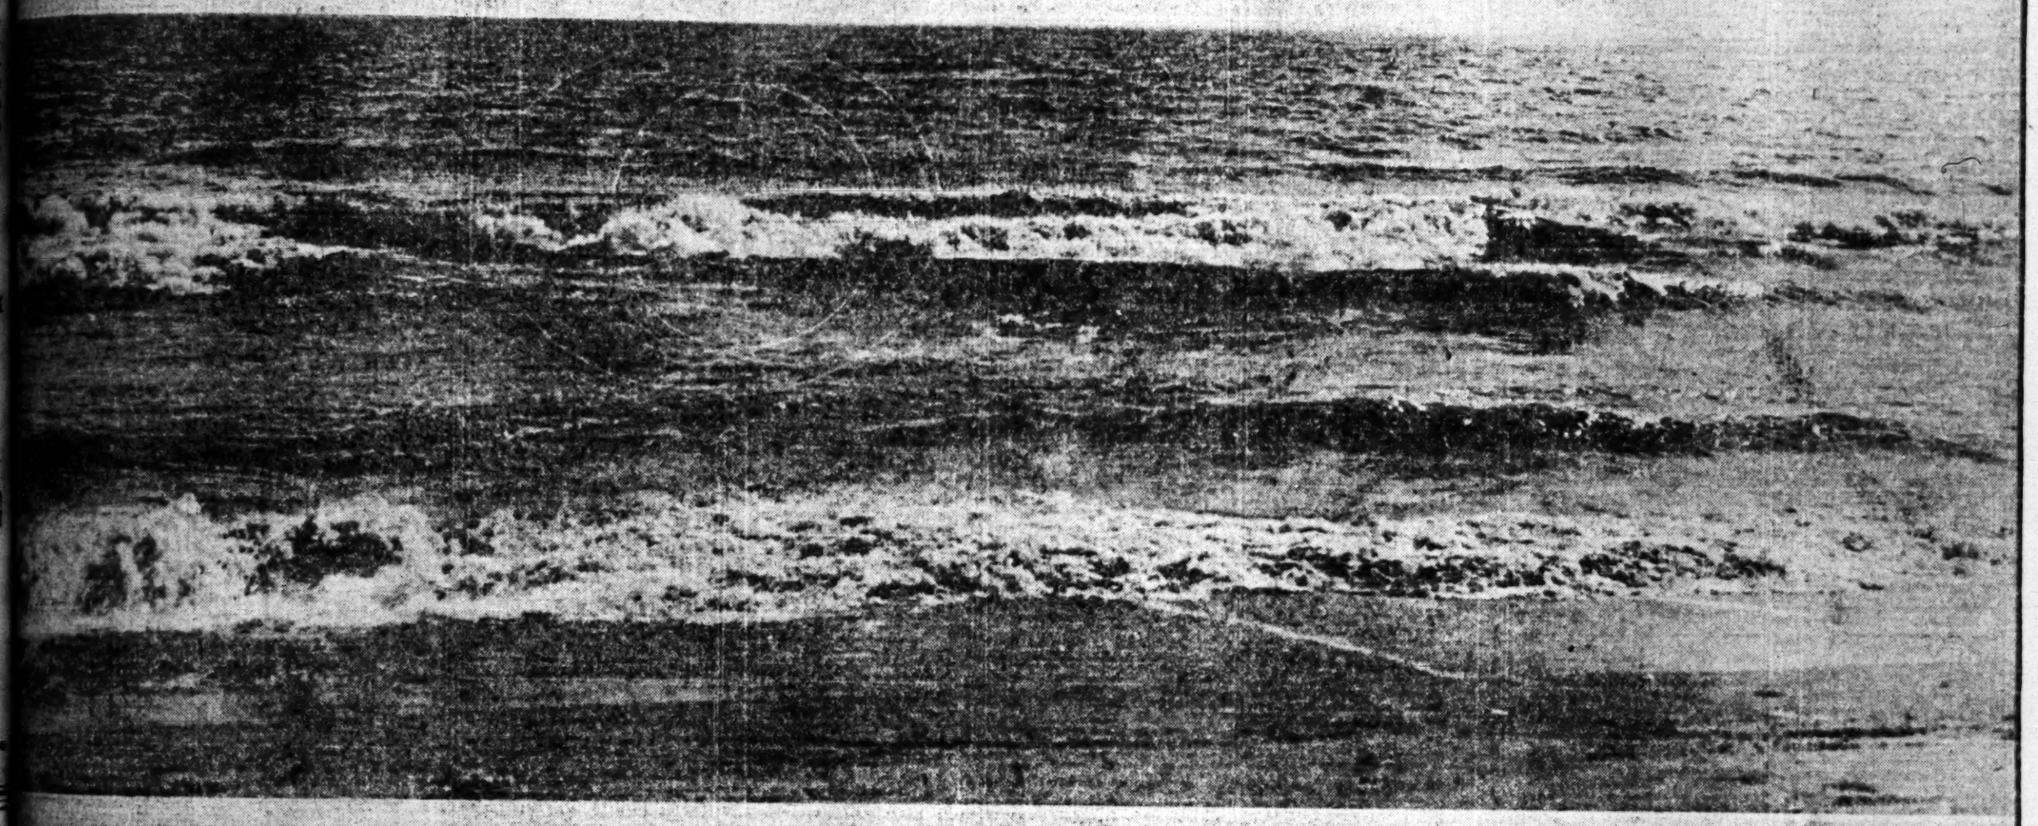
THE GRAND OLD OCEAN



The Magnet That Draws People From Near and Far

A mighty pull this grand old ocean has!

It pulled a United States senator out of Nevada to make his family home, in spite of the fact that his great interests were in Nevada and his public service called him to Washington for thirty years.

It pulled men like John P. Jones, Collis P. Huntington, Frederick H. Rindge, M. H. Sherman, E. P. Clark, R. C. Gillis and their interests and activity.

That was in the days when Los Angeles was very small and Santa Monica was young or not yet started.

If it did those things in the early days what shall it do now?

Henceforth its power of attraction shall be nation wide—and more.

When a breakwater is provided it will pull yachts out of New York and Boston harbors.

When the right kind of hotels are provided it will draw great numbers of wealthy people from everywhere.

It pulls Canadians out of the North in winter time and cotton growers out of the South in summer time.

It pulls people from the foothills, plains, valleys and desert.

It pulls them from the great landlocked states in the middle of the continent.

It has pulled a great city and saved the day for Los Angeles which was seventeen miles away.

That seventeen miles is not only all subdivided but is being built up with homes at an enormous rate—all the way.

In that seventeen miles is the cream of the homes of Los Angeles—and the top of the cream is Santa Monica.

Here is where many interesting things will happen continually.

Not the usual sort, but things that are different.

And the ocean furnishes the attraction for them all—

From bathing to climate, from sands to sunsets, from moonpaths to yacht races, from fishing to scenery, from ideal home environment to inspiration.

It is very democratic—appealing to clubs and Chautauquas, colleges and crowds, society and real American homes.

Santa Monica is now coming into its own. Its day of unfoldment is here. The life and development of the great city of Los Angeles is unrolling its bud and promise—and the flower is Santa Monica.

It is well with him who calls it home.

BY CHARLES WEST

George Von Elm, Jack Tarrant and Willie Hunter, who have had more or less of a monopoly on golfing honors in Southern California of late, topped the field once more yesterday when the medal rounds of the Los Angeles invitation tournament were played. Von Elm, equalling par with a card of 72, led the balance of the 331 entrants by four strokes, Tarrant trailing the brilliant blond from Rancho with a 76, while Willie Hunter played his way into third place with a 78.

Both the north and south courses were kept busy all day yesterday, the low handicap men performing on the northern layout while their higher handicapped brethren played on the other course. Lou Rose and W. D. Frederick divided the glory for the south links, each scoring an 82, while J. V. Baldwin's 83 was the nevt best card.

BATTLE BEGINS

Match play opens this morning in eight flights, the draw in the Angel Flight finding Tarrant and Godchaux in the upper half of the draw, while Jack Neville and his recent conqueror, Harold Thompson, seem to be the popular favorites in the lower bracket. Unfortunately, Tarrant and Godchaux are in the same quarter, and will probably meet in one of the feature matches of the tournament tomorrow in the second round.

The system of qualifying, which made the golfers play up to their handicaps or drop out, eliminated large gobs of golfers. Players from scratch to 8 who failed to score under 87 were disqualified, and those ranging from 9 to 14 had to score 91 or better to be drawn,

RITCHIE IS A BUST IN COMEBACK

Former Lightweight Champion Fails to Make Good Against Siminich

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world, fell a long way short in an attempted comeback tonight before 7500 fans who packed the Oakland Auditorium, against Joe Siminich of Butte, Mont., who had but little trouble in beating Willie decisively the last three rounds and at times it looked like the old-time ring general would drop to the mat for the count.

The crowd started to leave the pavilion when it was apparent that Ritchie had nothing of his old-time skill.

BATTLING SIKI QUITS IN THE EIGHTH ROUND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LORAIN (O.) Aug. 20.—The scheduled ten-round bout between Battling Siki, who conquered Georges Carpentier, and Mike Conroy, Rochester, N. Y., came to a sudden ending tonight when Siki refused to go on after the eighth round. When the gong sounded for the ninth round Siki walked to the middle of the ring and exclaimed:

"I'm getting nothing for this; I quit."

It was the main bout of a show for the benefit of the Lorain Relief Fund. Referee Tommy McGinty of Cleveland awarded the contest to Conroy, who had been master of the situation throughout.

UNITED STATES FOUR DEFEAT CANADIANS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WINNIPEG (Man.) Aug. 20.—United States teams recorded a double victory against Canadian representatives in the international polo tournament today. Fast play dominated the two games, and while the Americans won, they were forced all the way.

The twin cities squad defeated the St. Charles "Canaries" 5 to 4. The Fort Snelling "Buffs" were victorious against the Lord Strathcona's horse team 4 to 3.

FAVORITES VICTORS IN GOLF TOURNEY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER (Colo.) Aug. 20.—Favorites emerged winners in the second round of the championship flight of the invitation golf tournament for amateurs at the Denver Country Club here today. Dudley S. Golding, Wichita Falls, Tex., star, and Keefe Carter, Oklahoma State champion, came through the second grind of the tournament in such style that their meeting tomorrow as contestants in the third round is regarded as the feature match.

DAUBENSPECK LONE VICTOR

Venice Swimmer Grabs Fifty-Yard Dash; Hawaiians Win All Other Events at Pasadena

BY FRANK B. HOWE

The barnstorming Hawaiian Olympic team went over to Pasadena last night and took on a mixed aggregation of swimmers from various Southern California clubs, coming back with the scalps of everyone except Phil Daubenspeck of Venice, who captured the lone victory of the evening for the Californians, first place in the 50-yard dash.

For a time it looked as though Venice's relay team would turn the tables on the islanders, but the dusky gents from Honolulu finally managed to pose out first place by about two feet.

The water itself was warm enough for comfort, but the chilly wind around the outdoor pool sent the swimmers off to a slight disadvantage and no records were broken. Competition was keen in every event and the marvelous folk from Hawaii had to work all the time to win.

The final night and the big smash of the Hawaiians' visit come tonight when they take on an all-Southern California team in the L.A.A.C. plunge. The island team is going out after a victory and some new world records and plenty of thrills should be provided before the evening is over.

In addition to the competitive swims last night, there were a number of exhibition aquatic events by Pasadenans and others and a program of Hawaiian music by the Hawaiian swimmers.

Last night's results follow:
50-yard free style for men—Daubenspeck (Venice.) Pung (Hawaii.) Time 24 1-5s.
100-yard free style for women—Marlechen Wehselau (Hawaii.) Dodie Blewett (Holboro.) Time, 1m. 6s.
150-yard backstroke for men—W. Kealoha (Hawaii.) Harris (Hawaii.) Schrech (S. F. Olympic Club.) Time, 1m. 50 2-5s.
100-yard breast stroke for men: Kirschbaum (Hawaii.) Egan (Ambassador.) Fulmer (Hollywood.) Time, 1m., 16 2-5s.
100-yard free style for men—Kahanamoku (Hawaii.) Harrison (Venice.) Time, 57s.
50-yard dash for women (handicap)—Bessler (Pasadena.) handicap 6s.; Swartz (Pasadena.) scratch; Turner (Pasadena) handicap 3s. Time, 34 2-5s.
Relay for men—Hawaii (Pung, Lunning, W. Kealoha, Kahanamoku.) Venice, (Wolf, O'Connor, Daubenspeck, Harrison.) Time, 1m. 43 2-5s.

HOCKEY FANS AGAIN MEET IN HOLLYWOOD

Ice and hockey fans will hold another meeting Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the office of the Los Angeles Ice Skating Association, 1557 North Western avenue.

The meeting will be held to discuss the hockey situation, which has again come into the limelight through the competition between team managers to get first-class hockey material. The seventeen teams which will compose the four divisions of the league will need approximately 170 hockey players. The association's drive for support will also be discussed.

WALTER GOLVIN SOLD TO WICHITA FALLS

Walter Golvin, Angel first baseman, was released to the Wichita Falls team, in the Texas League, yesterday. Golvin has been with the Angels for two years. He was one of the steadiest fielders in the Coast League, but was released because of poor hitting. Golvin was popular with his mates and will be missed. Ray Grimes, ex-major leaguer, has replaced him.

OLYMPIC GAMES MEETING CULMINATES IN ROMANCE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—At least one romance may have been credited to the Olympic Games, if rumors current here may be believed. These whisperings, sponsored by returning members of the American Olympic Team, connect the names of Clarence Pinkston and Betty Becker with that of the well-known Mr. Cupid.

Betty Becker

Clarence Pinkston

Pinkston, a member of the San Francisco Olympic Club, won the world high diving title in the 1920 Olympiad, and held the championship four years. This year he placed third.

Miss Becker is a member of the Atlantic City Ambassador Swimming Club and won the world springboard diving championship at this year's Olympic meet. She also placed second in the plain high diving event.

The couple met for the first time early this year when the national springboard diving championship was held at Pasadena. Miss Becker made the trip West to compete and Pinkston was appearing in an exhibition at the same meet.

This, Benny Leonard's third shot at the welterweight crown, is liable to be successful, even though some people rate Micky Walker as a tougher foe than Ted "Kid" Lewis and Jack Britton, the two birds that Benny didn't beat for the title. Leonard must not have wanted the title in 1922 when he lost on a foul to the venerable Britton, whom Walker had no trouble in defeating a few months later. Perhaps, if Benny wins his second title, he'll resign his lightweight crown and let the "hoi polloi" scramble for it. He's so far above the rest of his neighbors' children anyway, that there's nobody to fight without going out of his class, up into the division above him.

Perhaps Benny will get tired of the welterweight title in a few years and will, with added poundage, become a middleweight. Going on with this line of thought, some fine day the cash customers might rush to see the unusual spectacle of a fight between Leonard and Dempsey. Well, why not—they fell for Dempsey and Carpentier, and Benny is about as much a match for Jack as Georges was.

ERIC PEDLEY NOT PICKED AS REGULAR

Midwick Star Gets Some Consolation in Being Selected as Sub

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Selection of the American polo team which will defend the international challenge cup against Great Britain in a series of matches starting September 6 at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, N. Y., was announced today by the United States Polo Association. The team, a new "Big Four," which will seek to carry on where its famous predecessors left off, is composed of J. Watson Webb, No. 1; Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., No. 2; Malcolm Stevenson, No. 3, and Devereux Milburn, back.

Three substitutes also were named. They are Eric Pedley, sensational star who helped the Midwick Club of Los Angeles win the national junior championship recently; Earl Hopping, who has been playing in England until lately, and Robert Strawbridge, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The "Big Four" whose selection was decided upon after its fine showing in a final test match yesterday, has in Webb, Hitchcock and Milburn, three veterans of the combination which brought the international cup back from England three years ago. All three are members of the Meadowbrook Club. Stevenson, who belongs to the Rockaway Hunting Club, is a seasoned player and veteran of many national tournaments.

PENNER TWIRLS TIGERS TO WIN

Defeats Portland Club by 9-to-6 Score

Duck Pitchers No Puzzle to Bengal Hitters

Pete Schneider Slams Out Long Home Run

BY BRAVEN DYER

The Portland Ducks put on one of their high-flying exhibitions at Washington Park yesterday afternoon and by an altitudinous aerial flight in the fourth and fifth innings presented Vernon with a 9-to-6 victory, thus evening up the present series. Manager Frank Brazill even took on two pitchers in an effort to bring his pets down to earth but when he did get the extra ballast aboard the Portland craft the damage had been done.

Ken Penner's sore right arm was much more effective than the conditioned flippers of Jess Winters, Harry Gardner and Walter Leverenz, the three twirlers who tried to stem the Bengal hitters. The Vernon ace turned in his twenty-first victory of the season, and despite his ailing flipper, which is suffering from too much work, had very little trouble with the Ducks after the first inning.

GARDNER GOAT

Gardner, not the famous Washington bandit, but an ex-outlaw because of a run-in with former Manager Duke Kenworthy of the Ducks, didn't pitch long, being in there only two innings. His stay on the mound was of sufficient duration, however, for the defeat to be charged against him. It was his first start in something like two months, Kenworthy having suspended him about that length of time ago, Brazill taking him back when he became manager.

Although the Portland team's exhibition in the fourth and fifth was bad enough the Tigers put on one themselves in the first frame that made everybody think they wanted to make the Ducks an out-and-out present of the game. Strangely enough, Penner started it.

After Wolfer had singled to open the inning, Distel laid down a neat sacrifice between third and the pitcher's box. Penner rushed in, scooped up the ball and quickly tossed, or rather rifled, the onion to third, expecting to find Charley Deal there. Charley had an idea he ought to be picking up the bunt, too, so the bag was as unprotected as Daniel when he got into the lions' den. Wolfer had no trouble coming home, and when someone got the ball from

Bill Johnston and "Peck" Griffin Win Out

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BROOKLINE (Mass.) Aug. 20. Today might have been called California Day at the national doubles tennis tournament. The athletes from the Golden State dominated and held the interest of the crowds as San Francisco, represented by Robert and Howard Kinsey, took the measure of Walter Wesbrook and Harvey Snodgrass of Los Angeles in straight sets, 6-2, 6-0, 6-2. Another San Francisco pair, "Little Bill" Johnston and Clarence Griffin, added further honors to the Bay City by defeating Thalheimer and White, Texas intercollegiate champions, 9-7, 8-6, 6-3.

The Angelenos who defeated the French Davis Cup winners yesterday seemed tired and were unable to offset the brilliant playing of the Kinsey boys.

R. E. Schlesinger and Norman E. Brookes of the famous Australian Davis Cup team could not cope with the sterling tennis of Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter and lost to the latter, 6-2, 8-6, 6-3. The victory of the Wimbledon winners was a distinct surprise.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BROOKLINE (Mass.) Aug. 20.—The national lawn tennis doubles championship took semifinal form today, the Australian team of Gerald Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood surviving with three American combinations, William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco, three-time titlists; the Olympic champions, Vincent Richards and F. T. Hunter of New York, and the Kinsey brothers, Robert G. and Howard O., of San Francisco.

They are paired in that order to decide tomorrow who goes into the finals.

At the same time, the national mixed doubles championship play was begun, with Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Cal., national women's champion, as partner of Richards in running through two matches, while Mrs. Molla B. Mallory and W. T. Tilden, II, defending champions, played once to win with some difficulty their match in the second round.

The high spot of the play on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club today was the five-set match in which Australia advanced over the veteran American team of R. Norris Williams, II, Philadelphia, and Watson Washburn, New York. The other Australian team of Nor-

IRVINE TO PLAY EAGLES

More Than Twenty-one Semipro Baseball Games Carded for This Week-end in Southland

More than twenty-one semipro baseball games, among them, two championship battles, are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, according to an announcement made yesterday by Harry Nelson. Irvine and the Pasadena Eagles take the field in the second game of the three-game championship series, while Ficketts tackles Montebello in a like contest.

The Eagles overwhelmed Irvine last week and upset a lot of dope, and Montebello stamped on Ficketts. Whether these two teams will repeat their victory or not, is doubtful. The Pasadena-Irvine struggle will be played at Pasadena and the Eagles are poison at home. Montebello also stands a good chance to win again, playing on their own field.

Playing at Hondo, the undefeated Los Angeles County Farm team meets Sach & Sons Saturday. By all rights, the Farmers should have a field day, but the Tailors are a tough team for anyone to slaughter. A good game will be played at the Ross Snyder field on the same day when the fast-moving Hobbs Battery outfit takes on the Union Arrow team. Hazard Playgrounds will be the scene of a tough game. The Williams Cubs, who lost their tenth game, after nine straight victories, to the Los Angeles County Farmers, meet the Title Insurance boys, who have been winning steadily. The complete schedule:

SATURDAY GAMES

Montebello at Puente.
Title Insurance vs. Williams Cubs at Hazard Playground.
Sach & Sons at L. A. County Farm, Hondo.
Union Arrow vs. Hobbs Battery at Ross Snyder No. 2.

SUNDAY GAMES

Play-Offs for Championship
Irvine (champion of Orange County League) vs. Eagles (champions of "A" Division) at Brookside Park, 2:30 p.m.
Ficketts (champions of Pacific League) at Montebello (champions of Inter-City League.)

INDEPENDENT GAMES

United Parcel Service at Carlsbad.
Fremont W.O.W. vs. Blue Bird Laundry at Hollywood.
Compton Firemen at Huntington Park, benefit game for Firemen.
Bellflower vs. Kern River Standard at Bakersfield.
Sperry Flour vs. Manchester Heights at Ninety-second and Western avenue.
Venice vs. Knights of Pythias at San Pedro.
Police Team vs. Fraternal Brotherhood at Loyola College.
Larry's Stars vs. Mesa Heights at Stutsich and Western, 12:30 p.m.
Paloma at Watts.
Crown City at Bellflower.
Ocean Park vs. Pasadena Clerks at Ross Snyder No. 2.
Tropico Team at Monterey Park.
Vernon Park Art Shoppe vs. Williams Cubs at Hazard Playground.
Hawthorne Cal. at Montebello at 10:30 a.m.
Arcadia vs. L. A. Chinese at Three Star Park, 10809 South Main street.

Peck Outfit Victor Over Eastman Nine

Rallying with four runs in the fourth inning, the W. F. Peck & Co. nine won the first of a three-game series from the George L. Eastman outfit by a score of 8 to 1 last night. The series will determine the championship of the Hollywood Twilight League. The game was originally slated to be a nine-inning affair, but was called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness.

Elmer Rall and Fred Rangle were staging a beautiful pitchers' duel until the fatal fourth, when a lot of loose playing, coupled with a double by Bill Huested, scoring three runs, gave the game to the Peck boys. The winners touched Rangle for three more hits and runs in the sixth frame and tied up the score. The score:

MORRIE SCHLAIFER BIFFS WARNIE SMITH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA (Neb.) Aug. 20.—Morrie Schlaifer, Omaha welterweight, won a technical knockout over Warnie Smith of Oklahoma in the seventh round of their scheduled ten-round boxing match here tonight when Smith's manager tossed a towel into the ring to save the boy further punishment. It was the third meeting of the two, each holding a decision.

Ever Hammer, Chicago lightweight veteran, punished badly by Ace Sudkins, Nebraska lightweight title claimant, lost by a technical knockout.

HOLLYWOOD MERMEN IN MILE-HI CONTEST

Clyde Swendsen, Hollywood Athletic Club swimming coach, will take a team of twelve swimmers to Lake Arrowhead next Sunday to participate in the annual Mile-Hi championship races and other events, it was announced yesterday. Among the H.A.C. stars who will probably take part in the events arranged by the Lake Arrowhead Swimming Club are Les Jarvis, Jerry Witt, Cleve Morrison, Leland Tipton and Richard Hough.

WILL TRY TO BUST RECORDS

Official Attempt to be Made by Kealoha to Set Backstroke Mark

Following Warren Kealoha's sensational breaking of the backstroke record in the Hawaii-Venice meet Tuesday night, Coach Fred Cady of the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday announced that plans have been completed for an official attempt at three world records by the Hawaiians in the meet to be held tonight in the L.A.A.C. tank between the Hawaiian Olympic team and the pick of Southern California swimmers.

Warren Kealoha, present holder of the world backstroke record, will attempt to set a new world mark for the 100-yard backstroke in a 100-foot tank; Mariechen Wehselau, world record holder for the women's 100-yard dash, will attempt a new mark in that event for the 100-foot tank, while William Kirschbaum will try for a new mark in the 100-yard breaststroke.

The Mercurians, L.A.A.C. orchestra, will do its share to provide entertainment by playing before, during and after the meet, and a dance will follow the swim for the benefit of those of the spectators who desire to trip the well-known light fantastic.

Because of the world-record attempts and the practical certainty that the crowd will sit in on the making of a historic record, arrangements are being made for an extra supply of shoe horns with which to pack in the crowd. The meet is open to the public and starts at 8:15 o'clock.

Gibbons Asks Too Much for Tunney Match

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, will not meet Gene Tunney, American champion, in the Sky-blue Arena at Michigan City, Ind., on Labor Day.

Joe Coffey, matchmaker for the Michigan City interests, telegraphed from New York today that Eddie Kane, Gibbons's manager, had demanded a $100,000 guaranty to box Tunney. This demand, Coffey advised, makes the match impossible for the date contemplated.

Gibbons's big demand is not surprising in view of his recent experiences at Shelby, when he received absolutely nothing from the gate for the Dempsey fight and in London, where he was "shorted" something like $35,000 in his guaranty for the Jack Bloomfield fight.

Gibbons, however, received $62,000, which is five times as much as he ever got for a previous bout, for outpointing Georges Carpentier in their ten-round engagement at Michigan City, Ind.

Gibbons evidently wants it in hand, and plenty of it, from now on.

ARIZONANS COP FLEET CREW TITLE

Mississippi Sweepsters Disqualified in Finish of Seattle Regatta

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—In a gruelling two-mile battle, marked by the disqualifying of the U.S.S. Mississippi's crew at the finish, U.S.S. Arizona sweepsters won the Navy championship interfleet regatta on Lake Washington here today for the second consecutive year. The time of the winners was 15m. 54s.

The Mississippi sweepsters, although finishing first, were disqualified for crossing in front of the Arizona, the judges announced.

The crews, finishing in the following order, were the Arizona, Idaho, Tennessee, California, New Mexico, Maryland, Nevada, Seattle, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania.

At the half-mile mark the Arizona's cutter was in the lead. By a tremendous spurt the Mississippi oarsmen overtook their rivals and kept the lead. When the Mississippi's No. 9 oarsman collapsed the remainder of the cutter's crew redoubled their efforts and crossed the line an apparent winner. Judges later announced that the Mississippi was disqualified for crossing in front of the Arizona twice in the early stages of the race.

VON ELM WINS MEDAL ROUND

while the high handicap players got in with 97.

Such low handicap men as L. P. Ferguson, one of the sensations of the Rancho qualifying round, Eugene Nixon, Chester Lyday, C. E. Smoot and Dr. Whitney Waterman failed to make the grade, and Tom McCall, A. H. Honey, Darsie L. Darsie, our esteemed contemporary, Martin Leach, and Chase Garfield were eliminated in the second division because they didn't play up to their usual brand of golf.

CONSOLATION

A consolation tournament over 18 holes will be held today for the nonqualifiers, who may tee off at any time, arranging their own games. Prizes for the best gross and net scores will be awarded.

Von Elm's 72 yesterday is worthy of applause, as the course was stiffened up with back tees and hidden pins to such an extent that his round was equal to one in the sixties under ordinary conditions. The general run of scores was exceptionally high. Frank Godchaux scoring an 83, Clark Spelrs an 80, and so on. If Von Elm's putting had been on a par with the rest of his game he would have had a sensational round. As it was he was down in two putts invariably, but missed many opportunities for birdies.

CITY WINS IN LEGAL SKIRMISH

Bakersfield Judge Denies Restraining Order in Case Against Los Angeles

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 20.—Los Angeles won the first qualified victory today in her legal battle over water rights against Inyo county farmers, when Superior Judge Erwin W. Owen of Bakersfield denied J. W. Harvey, Inyo petitioner, a temporary injunction to restrain Los Angeles from augmenting the flow of her great Aqueduct by pumping water from Inyo wells. Judge Owen, appointed by Gov. Richardson to hear the first case involving the water rights of Inyo county, rendered his decision today and with it an opinion, in which his concluding words were:

"If the court thought that the pumping of defendants' wells was the direct and proximate cause of depriving the plaintiffs of water, the restraining order would be issued. Neither legally nor morally has anyone the right to take water from ten acres of alfalfa at Independence to irrigate ten acres of alfalfa at San Fernando."

The decision rendered by Judge Erwin W. Owen today is by no means final. As the petitioner prayed for only a tempopary restraining order, other separate and distinct actions on the part of Inyo farmers against the city of Los Angeles are pending.

HUGE LAND DEAL FINALLY CLOSED

Million and Quarter Cash in Transaction

Beet Sugar Company Buys 6000 Acres

Means Much to Future of City of Oxnard

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Aug. 20.—Marked as the most important incident in the history of Oxnard since the erection of the American Beet Sugar Company's factory, is the purchase of between 5000 and 6000 acres of rich farming land by the sugar company at a cash price of over $1,000,000.

The transaction was announced by officials of the sugar factory here today. Final papers in the huge transaction here signed yesterday by the American Beet Sugar Company, represented here by Elisha Gee, vice-president, and Thornhill Broome of Chicago, Montague Broome and Amy Broome Haswell of San Francisco. The actual price paid for the land was $1,250,000 cash.

The land lays beyond Oceanview, east of Oxnard, where the new State Coast highway will pass. It runs from the old Wood Road east and extends from as far north as Fifth street to within a mile of the lagoon, near Point Magu.

The sugar company plans to drain the land and plant it to sugar beets. It will be the largest single tract to be planted to beets in the State.

Because of the necessity of rights of way through the vast Broome estate to the Point Magu Lagoon, the deal was held up for several weeks. On the granting of this right of way for the drainage ditches through the Broome lands hinged the whole transaction which means more to this section than any other single deal consummated here since the town of Oxnard was started.

The purchase of the American Beet Sugar Company includes nearly 2000 acres of land from the Broome estate and rights of way to the lagoon or ocean from the three Broomes, also nearly 4000 acres from some fourteen other land owners.

The deal involves only farming land, mostly level, which at the present time is not very productive because of the need of drainage. Company officials are of the opinion that drainage will make this land equal in value to the finest in this section of Southern California. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars is to be spent in drainage and land improvement.

Some twenty or twenty-five deep wells will be drilled to furnish water, which will be needed on the vast acreage. The purchase of this land fixes the factory here for all time, it is said, and puts at an end rumors that the factory would have to close for lack of acreage in beets.

PAY FOR DEATH SOUGHT

Suit of $50,000 Filed as Result of Fatal Accident at Newport Harbor Last June

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 20.—Seeking financial recompense for the death of F. L. McCune, local furniture dealer, who was among eight victims of the drowning tragedy in the mouth of Newport Harbor last June 8, heirs to his estate today filed suit in the Superior Court for $50,000 damages.

The suit was directed against N. E. Perkins, owner of the motor launch Adieu, which capsized with a fishing party of thirteen, only five of whom escaped, and Guy Perkins, his son, and pilot of the launch. Mrs. Helen N. McCune of Santa Ana, the widow and administratrix of the McCune estate, was plaintiff in the action, which was brought through Attorneys Harry B. Ellison and E. R. Simon of Los Angeles.

Entitled "a complaint for damages for wrongful death," the papers filed set forth the incident of the ill-fated fishing expedition and charged responsibility for the tragedy to alleged careless and negligent operation of the craft.

The heirs, which include Mrs. McCune and the two McCune children, Rodger, 8, and Marjorie, 4, were declared to have suffered $50,000 damages in the death of the father. McCune, it was stated, was 34 years of age at the time of the disaster. His widow was made administrator of the estate, which was valued at approximately $60,000.

Guy Perkins, pilot of the Adieu on its ill-starred trip, was one of the five survivors. He swam to shore unaided. Four others, all passengers and Santa Ana residents, were rescued by Val Miller of Sierra Madre, for whom efforts are now being made to secure a Carnegie medal.

McCune was among the eight who perished. The others, all Santa Anans, were H. Newton Thornton, architect, and his two young sons, aged 10 and 8; Chris J. Ema, tailor; Fred Pfeiter, employee of Ema; Dr. J. G. Kelly, chiropractor, and E. H. Granger, electrical dealer. The bodies of Granger and one of the Thornton boys have never been recovered.

Those rescued besides Perkins were L. J. Bean and E. M. Sundquist, insurance men; Benjamin R. Baker, butcher, and C. H. Sergeant, employee of McCune.

SICK MAN VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Invalid Killed When Auto Turns Turtle on Highway Near Famosa

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 20.—F. A. Ragsdale, 540 Kansas street, San Francisco, was instantly killed, and Mrs. L. Sernes of the same address, said to be a nurse, was seriously injured, when the automobile in which they were traveling to San Francisco skidded and overturned on the State highway seventeen and one-half miles north of Bakersfield this afternoon.

According to meager reports of the fatal accident received here at a late hour, the heavy touring car went off the side of the road into the sand, and when the driver attempted to return to the pavement, the machine skidded, struck a telephone pole and turned over, pinning Ragsdale underneath it. The telephone pole was broken in two places, it was reported.

The accident occurred two and a half miles south of Famosa, according to E. A. Jobe, driver of a patrol car for the Automobile Club of Southern California.

It was reported that Ragsdale was ill and was being taken to San Francisco for medical treatment. The crash occurred at the corner where the Wasco road turns off the State highway.

DANGER FOR BATHERS IN HEAVY TIDE

Surf Sweeps Beach at Santa Monica Bringing Peril and Damage

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 20.—Heavy ground swells and the most dangerous rip tide of the season caused considerable damage along the beach early this morning. A large motor boat belonging to a fishing fleet was washed ashore, the raft of the Santa Monica Athletic Club was torn from its anchor and several small boats were washed from their moorings. It is believed the high tide, which mounted more than a dozen feet when a one-foot four-inch tide should have been running, was caused by a storm at sea.

The beach this morning is strewn with debris. It was reported that several fishermen on their early morning run were forced to seek safety in shore.

Owing to the heavy rip tides during the last two days bathers are being warned by life-guards not to venture into the surf. Life-savers declare they never saw more treacherous tides.

POMONA TO GET MOTOR BUS SYSTEM

All Sections of City to be Served on Five-Cent Fare Basis

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

POMONA, Aug. 20.—A motor bus system serving all sections of Pomona on a 5-cent-fare basis will be in operation on or before September 15, as the result of the award of a jitney bus franchise today to the City Transit, Inc. The new company will give service over designated routes not later than the date specified, and during the Los Angeles county fair in October will operate a special line between the downtown district and the fair grounds.

The twenty-year motor bus franchise was awarded by the City Council to the City Transit, Inc., of which Joseph K. Hawkins is president and general manager and W. E. Dean, secretary-treasurer, when the bids of this company and of R. H. Carter, local automobile dealer, were opened. There were but two bids.

Under the schedules submitted by the City Transit in the successful bid, busses will visit every point on the lines at least every half hour, with points nearer the center of the city receiving more frequent service.

The company will place six busses in service at the start. These will be three twenty-nine-passenger, two twenty-five-passenger city type and one twenty-six-passenger de luxe sedan type busses, all of these being on Mack chassis. The company will also carry an indemnity and casualty insurance policy for $10,000 to cover damages in case of any accident.

This bus system is Pomona's answer to the Pacific Electric Railway's appeal to the State Railroad Commission for permit to abandon all local city street car lines on account of poor patronage. It is felt that the bus system will permit of instant expansion without additional heavy expense as traffic increases, that it will give more frequent service and will also cover the town more thoroughly, inasmuch as busses are not dependent upon expensive trackage system over which to operate.

The city's next move will be to hasten the abandonment of the local P. E. system, steps already having been taken to force this issue.

VALLEY WATER IS PRO-RATED

Supply for Irrigation Cut About One-third

Farmers Had Soaked Fields in Anticipation

Shortage Expected to End in Three Weeks

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

EL CENTRO, Aug. 20.—Pro-rating of irrigation water has been put into effect by Chief Engineer Carberry of Imperial Irrigation District because of a temporary low-water condition in the Colorado River. Under the arrangement announced by the engineer, the supply of water will be limited to four-tenths of one second foot of water for each $1000 valuation on the irrigation district's assessment rolls.

This arrangement means that the supply of water ordered will be reduced about one-third and that the supply actually received will be substantially two-thirds of the amount usually required for crops at this season. The pro-rating order will be effective for ten days, according to Engineer Carberry's announcement. If water conditions require further pro-rating, a new order will be issued at the end of the present period, otherwise the orders will be filled as demanded by the water users.

According to irrigation district officials, the reduction in the water supply will not cause any serious damage or inconvenience to water users. At present the river discharge at Yuma is approximately 5000 cubic second feet and the district diversion gate at Hanlon's heading is receiving virtually all of this flow through the assistance of a brush weir that was installed by the district engineer under permission from the War Department. This flow of water will be decreased slightly, according to government Weather Bureau reports, from the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, but it is not believed that the decrease will be very extensive.

In anticipation of a temporary water shortage, most of the ranchers who have crops growing at this time have been watering them thoroughly in the hope of bridging over the shortage period without damage. It is believed that as a result of this action by the farmers there will be slight, if any damage, if the shortage period should continue for two or three weeks. In former years when water shortages were annual events the low-water period rarely continued after the fore part of September, owing to heavy rains that usually fall in the Rocky Mountain district at that time.

BOOKKEEPER IN JAIL

Arrest Follows Shortage at Packing Plant

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 20.—Lionel Hodson, bookkeeper at the local branch of Armour & Co., is held in the City Jail in connection with an asserted shortage of several hundred dollars.

The arrest followed a fire of supposed incendiary origin in the company's offices and which destroyed most of the books and records. A week ago Hodson reported to the police that he had been robbed and tied in a rear room of the plant offices by two men. The authorities have never given full credence to the story.

TO JAIL FOR THEFT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 20.—Leon Barton, 214 Hollister avenue, Ocean Park, was sentenced to serve thirty days in the County Jail by Police Judge Garrett this morning, when he admitted stealing several phonograph records from a local merchant.

Barton told police that the merchant owed him a debt and that he entered his establishment and took the musical instrument that belonged to him and some records that didn't. Barton recently completed a ninety-day sentence in the County Jail after having been convicted on a bootlegging charge.

Attempt to End Life is Laid to Domestic Woes

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Aug. 20.—Domestic troubles were given by police as the motive that caused Irwin M. Caldwell, 30 years of age, 833 Nowita Place, to attempt suicide early this morning by taking bichloride of mercury. Occupants of Caldwell's house telephoned police and he was taken to Martin Sanatorium, where relief was given.

According to police reports, Caldwell told attaches of the hospital that he wished to end it all. While his condition is serious Police Surgeon Weaver of Santa Monica, who is attending Caldwell, states he will live unless complications set in. Information furnished police is that the man was unemployed for some time.

SURPRISE APPOINTMENT

Charles Magee New Police Judge at Venice

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Aug. 20.—Charles Magee, old-time resident of this city was appointed judge of the Venice Police Court at today's session of the Board of Trustees to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Frank Willard, who tendered his resignation to become effective September 15. Magee will assume his new duties the first of next month.

It was rumored that the vacancy created by Judge Willard would be filled by Walter Rennie, who held the position prior to Willard's regime, and the appointment of Magee rudely upset the predictions of political prophets.

In referring to his resignation this morning Judge Willard stated he believed that Police Court judges should be elected by the people so as not to be at the mercy of politicians.

"A man cannot be a just judge and be at the mercy of politicians," Judge Willard asserted this morning.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 20.—This man John Doe who has been arrested for numerous violations of the law from time to time is in trouble again. His name appears on the blotter at police headquarters this morning. According to the report Doe is charged with attempting to place a bottle of illicit liquor in an automobile at Santa Monica Boulevard and Sixth street.

It was not because the gentleman in question refused to give his name but owing to his inebriated condition he did not remember it, police said.

RAIN AIDS FIGHTERS SUBDUE FOREST FIRE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 20.—A fire, which burned over an area a mile and a half long and nearly a mile wide, and for a time threatened to penetrate the town of Julian, was brought under control last night after scores of townsmen and forest rangers had battled the flames for several hours. A light rain and fog during the night added materially in the fight. A few acres of timber land was included in the burned area.

KILLS MOUNTAIN LION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Aug. 20.—A mountain lion measuring seven feet from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail was killed yesterday by Ralph Metz, who was out on a deer hunt. The lion was killed on the Santos ranch near the Cuesta grade, over which thousands of automobiles pass each week along the coast highway, and is the first lion to be found in this vicinity for many years.

Hunters report that scarcity of water and forest fires have forced all wild animals down into the lower foothills.

Work Out Plan for Controlling Flood Waters

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Aug. 20.—A mass meeting of orchard and ranch owners in the upper Yucaipa Valley, in the Wildwood Canyon district, which was burned over by the disastrous forest fire last week, was held today to work out a plan of controlling the flood waters. It presents a most difficult problem and engineers say that there will be great damage done unless the control work is started at once.

G. S. Biggin, county Supervisor, promised that the county engineering department would make a completed survey of the burned area and determine what must be done to take care of the flood waters. Rainfall is heavy there each year, the hills are steep, and the drainage great.

The plan is to make check dams wherever possible and thus control the waters so that they will not cut into orchards and ranches. The property owners will provide the funds for these. G. S. Brinkley, city engineer of Redlands, and P. B. Hasbrouck, Yucaipa engineer, will assist in making the plan for control.

FIREMEN HAMPERED BY CURIOUS AUTOISTS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONROVIA, Aug. 20.—A fire that destroyed a small unoccupied one-room garage house at Alamitos and Diamond streets last night was attended by so many curious people in automobiles who blocked the adjoining roads and interfered with the work of the firemen that Fire Chief Harry Stevens today issued a public complaint against such actions. The garage house was owned by J. J. Vance of Los Angeles and the fire had made such headway when the fire department reached it that it was useless to try to save the building which burned to the ground. The firemen, however, salvaged some trunks which had been in the house. The cause of the fire is unknown. Chief Stevens says if such a congestion of traffic is repeated by the public he intends to take legal action.

BUSINESS LICENSE CONFLICT HALTED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ORANGE, Aug. 20.—The fight being waged by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to secure a flat rate business license ordinance, displacing the existing scheme calling for a sliding scale based on gross annual receipts, remained at a standstill today, the City Council, which considered the merchant plan yesterday, having continued decision in the matter until the next regular meeting on September 2.

BOND ELECTION

Bakersfield Votes on Question September 3

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 20.—Whether Bakersfield shall incur a bonded debt of $1,500,000 for the purpose of raising funds with which to construct a water-supply system or to acquire a waterworks system by purchase or otherwise is to be decided at a special district election on September 4, and sample ballots, with the proposition to be submitted to the vote of the electors, have been mailed.

The proposed bonds would bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent and would mature in forty years. The money received from the securities would be used to buy the present waterworks systems of Bakersfield and to combine them with additions, including a reservoir for the storage of water in case of fire emergency or of a fall down in power, according to the plans of the engineers for the water district. The money may be used to construct a new system.

DEER HUNTING TO BE BANNED IN SAN DIEGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 20.—There will be no deer hunting in San Diego county this year, the Board of Supervisors deciding that an emergency exists in connection with the possibility of forest fires. The District Attorney's office has been instructed to draw up a stringent ordinance which will put this order into effect.

The exceptionally dry season and the scarcity of water holes has forced deer to come from their natural hiding places into the valleys and to the shores of the upland lakes. Ranchers report that the deer are so accustomed to the sight of men that they would be easy prey for hunters this fall. The forest-fire hazard, however, was advanced as the principal reason for closing the season on deer.

Strength was given this argument in the brush and forest fire at Julian yesterday, which for a time assumed threatening proportions. The fire was under control today.

The deer season in this county ordinarily opens on September 16 and continues until October 15. Some question was raised regarding the right of the County Supervisors to interfere with the State game laws, but the board was advised that it had power to act providing an emergency existed.

The trio, giving their names as Mr. and Mrs. Ted Roberts and George Caspar, were arrested near the Bearsley school after they are said to have made a hasty exit from McFarland with the stove, five gallons of gasoline and a quantity of potatoes. The Sheriff's department failed to find a registration certificate in the car, but discovered two sets of license plates.

GENERAL PETE HAS GOOD YEAR

Financial Improvement Over Previous Twelve Months

Common Stock Pays $7.44 as Compared With $5.96

Production and Storage Are Greater, Report Shows

General financial improvement over the previous year is reported by President John Barneson of the General Petroleum Corporation in the annual statement for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, which was released yesterday. Net income after the payment of all charges including Federal income taxes increased 16 per cent to a total of $8,367,329.37, the equivalent after the deduction of preferred stock dividends to $7.44 on the common stock outstanding at the close of the year. This is comparable to $5.96 for the previous fiscal year.

President Barneson attributes the greater part of the improvement to the company's activity in extending its markets. This policy, he says, was forced upon the major marketing companies in California because of the critical storage situation, and on the part of the General Petroleum Corporation, was pursued vigorously. Sales during the year totaled nearly $44,000,000, compared with $36,000,000 for the previous twelve months. The president observes, in commenting on this increase in sales value, that it was necessary to increase the quantity of oil sold by nearly 33 per cent in order to effect an increase of slightly over 22 per cent in sales income. The differential was caused by the depression in prices.

Total oil in storage is estimated by President Barneson to have a present market value in excess of $31,000,000. The quantity in storage as of June 30, including exchange balances, was 14,082,543 barrels located on the Pacific Coast, consisting of 5,674,427 barrels of refinable crude oil, 4,323,439 barrels of fuel oil and 4,079,477 barrels of refined products. Stocks and exchange balances in Wyoming, Mexico, Chile, Argentina and Japan totaled 739,301 barrels.

Crude oil production for the year was 17,310,858 barrels, an increase of 2,912,677 barrels over the preceding year. Of this amount 59,248 barrels were produced in Mexico and 13,514 in Wyoming. In addition to the crude oil taken from the properties operated by the company, over 17,000,000 barrels were purchased from other producing companies and nearly 7,000,000 barrels were received from other marketing companies on an exchange basis providing for return at convenient delivery points. The total volume of oil handled by the company in California during the fiscal year was nearly 42,000,000 barrels, an increase of more than 6,000,000 barrels over the previous twelve months.

CRUDE PRODUCTION

Production of crude oil in the month of June, 1924, from the properties operated by the company averaged 30,000 barrels per day, compared with 56,000 barrels daily in June, 1923. This decrease, the stockholders are told, is due to the decline in flush production in Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill, in which fields the company's production is now on a settled basis. At the close of the year over 300 wells, with a potential production of over 4000 barrels per day, were still shut down.

Acquisition of new drilling territory in the year consisted of 550 acres of proven oil land purchased in fee in the San Joaquin Valley and 7350 acres in the same district of prospective oil land either purchased or leased. At the end of the year the California properties owned or leased consisted of 5775 acres of proven and developed oil lands and 27,650 acres of undeveloped lands. Included in this undeveloped territory are 200 acres in the new Rosecrans-Athens field in Los Angeles county, where the company is at present drilling three wells.

These figures do not include 1280 acres of patented land owned by the Midway Oil Company, a greater part of which is proven. Control of this company was obtained in March by an agreement to purchase the entire capital stock.

The earnings statement excludes the sum of $8,423,869.28 received from the United States government in 1921. This item is carried as a deferred credit pending final determination with the government as to the method of accounting.

The consolidated income and profit and loss statement for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1924, with comparisons with 1923, follows:

DAILY TRADE TALK

Comments by National Credit Chief; Russian Exchange; Merchant Marine; Predatory Wealth

In his monthly letter to members of the National Association of Credit Men, J. H. Tregore, executive manager and treasurer, says that the touchstone of a sound economic policy is based on community of interest between employer and employee. "It would seem," he says, "as though the leaders of labor felt that it was for labor to derive much from business, though giving to it the least that is possible. We want labor to get much, but all men must understand that not for long can they get much without giving of their best.

"The United States Department of Labor brings out that the average hourly wages of organized workmen in this country are 9 per cent higher than in 1923, 84 per cent higher than in 1917 and 111 per cent higher than in 1913. Here is a much higher level than the prices of commodities have risen to. I fear that the difference shows in large part an absence of community of interest and conservation of the fundamental economic principles.

"Unless a profit can be made by business enterprises, there is no incentive for the risks undertaken. Profits make the incentive and everyone interested in and concerned with business must be concerned also with the profits of business. Profits need not be abnormal in order to encourage new capital. They must be reasonable, however, and sufficient to compensate for the risk attaching to the business venture.

"To endeavor to keep up volume of business at the expense of credits, makes a poor and expensive policy. Nothing is so inexorable in its operations as credit. It cannot be sacrificed to expediency without raising serious problems.

"The thing we are all the while trying to do is to keep business in balance. To do this there must be a wise control of credits, else will come commercial failures which carry with them always the possibilities of increasing the slowing down of business because failures mean price slaughtering and price slaughtering means difficult times for the solvent merchant. In the long run, wisely controlled credits tend to maintain the free movement of goods, while haphazard credits, indulged in to stimulate production and distribution, tend to destructive competition which eventually will bring business into a distressed condition.

"Let us never lose confidence in the inexorable evolution of the economic laws of production. The change in the agricultural outlook we now are witnessing will have a very beneficent effect on business as a whole, and the difference that existed between the prices farmers have received for their produce and the prices of the commodities they have had to buy will be largely, if not entirely, wiped out."

FAVORABLE SIGNS

Baley's Pacific Business Review for mid-August finds that "outstanding favorable factors for improved business are numerous. Building for one thing goes on apace, both for the Pacific region and the rest of the country.

"The whole Pacific Slope should rejoice to see the recovery of business which is now going on in Los Angeles. When a community and environs of 1,500,000 people suffers even a temporary setback, all districts adjacent to it are affected accordingly. With economies effected so that industry is curtailed only 10 per cent by the shortage of power through water conservation the progress of Los Angeles will soon be distinctly felt again. In fact, even now, the Northwest lumber market is receiving active inquiries from Southern California and building will continue cautiously but surely.

"Pacific ports exports and imports are rapidly growing and the great possibilities of expanding trade with China offer a wide field for our business activities.

"In general, the upward trend of business is seen in a much better outlook, in the gradual approach of the automobile industry to normal, in the better position of the American farmer through price equalization between his products and what he buys, and in the more optimistic sentiment prevalent in Eastern industrial centers.

"The steadying in commodity prices is reassuring to business and should awaken activity in many lines. Textiles show welcome improvement and unfilled steel tonnage, together with carloadings, are more satisfactory than for several weeks. Too much should not be expected for fall business, but those who have their expenses pared to the lowest point expedient should prepare for a good volume."

MERCHANT MARINE

According to statistics just published by Lloyds', the gross tonnage of sea-going steel and iron steamships and motor ships owned by the principal maritime countries in June, 1924, amounted to 57,530,000 tons, comparing with 42,514,000 tons in June, 1914, an increase of 15,016,000 tons.

According to advices received by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York from its English information service, the Lloyds report indicates that this steel tonnage is exclusive of 1,500,000 tons of wooden and composite steamers in existence at the present time. These figures are excluded from the comparison because of their comparatively small importance in international trade.

Gross tons of seagoing iron and steel ships operated by the United Kingdom in June, 1924, were 40,000 tons greater than the amount operated in June, 1914, the present tonnage being 18,917,000. British dominions show an increase of 806,000 tons. The greatest increase, amounting to nearly 10,000,000 tons, is shown in the case of the United States, our tonnage having increased from 1,837,000 in 1914 to 11,823,000 in 1924.

Notwithstanding recent increases in the tonnage owned in Germany, the compilation shows that Germany's tonnage at the present time is 2,242,000 less than in 1914, at which time its tonnage was 5,098,000, comparing with 2,856,000 today. The only other maritime nation showing a decrease from the 1914 condition is Greece, whose tonnage has fallen off 69,000 tons from 820,000 tons in 1914 to 751,000 today.

In 1914 the United Kingdom owned nearly 44½ per cent of the world's seagoing iron and steel ship tonnage. At the present time it owns 33 per cent. The United States now takes second place, its tonnage amounting to 20½ per cent of the total.

PREDATORY WEALTH

The Magazine of Wall Street points out that La Follette's fulminations about "predatory wealth" will leave the country cold. "He is talking the language of a quarter of a century ago," says this publication, "and in terms which have long since lost their former meaning.

"'Predatory wealth.' By whom is it represented and upon whom does it prey? The Standard Oils are chastened and sober citizens. Some of them find it difficult work to make a living. The railroads are pressed by the hard thumb of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The public utilities dare not make a step without first obtaining the approval of regulatory bodies. Does he refer to the 300,000 stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company? Or the 150,000 stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad or the 140,000 stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation? Or does he expect to ride to victory on the votes of those who have nothing and therefore have nothing to lose? Vain hope!

"Times have changed. 'Predatory wealth' is as meaningless today as 'free silver.' Wealth there has always been and always will be. If it becomes predatory it must be regulated. But on that score Democrats and Republicans are agreed. Senator La Follette has been 'suckled in a creed outgrown.' He has not learned that the modern idea is to regulate and guide, not destroy. The labor unions are learning finance and even Mr. Hearst now shakes hands with Wall street."

RUSSIAN EXCHANGE

Alexander S. Cowie, manager of the foreign department of the Heilman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, received a cable yesterday from the State Bank of Russia, stating that the charges for remittances to Russia have been materially reduced. The financial department of the Russian government advises him that existing legislation in Russia offers no hindrance or restriction of any kind to the free receipt of foreign currency from abroad. That transfers to any amounts are paid to the beneficiaries by banks and postal institutions in all parts of Russia. That sums remitted from abroad are remitted in full, without deduction, and that there is no taxation on such money transfers. Further, that holders of foreign currency, as well as beneficiaries of foreign transfers, are permitted to keep such money or to sell same, either to banking institutions or on the exchanges.

NERVOUS TRADING IN COTTON CONTRACTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The cotton trend continued upward today with renewed buying developing, credited in part to German and French interests. This was coupled with a continuance of the covering movement on the part of nervous shorts and scattered support from Liverpool. An early price advance of 25 to 40 points resulted, but the market as a whole presented few new features, being principally awaiting affairs before the important government report, due after the close on Saturday. By midafternoon prices were up some 50 to 65 points in the general list.

Spot cotton closed 15 points net higher at 28.20 cents.

BUSINESS NEWS

A. A. Housman & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, announced yesterday the discontinuance of their branch office at No. 634 South Spring street, and the transference of all business done at this location to the main office at No. 515 West Sixth street. Closing of the branch will be effective the 31st inst. This move, according to the company's statement, is in conformity with the original plans to consolidate the Southern California business, which now includes the firm of A. H. Crary & Co. and the Los Angeles business of McDonnel & Co.

ESPEE OFFICIAL HERE

California's grape crop will be the largest in history, according to Walter E. Teague, Southern Pacific official from San Francisco, who is here to confer with local executives to arrange for 50,000 refrigerator cars to take the crop to eastern markets. Heavy shipments have already commenced at prices which mean substantial profits to the growers, he states.

While here the Espee official is visiting his daughter, Miss Frances Teague, former San Francisco girl, now under contract to the William Fox Film Corporation.

INSURANCE NEWS

Disaster Teaches Lesson

Every catastrophe contains a tragic lesson. Assets of today become but memories tomorrow. The tangible evidence of a life work becomes a tombstone of lost endeavor. Affluence can be converted overnight into poverty. These are not the outpourings of a morbid mind. They are facts written in the annals of insurance history.

Insurance is based upon the theory of accident probability. In practice, accident probability has no particular objective. No property or person is immune to its attack. There is none so deaf as is the property-owner who believes in his sense of selection versus the operation of this peculiar law. Year in and year out insurance companies and insurance salesmen are preaching the gospel of complete protection. They know that the sense of selection has short odds.

There is something illogical in the reasoning powers of the business man when he considers the question of insurance. He may conduct his affairs in a seemingly conservative manner, making no investment in material, machinery or men that has not the prospect of a fair measure of return. But when he considers the investment in insurance that would safeguard every avenue of possible loss he sheds his conservatism and becomes an out-and-out gambler with probability.

Catastrophies like the one in Lorain, O., bear witness to the truth of these conclusions. If it were not so every building and house-owner whose property lies a heap of debris would be settling his loss in full with tornado-insurance companies. If every person injured or killed had procured adequate accident or life insurance hardship to self or family would not be stalking the home. If every building owner had listened to the urging of the salesman who tried to sell him plate-glass insurance the fact that over $100,000 worth of former display windows are now fragmentary bits of glass in street and highway would give them no concern regarding replacement costs. These are but three aspects of property protection.

The day undoubtedly will come when the American business man will concede that the law of accident probability exists and he will consider every item of cost incident to the full protection of the invested dollar as necessary a factor to his operating cost as rent, heat and light. Until then the economic system will be out of gear.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Heavy Market

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Bond prices turned reactionary today under pressure of heavy realizing sales and the diversion of speculative interest to the stock market. Uneasiness over the continued decline of the foreign exchanges led to general liquidation of the French, Austrian and other continental issues, which recently had been pushed up to the highest levels of the year.

At the same time purchasers of high-grade railroad and public utility bonds, influenced by the failure of the market to make further progress, unloaded some of their holdings acquired on the recent upswing. As a result, several standard issues, such as Atchison general 4s, lost a point or more.

Scattered strong spots in the foreign group included Japanese 4s, which reached a new 1924 top price at 83½ and some of the Canadian issues, which were stimulated by the rise of the Canadian dollar to par and reports that the Dominion government would do the major part in its financing here this fall.

Among the domestic obligations hit by profit-taking were Frisco income and adjustment 6s, St. Paul 4s, Atlantic Coast Line 4s, Baltimore and Ohio 4s, Punta Alegre Sugar and Magma Copper issues. Liberty bonds were fractionally lower.

Offering will be made two of the $2,000,000 United Fuel and Supply Company 6½s bonds at par and accrued interest.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and to expedite transmission decimal is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

Cold Threatens France's Wheat, Grapes and Fruit

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The wheat crop, grapes and fruit are being threatened by the most unseasonable cold spell seen in recent years during August.

A steady cold drizzle has been sending tourists from Paris to Italy this week, and the country districts give discouraging reports, especially for wines.

The cold weather also blighted Deauville just before the Grand Prix, which usualy brought the wealthy and fashionable colonies from all over the world. The departure of the Prince of Wales for his Adriatic trip has still further chilled Deauville, which has fallen upon dull days.

FORD BUYS OLD COACH FOR HIS WAYSIDE INN

VEHICLE PURCHASED SAID TO BE MORE THAN 100 YEARS OLD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YORK BEACH (Me.) Aug. 20. Henry Ford, through a representative, has purchased from E. E. E. Mitchell of the Mitchell House, a stage coach said to be 100 years old. Employees of Ford will arrive here soon and ship the coach on a flat car to Cambridge, Mass. From there it will be driven to Wayside Inn, Sudbury, Mass., where it will be placed in the museum of relics that are being gathered by Ford from all sections of New England.

The coach is in excellent condition. It was purchased by Mr. Mitchell in Rye, N. H., thirty years ago. While in Rye the coach was used to transport passengers to and from Portsmouth. It was used by Mr. Mitchell to carry passengers from the railroad station to his hotel. A feature of the coach is the leather springs that contain sixteen leaves all more than eight feet long. Some of the springs in the higher priced automobiles of today are similar in their arrangement.

The Lancaster Turnpike in Pennsylvania, now part of the Lincoln Highway, was built in 1794 and the first regular stage, carrying ten passengers, went over the new road in May, 1797.

Public Education in GOOD Banking

ONE REASON why a "wave of prosperity" becomes permanent in Los Angeles is because the people of this locality are so consistent in their use of banking facilities.

Money in bank is ready to go to work, as needed, to build up the city, to promote industry, to develop commerce and to support credit. Money hoarded or in pocket remains idle.

This Bank takes special pride in the part it has taken in educating Los Angeles people in the wisdom, safety and convenience of using banking facilities.

WHAT IS A COLUMBARIUM?

California Mausoleum Company Has Established One at Hollywood Cemetery—Described in New Booklet.

A Columbarium is a vault for cinerary urns. When used in the plural, Columbaria, the word means the niches in such a vault. In its beautiful Mausoleum at Hollywood the California Mausoleum Company has erected a Columbarium, of plate glass and marble, in the niches of which exquisitely executed bronze urns are placed holding the ashes of those whose bodies have been cremated.

Many persons now prefer cremation to ground burial, and some even to crypt entombment. Fitting and permanent disposition of the ashes of a loved one who has passed away is often a problem. To scatter such ashes to the four winds seems heartless to some; and where to keep them, safe and undisturbed, and permanently and reverently cared for, is a difficulty.

The Columbarium provides a perfect solution to this problem. The ashes are placed in artistic bronze urns—in which there is a wide variety of choice as to design—as also price. These urns are then put in marble-lined niches, faced with beveled plate glass and solid bronze frames. It is a permanent resting place; the ashes need never be disturbed. The Columbarium is in the Mausoleum, forms a part of it, and receives the perpetual care which the Mausoleum system of procedure supplies. The owner of a niche has all the advantages of the owner of a crypt in the Mausoleum—a magnificent marble corridor with beautiful peaceful surroundings, in this enduring, stately building, which can be visited at any time.

A new booklet treating of the Columbarium by word and picture has been issued, which is free for the asking. Phone MAin 1534, or address the Offices of the Company, 206 Harris Bldg., 110 West 11th St. —[Advertisement.

Is Doubting Thomas No Longer

"All medicines and doctors for stomach trouble proved worthless in my case. Everybody recommended something else and nothing helped, so I became a doubting Thomas as to any cure. While in St. Louis a party praised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy so highly that I bought a bottle and I am now a doubting Thomas no longer." It is a simpless, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.

SKEEZIX AND 'UNCA' WALT HERE

Popular Characters of "Times" Comics Brought to Coast by Originator After Seven Weeks' Auto Trip; Tells Origin of "Gasoline Alley"; May Try Films

Look who's here.

None other than Skeezix and his friend and protector, "Unca" Walt of Gasoline Alley, who occupy a whole page in The Times on Sunday and a strip on other days.

They have come to California to enjoy the climate, see the scenery, swim in the ocean and perhaps get a job in the pictures.

Accompanying Skeezix and "Unca" Walt is Frank King, who draws their picture every day and whose home is in Chicago, near which city it seems Gasoline Alley is located. Mr. King is accompanied by his wife and young son Robert, and they are staying at the Ambassador.

"We left home about seven weeks ago in an automobile," said Mr. King yesterday. "We had no particular destination in mind when we started but thought we would travel in a general westerly direction. We have visited a number of places on our way and at last reached Los Angeles."

FORCED TO GO TO WORK

The cartoonist added that upon arriving here he found he had to go to work to draw some more Sunday pages of Skeezix and "Unca" Walt.

"I prepared a six-weeks' supply before I left Chicago and enough of the daily strip to last two weeks," he said. "The only work I have done thus far on the tour has been the preparation of the strip since the reserve supply was exhausted, but now I have to draw a few Sunday pages to last until I get home."

Telling how Gasoline Alley originated, Mr. King said that while working as a cartoonist on the Chicago Tribune he was assigned the task of preparing a page of miscellaneous comics for the Sunday edition each week.

"My brother-in-law lives in a suburb of Chicago and owns an automobile which he keeps in a garage situated on an alley with a number of other garages. One day when I was out to visit him I got the idea of devoting a corner of my page to a picture of this alley, naming it Gasoline Alley. The feature proved popular and I continued to use it every week.

At length it was suggested that a child in the pictures would add interest. Then I arranged to have an infant left on the doorstep of Uncle Walt, who had been the leading character thus far. That was the beginning of Skeezix."

GETS MANY LETTERS

Gasoline Alley is now one of the most popular comic features in the country and is used by 150 newspapers. Mr. King says he is in receipt of hundreds of letters each week from newspaper readers who offer comment on the pictures.

"Some of these missives are very amusing," he observed. "For instance, some time ago when Skeezix was kidnaped, there was a flood of letters from persons in all walks of life who protested against this outrage. There were letters written by the trembling hands of elderly women, apparently on the verge of tears because Skeezix had been lost, and others from men offering suggestions as to the recovery of the infant.

"One of the surprising things is how closely the details of the pictures are followed. Any inconsistency is promptly brought to my attention. One woman wrote and asked why Mrs. Blossom in one of the pictures had eight ruffles on her dress, while in another there were only seven. One man pointed out that in one picture I had inadvertently shown 'Unca' Walt with a cigar in his mouth and another in his hand at the same time. The reading of these letters affords me a lot of amusement."

MORE PLEDGES TO FREDERICKS

Re-election Indorsements Pour in Steadily

Captain's Congress Service Basis of Praise

Familiarity With District's Needs Impresses

Indorsements for Capt. John D. Fredericks for re-election next Tuesday to Congress from the Tenth District continued to pour in yesterday to the Fredericks-for-Congress headquarters at the Auditorium Hotel Building, Fifth and Olive streets, and included a strong personal appeal to the voters from Maynard McFie, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, which office was also held by Capt. Fredericks.

Among the many indorsements received from organizations were those of the Republican County Central Committee, Republican County Congressional Committee, Young Men's Republican League of Los Angeles, West Side Republican Club, East Side Republican Club and Veterans of Three Wars. Col. E. E. Kirk, prominent Spanish-American War and World War veteran, chairman of the Fredericks-for-Congress executive committee, expressed himself yesterday as particularly pleased at the large number of letters of indorsement being received from leading men and women of Los Angeles. These include indorsements from William Lacy, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Past President Sylvester Weaver of the Chamber; Secretary Frank Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Granville McGowan, Col. E. W. Clark, Theresa D. Vaughan, Dr. Howard Seager, Dr. W. W. Beckett, Bradner W. Lee, Dan J. Brownstein and Estelle Lawton Lindsay.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES

Former President McFie of the Chamber of Commerce in his letter setting forth some of the reasons why the voters of the Tenth District should return Capt. Fredericks to Congress, said:

"Los Angeles itself and the upholding of the policies of President Coolidge are the outstanding issues of the Congressional campaign in the Tenth District.

"Los Angeles is the most rapidly growing city in the world and as such needs a strong man in Congress aggresively to contend for those needs. In the next ten years we can expect the greatest development in our history. We must have a man in Washington who is fearless, honest and capable, to represent our district as it should be to obtain needed elements of expansion and improvement. We must have a man who can command the Federal co-operation that we should rightfully share.

"AGENCY FOR GROWTH"

"Our development opportunities are receiving plenty of national attention, and at the present time there are delegations from Washington visiting in the city and studying our needs and progress. It is by this agency, through the work of an able representative, such as Capt. Fredericks has proved to be, that we will grow as we should. No one can say what will be the variety and importance of issues that will come up in Congress affecting this section in the near future. The sensible thing to do is to prepare for them, be ready to take advantage of our opportunities. This suggests that we have a man in Washington big enough to cope with our problems. A man whose intellect, whose standing, whose record for getting results will command the respect and attention of our national leaders.

"Irrespective of politics or of immaterial issues, injected into this campaign at a late hour, Capt. Fredericks is the type of man we want in Congress. He is vigorous and forceful, he brings dignity together with a commanding intellect to bear on all problems. His intimate association as president of the Chamber of Commerce and as

A FEEBLE EXCUSE

The taxpayers continue to pay the heavy transportation costs of Councilman-Socialist Criswell's personal campaign for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Tenth District, opposing Capt. John D. Fredericks, incumbent. Mr. Criswell admitted on the floor of the Council Tuesday that he is campaigning daily in the City Council's $5000 Peerless sedan, propelled by municipal gasoline and driven by a patrolman from the city's not too well-manned police department. He said he will continue to do so, declaring that he is "speaking for the power bonds"—notwithstanding that he was stopped in the middle of his speech Monday night by interposition of the chairman, who informed him that he could not make a political speech in his own behalf.

The futility of Mr. Criswell's excuse for this petty waste of public money is evidenced by the fact that there is no organized opposition whatever to the power bonds and consequently no need for campaigning in their behalf. If there were, it may be doubted that Mr. Criswell would disinterestedly donate so much of his own time to the cause.

REID HANGING IN BALANCE

Court Order Seeking Stay in Execution Tomorrow Rushed North; Efficacy Still in Doubt

As a final attempt to save the life of Clarence (Tuffy) Reid, who is scheduled to die on the gallows at noon tomorrow, Public Defender Aggeler yesterday obtained from Superior Judge Fleming a certificate of probable cause to stay the execution until the State Supreme Court may act on a question of jurisdiction involved in the legal battle.

The latest move on behalf of the convicted slayer of Charles Weingarten, came after Judge Fleming held that he had no jurisdiction to consider the petition for a writ of error coram nobis, by which Reid's attorney seeks to obtain a new trial. Judge Fleming, in granting the certificate of probable cause, stated he did so because the question of jurisdiction was "a close one and one which should be left up to the Supreme Court."

The certificate was rushed to San Quentin last night and will be served upon the warden of the prison today. At the same time the appeal from Judge Fleming's ruling on the question of jurisdiction will be filed with the Supreme Court, which is in session in San Francisco.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Shelley, who argued against the certificate, gave notice of appeal from Judge Fleming's decision. This is necessary, Mr. Shelley stated, to obviate the necessity of returning Reid to Los Angeles to set a new date for the hanging. With the appeal before the Supreme Court, he stated, that body will have jurisdiction and may reset the date. Mr. Shelley expressed the opinion that the warden of San Quentin will have to obtain a ruling from the Attorney-General before he acts on Judge Fleming's order. Attorney Aggeler, however, contended that the warden is bound by law to honor the certificate.

The writ of error asked by Reid's attorney, one which is unusual in such cases, is based on affidavits of six jurors who convicted Reid in Judge Reeve's court here.

The asserted entrance of Bailiff Reeder into the jury room during deliberations with information that life imprisonment meant on the average about ten years, is said to have caused two jurors to vote for the death penalty because they did not believe ten years was sufficient punishment.

Attorney Aggeler, in arguing the petition yesterday, contended that the Constitutional rights of Reid were violated as a result of this asserted information. The fight for a new trial was asked on the

CITY W.C.T.U. FOR SHELDON

House-to-House Canvass in His Behalf as Candidate for District Attorney Pledged

A house-to-house canvass of Los Angeles in behalf of Judge Caryl M. Sheldon, candidate for District Attorney at next Tuesday's election, will be made by the Los Angeles City Federation of the W.C.T.U., 3000 strong, it was decided yesterday at an enthusiastic meeting of the organization at Temperance Temple. Every woman present pledged her whole-hearted support to Judge Sheldon's campaign for a clean and efficient District Attorney's office. The candidate addressed the gathering briefly, earnestly pledging fulfillment of their desires if he is successful at the polls and paying high tribute to the character of citizenship and purity of motive of the silver-haired gathering of mothers whom he addressed.

STRONG TRIBUTES

"I place Judge Sheldon at the head of all the list of those for whom I work and vote," said Mrs. Allie Wheeler, president of the city federation.

"Not one thing have I heard against his record and only one against his candidacy," said Mrs. M. E. Jenkins, "and that is that he is young. Youth is a wonderful thing to possess. It is the youth of our land who have accomplished much. Right here in our city is the example of Judge Bledsoe, who held an important public office when he was much younger than Judge Sheldon."

Dr. W. A. Crawford, president of the United Brotherhood of Pasadena, who came to ask questions of Judge Sheldon, said:

"I am satisfied that he has the character essential to the office he seeks. Last night in one of the churches of Pasadena, Judge Sheldon was heartily indorsed by the Brotherhood, of which I am president. Not knowing him personally I came to ask him publicly these questions and I am satisfied that the citizens of this great county, wealthy in material things can, with the election of this young man, look for an increase of spiritual wealth."

"It will be be one of my chief concerns," said Judge Sheldon, "to see that complaints are not issued without sufficient evidence. At the present time there come up in our courts cases of men who have been in jail for six months or more and their cases are immediately dismissed for insufficient evidence. And yet the taxpayers have been put to that great, unnecessary expense.

"On the other hand, I shall bring to swift justice, if I am elected, those who are arrested and are obviously guilty."

One of the women present told how, out of 7000 cases of crime, drunkenness and bootlegging in Judge Sheldon's court, 3000 had served jail sentences after being proved guilty. She told, too, how Judge Sheldon since the time he was a boy of 11, had earned all his own clothes and had worked his way through college.

FROM DR. COLVIN

D. L. Colvin, Ph.D., University of Columbia, spoke enthusiastically of Judge Sheldon as a champion of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"I congratulate you on this enthusiastic work for Judge Sheldon. It is indeed a crusade for clean government in this county," he

LAST WIFE OF M'COY HUNTED

Actress Vanishes After She Calls Kid Guiltless

Story of Seeing Second Man at Mrs. Mors's Doubted

Search for Dagmar Dahlgren, eighth and last wife of Kid McCoy, who is said to have disappeared from the Christie Hotel in Hollywood after making a statement declaring knowledge of McCoy's innocence of the murder of Mrs. Teresa W. Mors, was begun last night by Detective Lieutenant King of the District Attorney's office. Miss Dahlgren will be asked to describe under oath what she says she saw on the night Mrs. Mors met her death at the Nottingham Apartments.

Detective Lieutenant King declared yesterday he is doubtful of the accuracy of the actress' statement and will question her closely.

Her story is she was living across from the Nottingham on the night of the asserted murder and saw McCoy leave the apartment, following which another man entered and had a quarrel with Mrs. Mors. After that she heard a shot, she declared.

Detective Lieutenant King said Miss Dahlgren left the Christie Hotel Tuesday night and has not returned. He will continue the search for her today.

GEMS RETURNED

Two other developments in the McCoy-Mors case yesterday were the granting of a continuance of the boxer's arraignment until 10 a.m. Monday and the delivery to the District Attorney's office of three pieces of jewelry Mrs. Mors is said to have been wearing on the night of her death.

McCoy made his first appearance in court yesterday when his attorneys, R. D. Knickerbocker and E. L. Davis, asked for more time in which to prepare their pleas. This was granted by Judge Crail, who gave them until 10 a.m., Monday.

When the indictment of McCoy for the murder of Mrs. Teresa Mors was being read in court, the fighter straightened up and cried: "I did not."

He had previously leaned against one of his attorneys and looked haggardly around the courtroom. In jail clothes, the once dapper McCoy was changed greatly. His hair was awry and his eyes wild. In every way he showed the strain of the preceding twenty-four hours when he raved in his cell at the City Jail like a madman.

The jewelry, which Mrs. Mors is said to have been wearing at 7 p.m. on the night of her death, was turned over to Detective Lieutenant King by Attorneys Stewart and Stewart, who represent Mrs. Jennie Thomas, sister of McCoy. Detective Lieutenant King said the attorneys declared the jewelry had been entrusted to them by Mrs. Thomas.

This fact, according to Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Assistant Captain of Detectives Cline, completes the case against McCoy, who, his sister has testified, came to her and confessed he had killed a woman. He turned over the jewels at the same time, police say.

CALLED EVIDENCE

In delivering the jewels, a diamond pin in the shape of a quail, a diamond and sapphire wristwatch and a black pearl ring, Attorney A. T. Stewart, declared he considers them as evidence but the ownership will have to be fought out later in court or agreed upon between the different parties.

More jewels entered the case yesterday when customs agents here received a report from the Collector of Customs at New York about several valuable pieces of jewelry said to have been in possession of Albert Mors, husband of the dead woman, a short time ago. A check will be made on these jewels here to see if duty has been paid, it is said.

Local officers last week seized other valuable jewelry owned by Mors to carry out a similar investigation.

Mors had an extended conference with Paul D. Robinson, undertaker, yesterday, after which it was announced Mrs. Mors's body will be sent to New York tomorrow.

EXPENSIVE CASKET

The body will be in an expensive casket. It will be received by Mrs. Clare Weinstein, mother of Mrs. Mors in New York City. Mors first wished to cremate the body, it was learned yesterday, but Mrs. Weinstein wired it was contrary to Jewish burial customs and the art collector agreed to ship it.

Defense Attorneys Knickerbocker and Davin denied yesterday McCoy will plead guilty to any of the charges against him. They said more defense alienists will examine the former fighter in the County Jail. The names of these experts were not announced.

McCoy was indicted by the grand jury Tuesday for the murder of Mrs. Mors, and for four counts of robbery and three of assault with intent to commit murder.

DECISION ON TAX REFUND ASKED SOON

County Supervisors Call on Stone for Community Property Levy Action

A resolution asking the Attorney-General at Washington to hasten, if possible, decision on the community property tax refund matter was passed unanimously yesterday by the Board of Supervisors. It was introduced by Chairman McClellan and read:

Whereas, there is now pending before the Attorney-General of the United States a matter of great importance to many citizens of this county, that is, the question of the legality of the refund of payments made to the Federal government on community property,

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the county of Los Angeles that the Attorney-General of the United States be respectfully requested to cause such immediate attention to be given to this matter as is consistent with the other duties of his office, to the end that an early decision of the question may be had.

SUES FOR SIGHT LOSS IN NEAR-BEER BLAST

Charging he lost the sight of his right eye as the result of the explosion of a barrel of near-beer, William E. Foster, proprietor of a soft-drink establishment at 1637 Cabrillo street, yesterday filed suit for $25,900 damages against the Whistling Bottling Works and the Los Angeles Brewing Company. Foster asserted the blast occurred June 7, last, while agents of the defendants were attaching a carbonic gas pipe to the barrel.

CREW OF WRECK RESCUED BY TUG

Schooner Arden Tossed on San Clemente Rocks

Wind Snaps Mooring Cable; Victims Brought Here

Men Were Asleep at Time; Captain Badly Hurt

The wrecking of the fishing schooner Arden in a gale which swept Mosquito Harbor at San Clemente Island last Monday night, tearing the vessel from her moorings and throwing her on the rocks, was disclosed yesterday on the return to Los Angeles Harbor of the Red Stack tug Fearless with the survivors of the wreck.

K. Nakamura, captain of the schooner, was perhaps mortally injured in fighting his way to shore through the breakers. He was removed to a hospital immediately after the arrival of the Fearless here. The three members of the crew were not injured.

The vessel was moored in the harbor, with the crew and captain asleep below decks, when the gale arose. The cables parted, and before the crew and captain realized what had occurred the schooner had been dashed on the rocks.

Next morning the crew succeeded in hailing a passing fishing vessel and this brought word of the accident to Los Angeles Harbor. The tug was dispatched to the scene immediately and the captain and crew of the wrecked vessel taken off the island.

It was stated that the schooner, valued at $20,000, would probably prove a total loss, but the insurance companies have ordered the Fearless and her sister tug, the Restless, to proceed again to the scene with empty barrels and salvage gear and to make an attempt to salvage the vessel.

Abused Biddies Have Defender Before Council

There is no legislation whatsoever to protect chickens and it is high time there is, thinks R. S. Sparks. As president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals he appeared yesterday before the City Council's Public Welfare Committee and asked that something be done about it.

Chickens, says Mr. Sparks, are packed in crates so tightly that they cannot stand or so much as move a wing while being sent to market. They are packed equally as tightly as human beings pack themselves into street cars at rush hours.

Mr. Sparks proposes an ordinance that would make it a misdemeanor to keep chickens closely confined in crates longer than twelve hours at a time. If they are not slaughtered by that time the dealers would have to take them out and give them some exercise.

"It's a shame the way they treat chickens," says Mr. Sparks. "There is legislation to protect human beings, dogs and cats and horses, but absolutely none for chickens. No, sir; no State or Federal laws on the subject."

NEW TELEPHONE PROPOSAL FILED

six months, he stated, is caused by numerous owners of large plants and buildings who placed orders for telephones for future installation. Expansion of service and lack of cable, account for delay also, he said.

Fred Beaty, president of the Montebello Chamber of Commerce, requested the commission to revise the order establishing an exchange area in Montebello so it would not include the 6000 industrial area. This area, he said, has no relations with Montebello and should properly be linked up with Los Angeles.

DENIES CITY BOOST

Statements that the telephone company is proposing a rate schedule which will increase bills of Los Angeles subscribers anywhere from $25 to $50 a month were denied by Mr. Powley in a statement made to the commission yesterday.

"Main line business subscribers are paying $9 per month for an individual line," Powley explained. "Under the company's proposal these same business subscribers will be given the choice of electing to take an individual line of a flat rate of $12.50 per month, or on a message rate basis of $5.50 per month with an allowance of seventy calls. For all calls in excess of seventy and up to and including 200 messages per month a rate of 5 cents will apply for each such call, and for all additional messages, 4 cents.

"The largest increase the company is asking is $3.50 a month. Where subscribers are now paying $9 for individual line service they will pay $12.50 for the same flat rate service under the proposed plan.

"If the subscriber elects to take service on the message rate basis as proposed, but finds after the first month that his bill is in excess of $12.50, or the charge for flat rate service, he may exercise an option to take the flat rate and the exchange will be made.

"The company is not asking that the message rate basis be applied on residence subscribers. The flat rate now being used will be continued under the proposal. The largest increase in rates for this service amounts to $1.75 over present charges and will apply on individual line business telephones."

CITIZENS' EXPERTS TO MEET COMPANY'S

Experts and engineers of the Citizens' Phone Rate Protest Committee will lock horns with experts and speakers of the Southern California Telephone committee before a mass meeting in Philharmonic Auditorium next Monday under the auspices of the Woman's City Club.

Mrs. E. C. Bellows, president of the club, will preside at an open forum of the club's 1500 members called for 1 p.m. Monday. To date the club has not thrown its support to either side in the fight over proposed increases in telephone rates, metered service and long-distance exchanges planned for Culver City, Montebello and Beverly Hills.

Louis B. Mayer, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, and chairman of the Citizens' Phone Rate Protest Committee, will head the list of the city's speakers on the question: "Do conditions warrant the proposed increase in phone rates?"

Two experts and speakers, as yet unnamed, will represent the telephone company.

CIVIC BODIES TO DISCUSS RATE PROBLEM

Representatives of twenty-seven chambers of commerce and civic bodies and industrial interests comprising the East Side Organization, Inc., will hold a luncheon-meeting at the French Room of the Broadway Department Store at noon tomorrow for a general discussion of the telephone situation and consideration of future campaigns concerning matters that will make for the industrial expansion of the east section of Los Angeles.

F. R. Feitshans, president of the East Side Organization, Inc., will preside at the meeting, at which S. C. Graham, president of the Laguna Land and Water Company; J. B. Ransom, managing director of the Bandini Syndicate, and Edwin E. Cox, of Filcher & Cox, who have constituted the organization's committee during the Southern California Telephone Company rate hearing before the Railroad Commission, will present a report.

A report upon the effect the telephone company's service concession will have upon incoming industries that intend to locate on the major industrial district west of Montebello will be presented by Leslie R. Saunders, executive secretary of the East Side Organization.

SEATTLE PREPARES OUSTER ORDINANCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Aug. 20. Councilman William Hickman Moore today commenced drafting for the franchise committee of the City Council an ordinance to oust from Seattle streets all equipment of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The committee decided to recommend the ordinance for passage if the company, which raised telephone rates, the 1st inst., in Seattle, Spokane and Tacoma, three Washington cities, should take steps to discontinue service. The city is to tender the company payment Tuesday for this month at the old rates. The ordinance would be based on contention that the company franchise has expired in Seattle.

MERCHANTS' BODY TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Urging all members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to morally and financially support the fight against the Southern California Telephone Company's metered service project, and stating that it may be necessary to carry the matter into the courts, F. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the M. and M., sent a letter to fellow members yesterday.

This was before N. R. Powley, commercial superintendent of the telephone company testified before the Railroad Commission on a new proposal of the company. This new plan will be presented in detail before the M. and M. tomorrow by Mr. Powley, it was announced last night.

Mr. Zeehandelaar's letter follows:

The commercial and industrial interests of this city are now engaged in a controversy with the Southern California Telephone Company to prevent the execution of their plan of establishing metered service in different sections surrounding Los Angeles, which would greatly interfere with the prosperity and future development of our city.

Especially is this true with the movie industry and a positive statement has been made that if the rates proposed by the telephone company should be put into effect, several of the largest studios will be compelled to move elsewhere.

The industrial sections of this community would also be compelled to adopt the measured service and our industries would be seriously affected and harassed.

It undoubtedly will become necessary to take this matter into the courts for judicial decision as to the rights of the telephone company, and the protection of our industries, and for that reason a public fund is now being established to be expended under the direction of well-known and influential business men. We, therefore, urge our members to contribute to that fund as liberally as possible in the interest of the entire community.

ROADS BLAMED FOR FIRES

Head of Izaak Walton League Thinks Fewer Arteries in National Areas Would Save Forests

If measures can be adopted restricting the building of automobile roads through the national forests it will prove one of the most effective means of preventing forest fires, according to Will H. Dilg of Chicago, president of the Izaak Walton League of America, now visiting Los Angeles.

"The accessibility to the forest areas made possible by these roads is responsible for most of the fires," said Mr. Dilg. "An illustration is furnished by the Superior National Forest of Michigan, where there are no auto roads, and where only about 7000 acres of forest lands have been burned since the advent of the white man in that region."

HUGE FIRE LOSS

He said 62,000 forest fires took place in the United States during 1923, devastating an area equal to a strip ten miles wide reaching from Denver to New York.

Mr. Dilg, who is at the Alexandria, is the founder of the Izaak Walton League, which was organized a little more than two years ago in Chicago with fifty-four members. Now it numbers thousands of members scattered all over the Middle West and East. Its object is conservation of the natural resources of the country generally, and specifically the preservation of game and fish.

"The principal object of my visit in Los Angeles is to meet Myron Hunt of this city, with whom I expect to make a trip of inspection of the Kaibab Forest, where it is reported there are so many deer that they constitute a nuisance to ranchers. We are going to consider ways and means to remedy this situation. Incidentally, I shall assist in the formation of a chapter of the league in this section. I have traveled over a considerable portion of California prior to my arrival here and find much interest in the organization among lovers of the outdoors."

FEDERAL AID SOUGHT

Mr. Dilg said that since its formation the league has been responsible for the repeal of existing fish and game laws and the adoption of new game codes in nine States. He observed that experience has shown Federal laws pertaining to fish and game preservation to be more effective than State laws and it is one of the league's policies to encourage Federal legislation along this line.

"During the last session of Congress we succeeded in obtaining the passage of the Upper Mississippi fish and game refuge bill," he said. "This provides for a preserve some 300 miles in length between Rock Island, Ill., and Wabasha, Minn., and is the last refuge for wild life in the Mississippi Valley. Fishing and hunting will not be entirely barred in this area but will be carried out under restrictions calculated to preserve the game, instead of destroying it."

Mrs. Weaver's Funeral Rites Are Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Weaver, 64 years of age, who died yesterday after a long illness at her home, 3433 McKinley avenue, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Rosedale Cemetery.

Mrs. Weaver was born in Sacramento and came to Los Angeles about fifty years ago. She was a widow and made her home with an only daughter, Mrs. Evalyn Lugo.

Pierce Brothers & Co. will have charge of the funeral arrangements.

REID HANGING IS IN BALANCE

writ of error coram nobis because that is an old common law remedy, applicable in cases where developments arise subsequent to a sentence or verdict which might have changed the decision of the jury or the judge, Mr. Aggeler stated.

The writ was requested as a last resort by Aggeler, he said, after Gov. Richardson announced that he would not commute the death sentence inflicted upon Reid by a local jury.

TUFFY REID VERDICT STANDS, GOVERNOR SAYS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.—Gov. Richardson today announced that after careful consideration he sees no reason why Clarence Reid, alias Tuffy Reid, murderer, should not suffer the death penalty imposed by a judge and jury, the Governor said:

"All of the facts in this case show that the murder was a particularly cruel, deliberate and cold-blooded affair. Reid held up a trunk store in Los Angeles and covered Charles Weingarten and others with a pistol and demanded their money. Weingarten seized the defendant's right wrist and shoved his right hand, which was holding the pistol, toward the ceiling. The pistol was discharged into the ceiling. Reid then coolly reached into his pocket with his left hand and got another pistol with which he deliberately shot and killed Weingarten. The murderous instinct of Reid was apparent again when he urged his partner to shoot by saying, 'Why in hell don't you do something?' His partner, thus instigated by Reid, fired. Reid and his partner in crime then fled and were later captured.

HAD A FAIR TRIAL

"Reid was given a fair trial by a jury which found him guilty and recommended that he be hanged.

The Superior judge who pronounced the death sentence writes me saying that Reid had a fair and impartial trial and the verdict was a just verdict. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court, which said it was satisfied that the verdict was supported by the evidence, that the crime was premeditated, and that the defendant knew exactly what he was doing. The attempt to show that the defendant was insane because of his use of drugs was not sustained by experts, and the jury found him responsible for his act. The fact that he was a drug user aggravates rather than palliates this cold-blooded crime. Drug users must not be allowed to escape the consequences of their crimes.

"While in jail, he entered into a plot for a general jail escape and boasted that he was willing to murder four turnkeys if they attempted to interfere with him. He procured a pistol on the morning of the trial and attempted to escape by holding up his guard. Fortunately another guard came by and took the pistol away from him, thus preventing a second murder.

NO NEW EVIDENCE

"No new evidence has been presented since the trial and no facts have been brought to light that would warrant me in setting aside the verdict of the jury. A certain newspaper has conducted a publicity campaign to secure the release of this desperate criminal. Its claim that there was irregularity in instructing the jury is positively denied by the trial judge. The fact that the murderer has a mother and a sister is played upon by this newspaper, but the grief of these poor women is caused by the criminal himself.

"The laws of California provide for trial, conviction and execution of criminals of the Reid type, and if there ever was a case where hanging is justified it is in this case. He shot his victim in a cold-blooded manner and instigated his partner in crime to also attempt murder. In prison he has shown no remorse at his monstrous crime, but has boasted of it and planned other assassinations.

"Reid is a confirmed criminal, who, if permitted to escape the death penalty, would undoubtedly continue a menace to his fellow-prisoners and free men. I hope his fate will be a warning to the criminally inclined that crime will be punished in California."

GIRL DIVES FROM DAM; SAVES DROWNING MAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WINSLOW (Ariz.) Aug. 20.—Miss Dorothy Doughman, a clerk in the Santa Fe offices here, is a heroine. Cecil W. Lowen, a telegraph operator, fell from a rock into deep water at the Clear Creek swimming pool. A poor swimmer, he was in danger of drowning when Miss Doughman dived from the dam to his rescue. She kicked him away when he tried to clasp her around the neck, turned him around and towed him to shore.

ONE OF STARS FOR FILM DANCE FETE

Vera Reynolds

Two hundred and fifty million dollars' worth of clothes, one of the most beautiful arrays of gowns and wraps and furs ever assembled in any one place, will be shown as one of the many features planned for the Greater Movie Season Ball at the Ambassador the 27th inst.

Cecil B. De Mille, film director, is to stage the affair, with scores of beautiful girls as models, with such celebrities as Vera Reynolds, Julia Faye, Estelle Taylor and Lois Wilson.

Twenty-seven acts of vaudeville will be presented, and to the five big bands to furnish the music have been added Landry's band and that of the Knickerbocker syncopators. There will also be regular movies, of actual scenes, taken on sets erected before the public and a parade of artists in costume, and pageants galore.

The committee announces that the money to be derived from this affair will go toward defraying the expenses of the current Greater Movie Season, and will be used to start a fund that will advertise next year's Greater Movie Season to all the world, as a month-long festival to attract people from all parts of the country.

Tickets for the ball are now on sale in every theater in the State, and in Los Angeles can be procured at all the downtown and neighborhood theaters as well as at the leading hotels.

MORE PLEDGES TO FREDERICKS

District Attorney for eight years makes him especially qualified to know our needs.

"Never before has Los Angeles been so vitally interested in Congressional action. Development of the harbor, of which Capt. Fredericks has been champion for years; the maximum development of the Boulder Canyon Dam project, the establishment of a naval base on the Pacific Coast, are all so vital that it is imperative that we have a man of broad vision, capable of doing big things in Congress. Capt. Fredericks is that man. He is a commanding speaker, given to clear thinking, and deep analysis. He has intimate knowledge of local needs and the ability forcefully to present to Congress the voice Los Angeles and Southern California must have in settling those questions."

In every section of the district there is an active Fredericks committee composed of members from every walk of life, from the sons of toil, the clerk, professional men, small and large business men, women influential in fraternal and club circles, leaders of the ex-service men's organizations, ministers, Republican leaders and many who claim to be independent voters.

Hundreds of friends of Capt. Fredericks have volunteered to help in this campaign to return him to his seat in Congress, predicating their work upon their desire to see the district and Los Angeles properly represented in Washington. Many workers who are not personally acquainted with the Congressman have volunteered their services because of the excellent record he has made in his brief term in Congress. These workers are united in declaring that Capt. Fredericks is by far the most capable candidate for the office and a conservative estimate of the Fredericks vote would indicate a total approximating that of all other candidates for Congressional position.

VETERANS INDORSE FREDERICKS'S CANDIDACY

Enthusiastic indorsement of the candidacy of Capt. John D. Fredericks for re-election as a member of Congress from the Tenth California District was given by Unit 103 of United Veterans of the Republic at a meeting last night at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home. Not only were veterans of the Spanish War, in which Capt. Fredericks served, strong in their expressions of support, but veterans of the Civil War and World War also joined their buddies in a pledge to work for Capt. Fredericks's candidacy.

A big turnout is expected at the rally tomorrow night at the Soldiers' Home by supporters of Capt. Fredericks. Members of the Sawtelle unit are expected to be active on behalf of his candidacy in the primary.

The meeting last night was presided over by Commander John P. Eagan. More than sixty members of the unit, which draws its membership from veterans of all American wars, were present. A feature of the evening was initiation of eight new members.

OFFICER KILLED IN STREET FRAY

ten, shot through the left leg, and William Muir, 79, of 237 South Main street, shot through the right ankle. All three were rushed to the Receiving Hospital, where Wilhoit died.

Rose Cort of 3135 Malabar street also was struck in the leg by one of the stray bullets, according to reports reaching police. The bullet caused a flesh wound, it was stated, and the woman was removed to her home.

Waving his automatic pistol in the air the Mexican fled from the scene of the shooting down Second street and to the Rescue Mission on Los Angeles street. He was pursued hotly by a squad of six officers which followed up the stairs to the second floor and cornered him. Cowering down behind a barricade of overturned furniture, he pointed his pistol at the foremost officer and pulled the trigger. He had forgotten to reload. Detective Lieutenant Chester Lloyd and Motorcycle Officer Ed German twisted the gun from the Mexican's grasp and with their companions rushed him to the Receiving Hospital, arriving in time for Patrolman Wilhoit to identify him as his assailant before the officer died. On the dying officer's identification and statement the police will base a charge of murder.

The Mexican gave his name as Eduardo Lopez and his address as 319 Stockton street. He said he was 17 years of age, but a chauffeur's license in his possession gave his age as 22 years.

Patrolman Wilhoit was walking his beat in company with a Mexican who had been defrauded by a confidence game operated by men who were thought to be on the street, when his attention was called to Lopez by a storekeeper. He was told that Lopez had been flashing a gun a few minutes before.

Wilhoit walked up to Lopez and placed his hand on his shoulder, saying he would have to take his pistol away from him, according to persons who saw the shooting. The Mexican twisted out from under his hand and whirled around with his pistol in his hand, continuing to shoot until the gun was empty.

Traffic Officer Gunn at Second and Main street heard the fusillade of shots, saw a man fall to the sidewalk and another start running. He started in pursuit and when he saw a pistol in the fleeing man's hands, drew his own revolver and began shooting. He shot twice.

Other policemen and men on the street took up the chase and a large crowd was at his heels when the slayer turned in the doorway of the Rescue Mission.

Detective Lieutenants Lloyd and Roberts, Motorcycle Officers German and Flikas and Mounted Officers Martin and Behel led the way up the stairs after the fugitive. They had called to him to come down and had received no answer, so they rushed the stairs, hearing the click of an empty revolver as they got to the top. They rushed the Mexican to prevent him from trying another shot.

Police Surgeons Saverien and Dodge announced that there was no hope for Wilhoit as soon as the preliminary examination of his injuries had been made. There was one bullet hole in the middle of his chest and another in the right side, neither of which came out. He also had a bullet hole in each leg. Wilhoit retained consciousness until a few moments before he ceased to breathe and was able to give a detailed statement of the shooting to Captain of Detectives Cline. The slayer was conducted to the operating room and identified.

After the identification, Lopez was taken to the detective bureau for questioning and an examination made of his personal effects. His watch and chain was said by Detectives Lloyd and Roberts to have been stolen on August 10 from W. H. Halford of 843 West Sixtieth street. A record of the burglary was found in the police record bureau.

Wilhoit was 36 years of age. He joined the police department October 10, 1917, and was credited with an excellent record. When he took the examinations for appointment he stood fifth among all applicants. He lived at 906 1-2 South Main street, and, according to the records, was unmarried.

said. "I also congratulate you on the letter of protest you sent to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler against his stand for wet laws. Since you as an organization, sent that letter so short a time ago, I know that three men have resigned from the board of trustees of Columbia because of their sympathy with your views. But here you have a man of courage and intelligence who is also loyal to his country's laws and its Constitution." And he indicated Judge Sheldon.

The city federation received from the printer yesterday the lists of all the candidates to be voted upon next Tuesday. Beside each of more than 100 names was either the word "dry" or "wet," indicating the attitude of each candidate on prohibition.

Prominent in the list were two names: "Asa Keyes—wet;" "Caryl Sheldon—dry."

M. Andre Gives Rules of Health

Sufficient Nourishment and Thorough Elimination of Impurities Are Essential, Noted Chemist—Tells of Karnak

By W. CARTER PHILLIPS

Unnatural living conditions prevent civilized man from enjoying the health and strength Nature intended he should have, according to M. Pierre Andre, discoverer of the celebrated medicine, Karnak.

If the body gets sufficient nourishment to keep up the strength and impurities are eliminated thoroughly there is no reason why we should not enjoy good health indefinitely, declares M. Andre.

Unfortunately modern man has surrounded himself with artificial living conditions that make the attainment of this balance practically impossible.

The major portion of our food is hastily cooked and hard to digest. Constant hard work, business cares and social activities keep our brains and our nerves at high tension and we do not get sufficient sleep, rest and recreation. The over-wrought system craves stimulants like coffee, tobacco, and strong drink, and finally the entire structure tumbles down and our vital organs "go on strike."

When one considers how many ordinary, unnatural ills afflict the average man or woman there is no wonder that the system becomes clogged with poisons that bring on disease before its time.

Karnak brings relief to countless sufferers by strengthening the weak, worn-out stomach, improving digestion is re-established, appetite for wholesome food is increased, Karnak stimulates the metabolism, or the change of food into body-building tissue, is improved. Impurities are eliminated thoroughly and naturally, and red blood is built up which means healthy flesh and strength to replace the flabby, worn-out tissues.

In this way Karnak will restore the vitality, restore the glow of health, strength and energy.

Thousands of people everywhere are praising Karnak for what it has done for them in the public press.

The usual eagerly sought potion of American history was prescribed by Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog. He was followed by Baby Muriel MacCormac, screen juvenile, who entertained the lads and lassies with stories and recitations. The program was concluded by 4-year-old Bobby Apt, who read short verses.

E. C. Harrison, a collector for the Shell Oil Company, was robbed of $500 yesterday by a man who boarded his car at Wilshire Boulevard and Oxford street, according to his report to police. The man, he said, climbed into the seat beside him, pressed a revolver against his side and compelled him to drive to First street and Gramercy Place, where the man took his money, got out, jumped into a gray Ford touring car in which there were two other men, and fled.

"DROWSY" AUTOIST ROBBED

John Bower, automobile salesman of 1318 Gardner street, Hollywood, started home from a party early yesterday morning but became drowsy, and pulling his car up to the curb, dropped off to sleep. AMID DANGERS

What is wanted is an effective fog-dispeller for the use of polar flyers.

SOMETHING UNDER FOOT

New steel passenger cars on the German railways are equipped with cement floors. This is putting government operation in a concrete form.

THE NEW FUEL

Norwegians are using sulphite spirit, which is distilled from sulphite cellulose, as a motor fuel, and it is likely to entirely displace gasoline in their cool kingdom. It sounds like something the bootleggers over here might be selling for drink.

MADE IN LOS ANGELES

The new Los Angeles Public Library will be a fine example of home-brew. It will follow Los Angeles plans and be built by Los Angeles contractors of Los Angeles materials. If it comes to a showdown Los Angeles authors will be pleased to write all the books.

SHOWING SPEED

The French people are offering a prize of 200,000 francs for an airplane which will sail the world's speed record, now held by Americans. Maybe they want to get out of Germany in a hurry. More likely they want to be able to get back into the Ruhr in a hurry if Germany starts anything.

THE ESSENTIALS

A woman, a horse, a sword, a fountain and a tree were the five essentials of Paradise to the Moslem shepherds. Now they are not sure but the horse may be swapped for a motor. Perhaps Mahometans will have to reconstruct their Paradise in order to allow parking space for a flock of Fords.

GOING UP

No less than twenty-four reckless souls have applied for the chance of steering the rocket which Prof. Goddard is building to head for the moon. The prospect of a safe return is rather remote, but there are some folk to whom the idea of sensational suicide carries its appeal. To be fired at the moon in a massive rocket would seem to supply this craving. There is always a waiting line of wild men when Mars or the moon are to be approached.

MOTH AND RUST

Rust and erosion deplete the world's iron and steel to the extent of more than $2,000,000,000 every year. There is a time limit on every structure of steel, and the replacements are a huge item in the industry. The mineral resources of the world are gradually being destroyed by friction or corrosive action. They are not easily restored or duplicated. We can raise timber, but when rust gets in its full work there is no survivor. That is why reforestation should be the commanding program of the future.

THE DISTURBERS

The Wobblies are reported as plugging for La Follette, but this should not be disturbing. The Wobblies are constitutionally disqualified from pegging efficiently for anybody and in most cases are likely to be of more harm than good. Certainly the Wobbly support should not strengthen the La Follette position with real Americans. It was a bit uncertain, anyhow. La Follette still professes a respect for American traditions and institutions, but his own opinions and the character of his support do not carry much assurance.

THE POLICE NEEDS

Just two years ago, under the urge of a new Police Chief, Chicago placed an additional 1000 policemen on its force under a promise that crime would be checked. Now, with another Chief, there is an emergency call for the immediate appointment of another 1000 patrolmen with the same pledge. The City Council is a bit hesitant. It means the addition of something like $1,500,000 to the police pay roll. It is true that crime has been slightly lessened as the force has been enlarged, but the per cent of improvement is not high enough to call for hearty cheers on the part of the citizenry. Is there any gentleman present who can give information as to what constitutes an adequate police force?

THE FIRST VOTER

It is submitted that there are in America upward of 7,000,000 first voters. These are young men and women who have come of age since 1920 and have never had opportunity to cast a ballot in a Presidential election. Were they all to be rounded up for one candidate they might prove the deciding factor; but they will divide as their fathers and mothers did before them. However, as the situation lies they cannot but strengthen the Coolidge majority. The Republicans were over 7,000,000 votes ahead in the last Presidential controversy and it is reasonable to expect that a heavy preponderancy of the new vote would be Republican. The law of average would make it so, if nothing else. Such being the case, it is not at all out of the way to calculate upon a total of no less than 20,000,000 votes for Calvin Coolidge, which would assure him of an easy victory. The bulk of the rising vote is safe and sane.

THE TENTH DISTRICT

Los Angeles has faith in Calvin Coolidge. The great majority of the people here believe he is the right man in the right place. They have confidence in his integrity, his courage and his sincerity of purpose. That confidence was expressed in the Presidential primaries and will be expressed again in the general election in November.

But the people of Los Angeles, and the rest of the country as well, know that the Coolidge policies cannot be carried into effect unless a Congress is elected this year that will hold up the President's hands. The country suffered and is still suffering for electing in 1922 more than a score of Representatives who posed as Republicans, but were radicals and Socialists at heart. They assumed the mask of Republicanism in order to get into office; and, as soon as they were in Washington, they entered into a coalition to defeat the very policies they had espoused as candidates.

Republicans must be on their guard in order that they shall not again be betrayed by enemies of the administration masquerading as Republicans. Such a candidate is seeking the Republican nomination in the Tenth Congress District. Ralph L. Criswell was for years a registered Socialist. He is now registered, for political purposes, as a Republican; but, in a letter bearing his own signature, republished in The Times Wednesday, he informed his former Socialist party workers that he was still a Socialist at heart.

In his present campaign he has the support of the La Follette organization in Southern California. The La Follette men regard him as one of their own. He is one of the group with which they hope to form a new bloc in 1925, with the avowed purpose of organizing the House of Representatives against the Republican administration; for they admit in their inner councils that there is but faint hope of defeating Coolidge and Dawes in November.

The Times trusts that the electorate of Los Angeles will not be hoodwinked by a political trickster into giving the Republican nomination in the Tenth District to one who would use his efforts in Congress to embarrass the Coolidge administration, who would make common cause with the enemies of the President and of the Republican party.

Capt. J. D. Fredericks, the incumbent, has proved his worth to the district and to the nation. He is regarded in Washington as one of the strong men from the West. His record for his first term is one to which every loyal American in the Tenth District can point with justifiable pride. By reason of his twenty years of public service here and in Washington he possesses exact knowledge of the conditions in his district. He knows our harbor, its needs and its destiny. He knows the necessity of securing solid Republican support to preserve the present tariffs on our citrus fruits. He knows what his district needs and how to get it.

His loyalty to President Coolidge and his policies is above suspicion. His record in the last Congress fully justifies his nomination and election.

His chief opponents comprise the interests which have always been opposed to the protective tariff and Republican principles in general. In seeking for Criswell the Republican nomination for Congress these interests insult the intelligence of the real Republicans of the Tenth District.

POLITICAL NIGHTMARES

Whether inspired by an uneasy conscience or merely frightened by the political outlook Congressman Swing, whose candidacy for re-election in the Eleventh District is opposed by State Senator Sample of San Diego, appears to be "seeing things."

The Imperial Valley statesman is quoted by the Anaheim Plain Dealer in its issue of August 18 as urging Anaheim voters to scrutinize "with a discerning eye" all that is said of Mr. Swing in The Times, his reason, as quoted by the Plain Dealer, being:

"I have no doubt but The Times will spring something the last few days. It plays its unscrupulous politics that way. I ask that the voters guard against being influenced by any attack The Times may make on me."

The Times has said of Mr. Swing that he has failed properly to represent his district in Congress; that he has become involved in the personal and political interests of a few selfish land speculators in Imperial Valley, that his personal political schemes have resulted in delaying necessary flood protection in Imperial Valley; that he has been forced to admit under oath that he accepted a salary of $25 a day from private interests while representing those interests at Washington as the elected representative of the Eleventh District and while drawing salary from the government; that his All-American Canal issue, upon which he seeks re-election, has been repudiated by the owners of a majority of the land in the Imperial Irrigation District.

Just what else Mr. Swing has on his conscience as to The Times "springing something" this newspaper cannot guess, but the foregoing summary of reasons why Mr. Swing is receiving exceptionally aggressive opposition in his fight for re-election may explain his trepidation.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The administration of the business affairs of Los Angeles county constitutes one of the most important local enterprises either of a private or a public nature. Millions of dollars annually are expended for the maintenance of public functions and this money is collected through taxation.

As at present constituted the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county is operating with exceptional harmony and efficiency. County business is proceeding expeditiously and economically and an atmosphere of businesslike common sense has been developed to such an extent as to virtually eliminate politics from the consideration of those entrusted with the county's affairs. This is an extraordinary condition.

Three of the five members of the board are seeking re-election at the primary election to be held Tuesday, August 26. They are: Chairman McClellan and Supervisors Bean and Wright. Mr. Bean, who is unopposed, will be re-elected at the primary. Good business and a regard for honest service recommend the re-election of McClellan and Wright at the same time. A change in the membership of the Board of Supervisors at this time can be justified upon no intelligent basis and, while the opponents of Messrs. McClellan and Wright may not properly be criticised for aspiring to office, there appears no good reason for supporting candidacies based on personal ambitions alone.

Because both Wright and McClellan have elected to remain actively engaged in attention to the county's business during the current campaign, thus leaving the political field to their respective opponents, the important task of urging the voters to register their decision at the polls has been somewhat neglected by the Supervisorial incumbents. Indications, however, point to the re-election of all three incumbent candidates and the consequent maintenance of the existing high standard of service by the board as a whole.

A TEXAS EXAMPLE

Following his triumphant renomination by a majority of five to one in a Texas district, Representative Thomas D. Blanton says that the "black list" of union labor should have no terrors for any man who goes before the people asking their votes on his merits. Congressman Blanton incurred the enmity of the labor-union bosses, with Gompers at their head, when he made speeches in Congress demanding that the independent workers of the country should receive the same consideration as those belonging to labor unions.

He was informed that no man who expressed such sentiments could sit in the House of Representatives. In place of offering an apology he repeated the offense. Gompers sent his agents into Blanton's district with instructions that they must beat Blanton at any cost.

They made their usual whispering and lying campaign; but the voters of Blanton's district were neither to be bullied nor bribed into withdrawing their support from an able and fearless Representative.

Since his renomination, which means re-election in Texas, Congressman Blanton has said that he intends to place the result of the primary vote in his district in the Congressional Record at the next session, in order to convince weak-kneed Congressmen who obey orders from Gompers that they can be re-elected without being slaves.

What Blanton has done in his Texas district hundreds of other Congress candidates can do in their respective districts, provided they possess sufficient courage and sincerity. The American people have little patience with any group that tries to poll its members en masse for or against a candidate on a single issue; especially when that issue is purely one concerning pecuniary profit to themselves.

Gompers has never been able to deliver the votes of the members of the labor unions; for a great number of them give their first allegience to the American Union. The union-labor bosses are expert propagandists. They can bombard any member of Congress with letters and telegrams; but, when it comes to the polls, they can make good neither on their threats nor their promises.

GASSING THE PRESIDENT

Col. M. A. DeLaney, attending surgeon, U.S.A., turned chlorine gas, the kind the Germans used with such deadly effect during the war, upon President Coolidge. The President had a "bad" cold and the gas killed the cold germs. Several members of the Cabinet, twenty United States Senators, 100 Representatives, 500 Army and Navy officers, more than 1000 employees of government departments and private citizens galore have tried the gas treatment and, according to the chief medical officer of the Chemical Welfare Bureau, not less than 75 per cent of all were completely cured. The treatment is simple. You enter a small room, inhale a dilute mixture of gas and air for an hour, then come out cured. There is no danger, so long as one inhales a proper dilution. Thus the chemical genius, called forth by war, is coming to be mankind's best friend.

THE CITY LIGHTS

The city of London is going to burn its garbage to furnish light for its streets. This does not mean that the city is to be illuminated by blazing garbage piles, but that the waste of the metropolis will be incinerated so as to furnish power for light and current. This would seem to be in accordance with modern programs of scientific efficiency. It is like brewing diamonds from the dump.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

The New Mussulman "Liberalism"

Bagdad, the city of Haroun-al-Raschid and the ultimate goal of Kaiser Wilhelm's Mittel-Europa dream, is to have a university. There is to be a medical faculty and one of engineering. The founders would not listen to a proposal for a faculty of letters, probably reasoning like Erasmus of old that the pursuit of letters is less useful than the planting of cabbage. The spirit of the new Turkish and Mussulman liberalism was in evidence when the strictest possible clauses against all forms of religion were included in the documents of foundation. In fact a collection of old Christian manuscripts in the archives of an existing college, to be affiliated with the university, were first destroyed. There is nothing liberal or progressive in that. It's rather a primitive mode of doing things, reminiscent of the barbarian-Christian conqueror of Alexandria. When he was shown the great library of that city, the treasure house of antiquity, he ordered it destroyed. The learned librarians protested. "Is there anything in those books contrary to the Bible?" he asked. The answer was reassuring and hastily given. But the decision was not altered. "If there is nothing in them against our holy religion they must be burned just the same, for the word of God is all-sufficient," was the naive reply.

"My Lord, Beware of Jealousy"

Somebody is always taking the joy out of life. Here the world is standing in awe and admiration at the progress and unparalleled wealth of the United States, and Leon Trotzky comes along and says we are the greatest paradox in history, the greatest joke in international politics. "America fought Germany to eliminate her as a commercial competitor and then turns pacifist and will have nothing more to do in the affairs of Europe," he says, and adds that American prosperity lies in the continued chaotic condition of European affairs. For a supposed economic expert M. Trotzky makes a strange statement. United States bankers and industrialists are fully aware of the interdependence and interrelation of nations. It's true the government has stood somewhat aloof in the program of rehabilitation of Europe, but our time of unofficial observers at European conferences is drawing to a close. One candidate for the Presidency says: "We will no longer be a nation with a three-mile limit and in future we will take our place at the head of the table." That's our rightful place to which we are entitled. M. Trotzky's country, though, cannot complain about American aloofness. There are 20,000,000 Russians today who owe their lives to the American relief expeditions in the Volga famine regions. His contention of America's war aims is also wide of the mark.

RIPPLING RHYMES

AFTER VACATION

Vacation is ended; through woodlands I wended,
I fished in the streamlet and romped in the glen;
I chased the wild rabbit, attempting to grab it—and, oh, it is hard to get busy again!
My labors eternal with ledger and journal are harder to tackle than ever before; and while I am inking their pages I'm thinking of days on the mountain and nights by the shore.
The boss, in his blindness, impelled by his kindness, remarks, "You have vigor, I guess, in each limb; no doubt you're enjoying the labors once cloying, vacation has filled you with ginger and vim." While sadly I ponder o'er daybooks I wander afar from the city to dingle and glade; I'm swimming and diving and hunting and striving to banish all thoughts of the centers of trade. "Charge Lemuel Waring with nine tons of herring," the punk memorandum's confronting my eyes; and "Credit James Freckles with forty-nine sheckels, for he has delivered twelve gooseberry pies." I'm sluggishly writing those entries so blighting, it's hard to get back to the demnition grind; I am not a hedger, but blame this old ledger, when visions of swimming holes lurk in my mind! I am not a slacker, but earning a smacker is harder,
I'm thinking, than ever before; for I am recalling the cataract falling, the days in the forest, the nights by the shore.

PEN POINTS

There is a familiar ring to that complaint of unfairness in the inspection of jobs by city employees.

It seems to be the luck of the police chiefs to get it both going and coming. August figures big in scandals.

The trouble is that some men have to go all the way home before their wives can change their minds for them.

Murder trials have to be hustled along at express speed in order to keep ahead of the supply. It's "off agin on agin" with great regularity.

President Coolidge gave the ladies credit for their accomplishments in politics and recognized their influence as all for good. The Democratic nominee appears to have forgotten about the skirts. He comes from West Virginia—not Virginia.

Doug and Mary had to leave Spain because the people of Barcelona made more of a demonstration over them than they did over their King and Queen on their return from Rome. But it must be recalled that the Spaniards see their ruler every few days, but that it may be only once in a lifetime for Mary and Douglas.

THIS IS THE DAY

The battle of Contreras, Mexico, was fought in the year 1847. It was a complete American victory. Gen. Scott, with 3000 Americans, totally routed 4000 Mexicans under Gen. Valencia. The Mexicans lost 700 killed and wounded and 813 prisoners.

FLYING CHIPS

BY ALMA WHITAKER

England, under her Labor government is going straight to the dogs. This was poignantly pointed out to me by an English butler recently arrived here with stern intent to take out his naturalisation papers forthwith.

He had, he assured me, butled in the past for "first-class establishments," that is to say, ducal and baronial households, calling for at least seven men servants, in addition to the mere feminine menials. Under such decorous circumstances no butler is required to soil his hands.

But could I guess to what depths his profession had fallen in the once proud British Empire? Mournfully he produced a copy of the Morning Post and bowed his head in dishonored grief as I read: "Wanted, well-recommended butler-houseman, total abstainer . . . and, a little lower down, "Chauffeur-valet. . . ."

Did I realize what that meant? Did I comprehend the ignominy involved. "Butler-houseman!" he snorted. "They expect the butler to keep the dining-room clean, m'um. They expect him to look after all the downstairs floor. And chauffeur-valet! Fancy a gentleman expecting to be decently valeted by a chauffeur? Well, that's what England has come down to."

But there is also the shudderful possibility that, even as a free American citizen, his lot may not be devoid of ignominy. I recall one ghastly case in which an imported British butler was required to tend a furnace.

But my butler thinks not. No country that has risen to pride of place among the nations as the United States has could possibly be so lacking in social perspicacity as to wish to demean its butlers. Certainly not when wealthy Americans have once been made aware of the reproach involved, not alone for the butler, but for his employer. For rather is it upon the employer that the opprobium falls and no American of any standing, he felt assured, would deliberately risk such opprobium.

Let us trust he is correct in this fond surmise. Otherwise there is not the slightest doubt that imported butlers will doubt the wisdom of Providence in elevating this country to pride of place.

MEXICO'S OUTLOOK BRIGHT

By a Visitor From Mexico

Since I have been visiting in Southern California many persons who know that I have lived in Mexico ten years, am connected with important American interests in Mexico City and am compelled, by the nature of my business, to keep in close touch with conditions throughout Mexico have asked me if another revolution is not likely to break out in the southern republic as a result of the recent election. There seems so much misinformation on this point that I would like to make my reply to all Southern California instead of to merely those who have spoken to me, if The Times will afford me enough of its space.

The answer is no. There is no danger whatever of a revolution in Mexico this fall or winter. The chances for continued peace in Mexico are better than they have been for many years.

The utter failure of the De la Huerta revolt is going to be remembered for at least a decade and it may well serve to prevent any similar attempt at uprising for twice that long—it certainly will if the policy of the United States remains the same. And once Mexico has peace and order for twenty years it is going to be so established on its feet that it will be able to take care of itself better than it ever has before.

When the United States government adopted the policy of supporting the regularly elected government in Mexico and putting a ban on arms and ammunition for the insurgents it came very near making revolutions-for-revenue-only impossible in Mexico. People in the United States do not fully appreciate what happened. My own belief is that, but for this new policy on the part of the United States, Mexico would be a war-torn country today and De la Huerta, in all probability, would be in Chapultepec.

De la Huerta's plans were well laid. He had some of the best generals and some of the strongest strategic points. He had plenty of soldiers and had established relations abroad which would have secured him ample credit. But he had no ammunition—and neither had the government forces.

But for the United States he would have received munitions ahead of the loyal forces. But the United States forbade all shipments to the revolutionists, thereby establishing a precedent other countries will likely follow in future. The United States also furnished munitions, airplanes and supplies to the government forces, largely on credit. In other words, this country not only furnished the regularly constituted government what it needed, but virtually financed the deal. And, once the government forces had supplies, while the rebels had almost none, the revolt began dying.

Every potential revolutionist in Mexico knows that if another revolt were launched now, as a protest at the election result, it could not hope to fare as well as the De la Huerta revolt did. Would-be revolutionists, therefore, are becoming extremely scarce and even more quiet.

I see no reason to doubt that

ATTORNEY SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS

William N. Goodwin Dies at La Jolla Sanatorium; Funeral Today

William N. Goodwin, senior member of the law firm of Goodwin & Morgrage and for the last twelve years well known in legal circles in Los Angeles, died Tuesday at La Jolla Sanatorium, where he had been a patient for some weeks. Death resulted from a general physical breakdown following a stroke of paralysis suffered last November.

Goodwin, who was 62 years of age, was born in Plumas county, Cal., and spent virtually all of his life in this State. He was educated at Yale, where he attained considerable prominence as an athlete. It is to the rigorous training for athletic events during his college days that his breakdown last fall is attributed.

Goodwin was a member of the Brentwood Country Club, University Club and the national, State and local bar associations. The partnership with Wilbert Morgrage was formed seven years ago.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Jennie H. Goodwin, president of the Three Arts Club, and two children—J. D. Goodwin of Los Angeles and Mrs. James Dibble of Bakersfield.

The funeral will be conducted today at the residence of Herman Kerckhoff, 1325 West Adams, at 3 o'clock. Only the closest friends of the family will be present. The body is to be cremated.

WHOLESALE HOUSE OPENED

Milton G. Cooper Company Building Emphasizes City's Status as World Trade Center

BY OLIVE GRAY

Like a great pink rose blossoming forth in a garden of more sombre growths, the Milton G. Cooper Building, viewed yesterday for the first time by the public, embodies the modern ideal of a commercial establishment which happily allies beauty with utility.

Of rose-colored stucco, the fine proportions of the structure yield pleasure to the esthetic eye, while the interior arrangements for conducting a modern business are beyond possibility of criticism. Occupying a space of 150 feet on Los Angeles street, 150 feet on Ninth street, and rising to a height of 150 feet, creating an effect of unusual symmetry, the style of architecture is dignified and harmonious with the idea of a large and substantial business.

FLOORS AIRY

Instead of thirteen stories—the allowed number for a structure of its height—there are but eleven stories in the building, the space thus saved making for light, airiness and livability.

Expansive window space along all street exposures lends an appearance of a high-class retail house, with wares tastefully displayed while within the house spacious cases are used to show merchandise. Expert window decorators are engaged not alone in placing these exhibits, but in suggesting to clients ways of attractively arranging merchandise in their own sales places.

The entire eleven floors of the new home of the great wholesale and manufacturing house are arranged according to plans tasteful, comfortable and convenient. The top floor is given to the manufacture of garments, women's frocks—a notable line of which was taken over by this house a few years since—play suits, men's overalls, night wear—the unimpeded light and airiness of the workrooms affording exceptional conditions for such employment. Here are commodious quarters for comfort of workers and in fact each floor is thus provided, with rest rooms and other conveniences for men and for women.

COMFORT BUILT IN

One floor is devoted to floor coverings and draperies, another to women's ready-to-wear, another for yardage. Sales quarters where merchandise is on display for selection by patrons occupy a generous space, while everywhere are evidences of thoughtful provision for the happiness of both employees and patrons. An excellent cafeteria, seating about 200, provides for entertainment of those connected with the establishment, and also for out-of-town clients. Handsome rooms for use by the directorate and as personal offices of the company members are on the first floor. This great first floor room is a triumph of spacious beauty, where a single sweep of the eye commands a full view of the gleaming pillars, offset by colorful merchandise. Yesterday great bouquets and baskets of flowers, immense sheaves of lovely bloom, added to the scene, and at the same time attested the high regard in which the establishment is held, many tributes coming from car cities and even from foreign countries.

Among the ultra-modern conveniences installed is the big Lorator, probably the first of its kind in the West. This contrivance is a sort of super-freight elevator, carrying the immense crates of incoming merchandise to each floor. The work of distribution over an area of seven acres—for this is the floor space covered by the new building—is one requiring thought. The Lorator is supplemented by batteries of freight elevators and passenger elevators and intercommunication between departments is facilitated by a tube system, for forwarding orders or documents. A three-bladed shoot transports outgoing merchandise, the blade for parcel post, one for freight packages, one for local delivery.

An additional building, 100x100 feet, is located on Santee street and here a lower floor is given over to packing and other activities, the second story used as a garage for company machines and to accommodate patrons. The company has its own box factory, its own printing plant and a four-position switch board, while heating, ice-water and hot-water plants and a washed air system of ventilation are of the most modern type.

The Milton G. Cooper Company takes pride in the fact that all materials and all labor used in the building, are of Los Angeles. Curlett and Beelman were the architects.

GROWTH SIGNIFICANT

The history of the Milton G. Cooper Company is bound up with the history of commercial Los Angeles and its phenomenal success is a reflection of the city's growth and attainments. About eighteen years ago, Cooper, Coate & Casey were a small concern, and a few traveling men carrying eastern-made lines. Today, the Milton G. Cooper Company, reorganized two years ago, under the present title, boasts a business extending to every city in the United States, to China, Japan, Mexico, to many South American and other foreign countries, where are distributed garments originated and manufactured by this company. An immense importing and exporting business along all lines carried further proves its enterprise. Yesterday, during the hours from 2 to 10 o'clock, thousands of friends called ato offer congratulations and to view the new home. Refreshments were served and an orchestra, stationed on the mezzanine, played during the reception.

VETERANS BID STORE EMPLOYEES TO BALL

An invitation to employees of downtown department stores to attend a ball and carnival Saturday evening on Eighteenth street, between Hope street and Grand avenue, by the Los Angeles Unit No. 107 of the United Veterans of the Republic was issued by the committee on arrangements yesterday. Proceeds of the entertainment will be given to disabled veterans.

WHEAT EXTINCTION FEARED

Australian Farm Director Says Unless Price Level Rises, Cereal Will Cease to be Grown

The price of wheat all over the world will have to be maintained at a higher level than it has been during the last two or three years or this form of cereal will cease to be produced, according to Dr. S. S. Cameron of Melbourne, Director of Agriculture of the State of Victoria, Australia.

Dr. Cameron, who is at the Biltmore, made this statement in discussing the production of wheat in his own country in particular and that of other wheat-growing regions in general. He suggested that the recent rise in the price of wheat in the Middle West barely has placed the wheat grower in a position to make both ends meet.

TELLS OF PROBLEM

"Prices on farm products inadequate to cover the cost of production plus a reasonable profit to the producer present a problem in Australia no less than in America," said Dr. Cameron. "It is a situation that seems to confront agriculture in all parts of the world and it deserves the careful consideration of thinkers and economists everywhere. Unless the farmer can be assured of returns fairly commensurate with the effort he puts forth, the farming industry will decline steadily and the production of some of the food essentials, among them wheat, may practically cease."

Dr. Cameron stated that the State of Victoria exports annually wheat valued at about $20,000,000, the same amount in dairy products, and wool valued at $100,000,000.

"These figures may be multiplied by four to represent the total amount of exports in these products from the entire country and about $20,000,000 may be added as the value of our annual meat exports," he said.

Victoria now is developing its best industry and one of the objects of Dr. Cameron's visit in California is to study the methods of growing sugar beets here.

MORE PRODUCTION

"This product runs about fifteen tons to the acre in our best beet-producing areas in Australia and is grown largely without irrigation," he said. "A sugar factory was established in Victoria some years ago, and it is now being enlarged and improved to take care of the increase in production. We have enough sugar lands to furnish all the sugar consumed in Australia. In addition to the section adapted to beets, there are large areas capable of producing cane sugar in the tropical northern regions of the country, and the growing of this commodity is steadily increasing."

He said the notion is erroneous that most of Australia is a desert, incapable of producing crops without irrigation.

"On the eastern and southern coasts the rainfall is abundant and even in the interior there is enough rain to produce good crops without irrigation," he said. "Of course, it is of advantage to irrigate and nearly 1,500,000 of the 60,000,000 acres of agricultural lands in Victoria are now under irrigation."

PARK USE IS REQUESTED BY SHRINERS

Part of Pershing Square Sought by Official for Conclave Registration

A request for the use of a portion of Pershing Square as a registration and information headquarters during the fifty-first annual session of the Imperial Council of the Shrine was made to the Los Angeles Park Commission yesterday by Motley H. Flint, director-general in charge of the convention program. Mr. Flint said that the park was the most convenient and best-suited spot for such headquarters.

Mr. Flint's letter to the board follows in part:

"This convention promises to be the largest from point of attendance ever conducted on the Pacific Coast and the cost of handling it will be between $300,000 and $400,000. From present indications we will have not fewer than seventy-five bands, all uniformed in gorgeous Arabic costume, and more than seventy-five Arab patrols and drill organizations, with probably twenty singing choruses from various cities.

"It will be necessary to provide a very large information and registration headquarters and if there were any other place large enough I would not request the authority to use Pershing Square."

ILLEGAL USE OF SOFT DRINK NAME CHARGED

LOCAL COMPANY ACCUSED OF SELLING IMITATION AS COCA-COLA

Two suits charging unfair competition were filed in Federal Court yesterday by the Coca-Cola Company of Atlanta against Peter L. Lasher and the Keystone Confectionery Company, of which he is the owner, and Charles W. and Edwin L. Tilliford, doing business as Tilliford Brothers.

It is charged in the suits that the defendants sold a drink resembling coca-cola to customers, who asked for this product. These drinks, it is asserted, were dispensed under the name of coca-cola.

The suits, it was stated by Attorney L. F. Lyon, representing the company here, are test actions. Others will follow if the company is sustained in these, he said.

BOXER KILLS HIMSELF

Kid Stringer is Found Shot in Heart; No Work Blamed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 20.—Harry Watson, 21 years of age, an oil worker, known in boxing circles as Kid Stringer, shot himself through the heart today. His landlady, Mrs. Bushakre, of 1236 Pine avenue, said he had been despondent because he was out of work and in poor health. His body was found by Detective Sergeant McDonald on a bed in his room. It was sent to the Cleveland undertaking rooms.

Watson leaves an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerns, of 605 Redondo avenue.

The Times does not contemplate any advance in advertising rates, either display or classified, at this time. The Times will maintain, as it has for years past, the policy of charging a just, reasonable rate for advertising space—sufficient to yield a fair return.

The same policy has been and will be adhered to as subscription rates. When the cost of newsprint dropped, The Times at once reduced its monthly subscription price—thus keeping faith with its readers. Today, considering the quality and size of the Daily and Sunday Times, subscription rates are lower than those charged by any other newspaper in the United States.

The Times aims always to give quality, quantity, service and full value.

Up-To-Datest:

Wigs to match the costume. This is latest news from Paris. Or—if you prefer—wigs to contrast thereto. Lavender wigs, crimson wigs, yellow wigs, bronze wigs, wigs blue, cocoa-colored, black, brown. Bobs are to blame, they say. For, however pretty and becoming are your shorn locks for daytime wear, you must appear "haired" in some sort for evening. More conservative women will be satisfied, it is predicted, with wigs of hair—short for daytime—or possibly their natural bobs, and coiffed for evening—the latter a wig. Happy day for the hairdressers!

August Occasions

August, in the sense of being impressive, opportune—are the sales, in progress during the present month. She who is informed as to forthcoming modes and who is forehanded enough to formulate her wants for the seasons about to begin, may practice genuine economy during these sales. Although that old maxim which runs, "Never buy what you do not want, merely because it is cheap," is as good as it is time-worn, to know what you need and to buy it for less than usual, is the part of wisdom. There is no line of personal or household requirement which may not be satisfied, at money-saving advantage, by one au courrant. Any doubt as to the discrimination of Los Angeles women, in this regard, must have been set at rest by the response during sales recently closed. Several such opportunity events are still in progress and more to come. Itemized lists as to family and household needs, as well as personal requirements, will help in advantagement from such offerings.

Straight and Narrow

Straight and narrow is the way of the silhouette for the advancing season, both dresses and wraps conforming to this idea. Any possible hint of fullness is but a restrained semblance, pleats, godets, tiny flares inset, being but a meager make-believe of enhancement.

Plaids

The new plaids in silk and in woolen fabrics, are tempting to a degree. Here's a warning. Do not venture beyond your depth! Plaids for the diminutive woman are an error, if not an actual couturial sin. Restraint should be the watchword of those so constituted. On the other hand, a sort of plaid insurance is issued by the new en semble mode, making possible the use of these alluring checkereds, since they may form the lining of the coat in the compose and appear as panels, or as vestees, bousings and other features, in conjunction with plain materials of the general plaid tone. Smartness and distinction may thus be attained by the discriminating, without sacrifice of trigness in form or silhouette.

Hold! They Do!

She, who has struggled with the lingerie shoulder strap until patience has ceased not only to be a virtue, but to be alive, may now take heart o' grace. A lingerie clasp, which actually does hold those refractory straps in place! Small though the article, great is the event. Invented by the manufacturer placing on the market a snap that will snap, this precious little contrivance for shouldering womens' lingerie cares, is still further provided with a series of tiny grips, which hold the strap in place without injury to the fabric, even though it be a dainty ribbon or a strip of finest lace.

Unbelted

Although there is little change in the general silhouette for fall and winter, save that skirts are much shorter, a new note or revival is evinced in the unbelted line. This, however, will—in all probability—be confined to the more formal dresses for afternoon or for evening wear. Richness of fabrics and rightness or line will supplant elaboration in these habiliaments.

Studdy Rain-Sun-Sols

If the new rain-sun-sols are racing with the new skirts as to which shall be the shorter, I'll not wager on the winner. Actually stubby are these new weather-shades which may be carried in all seasons. Handles and sticks are fashioned from bakelite or other material simulating carved or plain semi-precious stones, amber or lovely woods. Sheenfully silken, of course, is their material and even though an effective addition to the chic of the ensemble they are protectively practical as well.

FASHION REMARKS

The circular apron front is good.

The molded silhouette is in vogue.

For fall the long sleeve is apt to be a fitted affair.

Graceful lace tiers are edged with bands of fur.

Charming sports hats of cretonne are lined with white.

Badger fringe is a fall trimming note worth marking.

The detachable tunic is a decidedly amusing novelty.

Skirts seem but slightly wider and very decidedly sorter.

An entrancing pearl tassel may finish one's pearl bracelet.

Printed velvets are among the novelties in fall materials.

When the sleeve is long it generally extends over the hand.

Skunk is used for the collar of a simple wrap of brown velours.

Buttons are decidedly popular. Novel ones are gilded bone.

A great deal of beading is used on the sheath gowns for evening.

is the great number of Southern California women who refuse to accept any other brand—even when it means changing grocers, to get it.

They know that it pays to insist!

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

MASSAGE

H. G.—Massaging helps stimulate the circulation and so is good for gaining or losing. However, if you want to develop your legs and arms, the best way is to do some special leg and arm exercises. No, the vegetable compound you mention would not help the disorder you speak of nor any other. See your physician. He will prescribe for you if you need medication.

SIXTY OFF AND 100 TO GO

"Dear Doctor Lulu: Please find inclosed s.a.s.e. and 4 cents in stamps, for which send me pamphlets on reducing. I have already reduced about sixty pounds by your method, and feel fine. I am so happy and can do most any kind of work now. I did weigh 300 pounds and it sure was a burden. I am five feet, five inches tall, and am 52 years of age, so I have a great deal to lose yet; but I will stick to it as it is not hard for me. I do a great deal of hard work and all my housework, with all my washing on the old-fashioned washboard; and I take care of a big garden, mow the lawn and do many other things. I have been looking long and wondering what I could do to reduce and I finally found out, thanks to you. I have three sisters who will start your method of reducing. Will write you later. MRS. M. T."

Yes, do write once a month, Mrs. T. Fat girls of 300 pounds are especially interesting to us. You are down to 240—so you still have around 100 pounds to lose. It is generally considered best to go back to the maintenance diet for a week or so, after a reduction of from forty to sixty pounds. As you are feeling so well, however, you must be getting the elements your system needs and only your terrible burden of fat is being used up for your energy needs. Read the answer following your letter and go by it.

FOUNDATION REDUCING DIET

Mrs. S.—Perhaps you are exercising too strenuously and your muscles have not had time to accustom themselves to it. That is probably the reason for your being so sore and stiff. In your reducing diet, you are including the following: For a large share of your mineral elements and vitamins, a pound to a pound and one-half of vegetables (especially greens) part raw; one-half pound of fruit; for your protein, one pint of skim or buttermilk; two or three ounces of lean meat or fish or nuts or two or three eggs; for your carbohydrates, two average-sized potatoes or two slices of bread; for your fats, one level teaspoonful of butter. All of these foods amount to approximately 1000 C., so if you go on a 1200 C. diet, you still have 200 C. for something you like especially. Candy? M-m-m. Keeps up the longing—Better not.

ASTHMA

Mrs. T.—We have recently had an article on eczema. The eczema on your ankle may be due to some varicose veins. Do you keep it covered constantly with some simple ointment?

Yes, undoubtedly the high, tight collars worn by your daughter help to make her asthma worse. Dietetic errors will cause asthma in susceptible people. You say she eats a great deal of salt. That's not wise. She should eat very little salt. She should always have plenty of greens, fruit, whole-grain breads and cereals. In other words, natural foods. She must not overeat nor undereat. Sometimes asthma is due to the absorption of some of the invisible protein which floats in the air, such as certain grasses and flower pollens, dandruff of dogs and cats, rabbits and horses. Felt hats which have rabbit make-up in them will sometimes cause the spasms in susceptible people. Sometimes certain wools and feather pillows are the offenders. (Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers)

My dear followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and eating is the only one for which you must inclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 300 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

SOUTHLAND LAUGH ARMY IS MERRIER

Quality of Jokes Sent in for "Times" Fun Film Steadily Improving

Southern California's great army of home-talent humorists is waxing merrier every day. The quality of jokes and witticisms sent in to be considered for The Times' weekly "Local Laughs" film is improving steadily, and the committee responsible for the selection of prize winners each week feels that the fiftieth reel of the series, which has its first run at the California Theater, Los Angeles, beginning Saturday, September 23, is the most hilarious one yet produced.

The list of theaters showing "Local Laughs" has been augmented as rapidly as possible, and many communities now enjoy this weekly fun-fest on the screen of their favorite playhouse.

In addition to the California Theater, Los Angeles, where "Local Laughs" will be shown each week beginning September 23, the following houses are booked, including many of the popular West Coast theaters:

Long Beach, Palace Theater.
Santa Ana, Yost Theater.
Inglewood, Seville Theater.
Bishop, Bishop Theater.
Los Angeles, Olympus Theater, 2104 East First street.
Los Angeles, Wilshire Theater, 331 South Western avenue, and Tivoli Theater, Forty-third and Central avenue.
Hollywood, Granada Theater, Apollo Theater.
San Pedro, Cabrillo Theater.
Glendale, T. D. & L. Theater.
Riverside, Mission Theater.

Weekly prizes of $5, $3, $2 and twelve of $1 each await Times readers and movie-goers who send in the best jokes. The only requirement is that jokes do not exceed thirty words. Any number of jokes may be submitted at one time, and contributions may be sent as often as desired. Care should be taken to write name and address on each sheet of paper.

Prize-winning jokes which appear on the screen also show the name and address of the contributors, this being the only announcement made of the winners. Checks are mailed out shortly after the release of each film.

The "Local Laugh" coupon, printed elsewhere, is convenient to use in sending your best joke to the Local Laugh editor of The Times.

Wives Seeking Divorces Score Army and Navy

Two defense services got similar wallops from two suing wives yesterday.

Sue Allen LaGette declared Lieut. James T. Le Gette, U.S.A., spent all his spare time drinking, playing polo and playing cards. He got the habit in the Philippines, she declared. They were married October 20, 1921 in South Carolina, and separated here May 10, 1922, she said.

Frances E. Welch declared Lieut. John Francis Welch, U.S.N., spent all his pay above bare living expenses for liquor. He got drunk to celebrate their wedding day, August 6, 1920, and remained so a week. August 15, 1920, was his birthday and he got drunk again; he celebrated Christmas by going to Tia Juana and spending $400, so Mrs. Welch averred. They separated July 1, 1922.

Society Goes to Benefit Party Despite Clouds

Unmindful of the clouded sky and chilling breeze yesterday afternoon, crowds of society people gathered in the gardens of Mrs. Isaac Hampshur Jones's residence on Lucerne Boulevard for the gay garden party given for the benefit of the Assistance League, of which Mrs. Hancock Banning is sponsor.

Many unusual features were arranged. A beautiful willow tree in the garden was a riot of color when it was turned into a grab-bag tree with brightly colored parcels hanging from each limb. One booth was devoted to Ramada bowls. These bowls are in reality the plain kitchen variety, but the girls interested in the Assistance League have painted them in splashy colors and designs under the direction of Miss Leta Horlocker.

A professional tennis contest was fought to the bitter finish in one corner, while tea was served near by. Bright balloons, filmy scarfs and many others accessories to a pleasant afternoon were purchased by those present. The money derived is used to aid in the many different lines of work which the league is sponsoring.

Whittier Man Uses Shotgun to Slay Self

Albert Raxira, 23 years of age, son of a wealthy rancher near Whittier, committed suicide yesterday, according to the Sheriff's report, by shooting himself with a shotgun. The man's head was blown nearly off by the charge, the report stated.

According to statements to Deputy Sheriffs Hunter and Stensland, Raxira had been suffering from a mental disorder and was guarded by a neighbor. When the guard temporarily relaxed his watch, it was stated, he found the shotgun. The body was found by W. E. Durke, a neighbor, and was taken to the undertaking rooms of White & Emerson at Whittier.

NEW POLICY IS URGED IN PAVING CONTRACTS

TRAFFIC DIRECTORS' BOARD TOLD PATENT INTERESTS ADVANCE COSTS

The adoption of open paving specifications for all future street work was vigorously urged yesterday by William Mead at the board of directors' luncheon of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission. Mead attacked the patent paving interests. He said that a check of the patent paving contracts from April 1, last, to the 1st inst. showed an increase in cost over unpatented paving and concrete of 20 per cent.

The commission has instructed its engineers to make a thorough investigation into this subject and the action of this body will be governed by the report of the engineers.

BOYS CHARGED WITH ROBBERY ATTEMPTS

Harold Christenson and Melvin Payne, both 14 years of age, were charged with attempted robbery in complaints filed yesterday in Judge Archbald's Juvenile Court. The boys tried to hold up Karl Looney, 830 East One Hundred and Fifth street, and Opal Sharp, 8007 Crocus avenue, on the 19th inst., it is asserted. Christenson lives at 1542 Putney avenue, Graham Station. Payne resides at 1730 East Sixty-seventh street, this city.

FISHERMAN'S SALAD

Peel and cut in dice enough cold boiled potatoes to make two cupfuls, place in a cold bowl and mix with half a cupful of skinned, boned and diced sardines, two-thirds of a cupful of diced tender celery, two diced hard-boiled eggs, two tablespoonfuls of chopped pimentos, two tablespoonfuls of chopped sweet, green peppers, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful of paprika and one cupful of French dressing. Lef stand on the ice for one hour, drain and mound on six lettuce-covered plates. Cover with mayonnaise and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley and paprika.

SWISS BERRY PUDDING

Cut slices of bread half an inch thick, remove the crusts and fit them closely together over the bottom and sides of a plain mold. Place two cupfuls of berries and a cupful of sugar in a saucepan, heat slowly until the juice runs and the sugar is dissolved, do not cook. Pour into the bread-lined mold and set on the ice for three hours. Unmold and serve with cream.

BOILED HALIBUT

Place in a kettle enough water to cover a four or five-pound center cut of halibut, add one sliced onion, two stalks of celery and three branches of parsley; bring to a boil and boil ten minutes. Add the juice of one lemon and the four or five-pound piece of halibut in a frying basket, cook ten minutes, add a cupful of cold water and cook slowly for thirty or forty minutes. Lift out the basket, carefully place the fish on a hot platter, remove the skin and pour over caper sauce.

CAPER SAUCE

Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter in a small saucepan, add four tablespoonfuls of sifted flour and stir and cook five minutes, do not brown. Add two cupfuls of boiling water and beat with an egg beater until smooth, adding two tablespoonfuls of butter, half a tablespoonful at a time until all is worked in. Add half a cupful of drained capers and serve. Chopped sour pickles can be used in place of capers.

BEET AND CELERY SALAD

Mix one and a half cupfuls of chapped cooked beets with one and a half cupfuls of chopped tender celery, one and a half cupfuls of shredded lettuce, half a cupful of chopped spiced pickles, one teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of paprika, and one cupful of French dressing. Mound on lettuce-covered plates.

SCOTCH MIST

Pound twenty-four macaroons to a fine paste, add twelve lady fingers rubbed to fine crumb, half a cupful of strawberry or other fruit juice, and one cupful of whipping cream; set on the ice to chill. Beat one cupful of whipping cream to a stiff froth, divide into two parts, color one part red and the other green. Place in a pastry bag with a star tube and ornament half of the mixture, which has been placed in a serving bowl, with half of the cream; clean the bag and pipe the other color over the other half. Decorate with maraschino cherries and serve.

DETENTION WRIT PLEA IS GRANTED

President of Bankrupt Firm is Head of Creditor House Claiming $40,000

Federal Judge James yesterday issued an order prohibiting Abraham Ferber, president of Ferber & Co., from leaving the jurisdiction of the local United States District Court until permitted to do so by the court. The order was made on a petition for a writ of ne exeat filed by William H. Moore, Jr., trustee in bankruptcy for Ferber & Co. Judge James took under submission a petition for a writ of detention filed by Trustee Moore to detain Ferber in the matter of the Southern California Dry Goods Company, alleged bankrupt.

Both petitions set forth that Mr. Ferber was preparing to leave Los Angeles on the 20th inst. for Schenectady, N. Y. In the petition granted by the court, Trustee Moore stated the presence of Mr. Ferber was necessary for a hearing to be held soon before the referee in bankruptcy, at which time, it is understood, valid objections will be made to a creditor's claim for $40,000 filed by the Southern California Dry Goods Company against Ferber & Co.

In the petition for a writ of detention it was stated that Mr. Ferber is president and managing director of the Southern California Dry Goods Company and holder of a majority of the stock of Ferber & Co. The latter company, it was asserted, holds all the stock in the Southern California Dry Goods Company.

Today's Hint to Hair Beauty

There are still women who fail to realize that lively hair is largely a matter of proper shampoo. A few moments' systematic care of the hair will give you the beautiful tresses which are half a woman's charm. Proper hair care means only keeping the scalp and hair perfectly clean by use of some preparation for shampooing, not for general cleansing. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—[Advertisement.

OLCOTT SIGNS

LASKY GRABS DIRECTOR ON LONG-TERM CONTRACT

By Grace Kingsley

Now that "Monsieur Beaucaire," showing at the Million Dollar, has brought tremendous good luck and fame both to its star, Rudolph Valentino, and its director, Sidney Olcott, the world will probably be interested to know that Mr. Olcott has signed a long-term contract to produce exclusively for Paramount. This announcement was made yesterday by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president in charge of production of Lamous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Rumors recently were to the effect that Olcott was to direct Norma Talmadge, but the Lasky announcement refutes this. In the meantime the production of a remarkable series of successes, culminating with the Valentino picture, has caused Olcott to become one of the most widely discussed directorial figures in motion pictures, and "The Humming Bird" was among the pictures which revealed his genius.

Under the new contract Mr. Olcott's first production will be Joseph Hergesheimer's "Three Black Pennies," and following the signing of the contract the director left Hollywood for New York to begin production of this picture, for which Margaret Turnbull has prepared the scenario under immediate supervision of Mr. Hergesheimer.

Mr. Lasky likewise had another important announcement to make, this time concerning Pola Negri.

"In line with our policy to give only our biggest directors to Pola Negri, we have decided to have Mr. Olcott direct her in a picture here in Hollywood at an early date," he said.

Which should give Miss Negri a full quorum of Lasky directors!

At the present time the star is making "Forbidden Paradise," with Ernest Lubitsch directing. James Cruze will produce a picture with Miss Negri in the starring role following "Forbidden Paradise," and Mr. Olcott will succeed him in the production of a story which is not yet selected.

Other Lasky activities are important. A cast paralleling in strength that of "The Covered Wagon" yesterday was announced for "North of 36." The first of these two Emerson Hough stories was produced by James Cruze, while to Irving Willat has been assigned the production of the second. The featured players are Jack Holt, Lois Wilson, Ernest Torrence and Noah Beery. Other members of the cast are David Dunbar, Stephen Carr, Guy Oliver, William Carroll, Clarence Geldert and Ella Miller. The last-mentioned player is a colored actress whom Irvin Willat called from New York to play the part of Mammy Milly in the production.

The entire cast has left for location in Texas, twenty-seven miles out of Houston, where a great deal of the picture will be filmed. Other locations also have been selected in the actual settings of the story. James Hamilton adapted "North of 36" to the screen.

Paul Bern returned yesterday from a flying trip to New York, where he spent a few frenzied days transacting business that had accumulated while he was directing and editing "Open All Night" at the Lasky studio here. As soon as his business had been completed he boarded a train for the Coast in order to finish preparations for the filming of his next picture, "Worldly Goods," starring Agnes Ayers, Pat O'Malley, who has been rapidly coming to the fore in pictures, will play opposite Miss Ayers. The picture is adapted from Sophie Kerr's magazine story by A. P. Younger.

Actors Attend Indian Funeral

Marian Nixon and Hoot Gibson, on location with the Universal company at Pendleton, Or., where scenes for "The Riding Kid" are being made, were present this week at the funeral of Little Hawk, famous old Cayuse Indian, who died on the Umatilla Reservation last week.

Miss Nixon explains in a letter to Hollywood friends that Little Hawk was about 95 years of age and that he was said to have participated in the historical Whitman massacre in 1847. Among members of his tribe the Indian was known as Tam-a-Pia-Kouch-Kouch.

Marian also says the Indian ceremony accompanying the burial was very strange, quite unlike the solemn ceremonies of our own race. Conforming to the old Indian legend that death takes the warriors to the happy hunting grounds, it is anything but a sad ceremony.

Can't Collect Alimony

You may get a divorce from your husband with alimony awarded, but if you happen to be living in New York and your ex-husband is living in California, you can get rid of your husband but you cannot collect alimony.

This legal hairsplitting has just been discovered to her cost by Flo Hart, who in private life was Mrs. Kenneth Harlan until she obtained a divorce, her final decree having been granted in New York a week ago. Alimony of $150 per month was granted, but the New York courts have no jurisdiction over Harlan's property, inasmuch as his residence is here, and therefore Miss Hart may whistle for her alimony, unless her ex-husband chooses to give it to her.

In the meantime it has been announced that Harlan and Marie Prevost will wed shortly.

Dagmar Godowsky in It

Victor Halperin, president of Victor Halperin Productions, is now in New York making a picture, according to word just received from the East. The picture is called "Greater Than Marriage," and no less charming an actess than Dagmar Godowsky has a leading role in it. So that Miss Godowsky isn't likely to come back to California very soon, after all.

Marjorie Daw, Lou Tellegen, Tyronne Power and Ethel Shannon likewise have leading roles and it does look as if it is certain that this time Mr. Halperin has a picture that will be among the season's topnotchers.

Doris May Returns to Screen

Tom Mix's company, filming "The Deadwood Coach," left the Fox studio yesterday for Bright's Canyon, Colo., to be gone several weeks. Doris May, leading lady in the picture, went with the company.

Miss May is making her screen return in this Mix production after a retirement of one year. She left the profession in the summer of 1923 to more seriously take up the duties becoming a wife. She is, off screen, Mrs. Wallace MacDonald.

Marguerite Will Dance

For the first time since she made her advent to the screen several years ago, Marguerite de la Motte will portray the part of a professional dancer in Vitagraph's "The Beloved Brute," to be directed by J. Stuart Blackton.

Miss De la Motte prior to becoming a film star was a danseuse of considerable prominence on the Pacific Coast, having studied under Pavlowa and other great artists.

In her forthcoming picture she will perform three artistic dances which will disclose on the screen for the first time her terpsichorean talents.

Film Stars Aid Woman

Now the women of the Women's City Club are glad they have always spoken well of the film stars. Because the film stars are going to step right in and do their bit toward raising $1,000,000 for the new clubhouse of the organization.

The first step toward realizing this sum will be in the form of a gala garden fete to be held at the home of Jack Dempsey, 2415 Western avenue, Saturday afternoon and evening, August 23.

Several film stars have consented to assist, and one of the first in line to offer service is little Edwin Hubbell, Wampas baby star of 1924. Edwin will assist Mrs. Samuel K. Raymond in selling balloons and lollypops. Naturally he chooses this duty after consulting the many booth committee women as to what was to be sold at the party.

Other stars will include Clara Kimball Young and Anna Q. Nilsson, who head the reception committee. The party begins at 2 o'clock and will continue through the afternoon and evening.

Bess Meredyth Writes In

It hardly seems fair to delegate the job to a woman, but the fact remains that to Bess Meredyth, scenario writer for Fred Niblo, who will direct "Ben Hur" over in Rome, has fallen the task of picking out pretty extra girls for the picture.

A card received from Miss Meredyth is to this effect. She went to Paris to select some of the beauties. Her communication is sketchy but meaty:

"I have been here in Paris for three days trying to pick out some pretty young girls to take back to Rome," Miss Meredyth writes. "This is Hollywood itself, judging from the Hollywood actors one meets here. I am lunching today with Julanne Johnston. Kathleen Clifford is here, too. Had tea yesterday with Andree Lafayette. Saw Al Christie at the Follies Bergere last night. Frances Agnew of the New York Telegraph is here, and is going back to Rome with me tonight. Carey Wilson leaves tonight for home."

Louise Fazenda vacations

Louise Fazenda is now listening to what the wild waves are saying down at Santa Monica, where she has taken an apartment for a few weeks, and from which port she is commuting with Los Angeles. Miss Fazenda is likewise giving her father and mother a treat by taking them along with her. And just in case the outing proves a bit dull for a family used to lively Hollywood society, Louise has taken her parrot along.

The actress has finished another hilarious role in Warner Brothers' "This Woman."

COLLEEN IN DOUBLE ROLE IN NEW CINEMA

Colleen Moore comes to Loew's State Theater Saturday costarred with Conway Tearle in "Flirting With Love," adapted from Leroy Scott's "Counterfeit." The new picture tells the story of a temperamental actress and a hard-hearted critic. It affords Colleen Moore the characterization of a dual personality—the ability to play more than one type of role.

Colleen plays the part of a temperamental actress who feigns dual personality in order to revenge herself on the man responsible for closing her show.

SCENES OF LONDON ARRIVE AT STUDIOS

With the arrival here of scenes made in London, Edwin Carewe is near the finish of the task of cutting "Madonna of the Streets," his latest picture for First National. Scenes made in London were those of the Limehouse district, and St. Paul's Cathedral. The picture is now in ten reels and must be reduced to nine before it can be shipped to New York for distribution. Nazimova and Milton Sills are featured.

Regaining Position as Screen Idol

Rudolph Valentino

"Monsieur Beaucaire," the picture in which Valentino returns to the screen, is making new records in its run at the Million Dollar Theater.

GRAVEURE AGAIN

Noted Baritone Will Sing at Bowl Tonight

No artist before the public today is so noted for arranging varied and interesting programs as is Louis Graveure, Belgian baritone, who is to be heard in a return engagement at the Hollywood Bowl this evening. He sang to 15,000 persons last week, and an audience of even larger numbers is expected tonight.

Graveure makes an annual trip to Europe, visiting the leading musical centers in search of new material for his programs. At the same time he is in constant touch with important American composers, and is often invited to introduce new songs to the public by them.

Tonight the baritone will sing "It is Enough," from "Elijah," by Mendelssohn, and "Valentine's Song" from "Faust," by Gounod. Alfred Hertz has arranged a number of popular orchestra selections, such favorites as Wagner, Beethoven and Schubert being on the program.

PANTAGES PLAYERS TO BE MARRIED ON STAGE

Wedding bells will ring at Pantages some afternoon during the present week when Lillian Hertz, leading the Moro Castle Orchestra, is married to Robert Nathanson, solo saxophonist of the organization. The exact date of the event is being kept secret by the couple, who have been engaged for some weeks and waiting for their arrival in Los Angeles, where both are at home, to celebrate the event.

The only announcement will be a wedding march played on the chimes in the Pantages lobby by Betty Silberman, the organist of the theater. No flowers, no gifts, no old shoes—and to dodge these the whole affair will be made a surprise to the audience and company alike by keeping the date secret until they walk out on the stage and face the rabbi.

REX INGRAM PICTURE NEXT TALLY FEATURE

Rex Ingram's latest picture, "The Arab," with Alice Terry and Ramon Novarro in the leading roles, will be the attraction at Tally's Theater, starting Saturday.

The picture was made in Algiers and Tunis and Rex Ingram brought back with him all of the glamorous enchantment that has beckoned to travelers through the ages.

Ramon Novarro appears as the Arab guide and Alice Terry as the missionary's daughter. Others in the cast are Gerald Robertshaw, Adelqui Millar, Paul Vermoyal, Count De Limur, Maxudian, Justa Uribe, Guiseppe De Campo, Paul Francesci and Alexandresco, famous dancer of the East.

Harry Carroll Concludes Plans for Production

A step toward making Los Angeles a self-sufficing theatrical center, independent of the East even for major musical-show attractions, has been taken through the incorporation of the Orange Grove Theater Company. Harry Carroll, song writer, Orpheum headliner and producer of musical shows in New York is at the head of it.

Carroll reached Los Angeles Monday from Denver after completing part of an Orpheum circuit tour in that city. He had been seen at the local Orpheum a few weeks ago. His arrival marks the beginning of the final stages of preparation for the opening of the new theater. It is the former Fine Arts Theater on Grand avenue, near Seventh street. The opening has been set for the night of Thursday, September 4.

Carroll calls his show the "Harry Carroll's Pickings," with a subtitle, "first crop." That means he proposes following this one with another after a run of three or four months.

The books and lyrics of the Carroll show have been written by Ballard Macdonald, one of the best-known musical-comedy men and lyric writers in the country.

The music for the production was done by Carroll and Arthur Freed, another well-known song writer. Associated with them in the management of the company is Carleton P. Hoagland, well-known theater man and a nephew of the late Fred B. Henderson, one of the owners of the Orpheum circuit.

"Pickings" includes such people as William Morrissey, featured singer in many New York musical shows; Midgie Miller, one of the stars of "The Gingham Girls;" Suzette and Dave Murray; Eddie Borden, vaudeville headliner for years; Eddie Lambert; Walter Ball, who was juvenile lead with "The Clinging Vine;" Ernest Young, formerly with Al Jolson; Miss Billie Beck, musical-comedy favorite in New York, who has just finished a comedy contract at the Roach studios; the Vercell sisters, toe dancers; Russell and Claire, who will put on a classic dance number; Sam Cohen, the "Fannie Brice, male;" Vivian Hart, a coloratura soprano of operatic qualities; Vera Marsh, who was with Carroll's Orpheum act; Carol Wine and Eleanor Putnam, and a number of others not yet programed. Elexandro Ourmansky will help stage some of the dance numbers.

BILL FARNUM RETURNS TO SCREEN NEXT WEEK

Bill Farnum, who was crowned king of screen fighters when he made the never-to-be-forgotten "Spoilers," returns to the screen as a different kind of fighter in "The Man Who Fights Alone," which opens at the Metropolitan Saturday.

This picture marks the return of the actor after an absence from the screen of over a year. It is his first Paramount picture. Wallace Worsley, who wielded the megaphone over "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," produced this picture. Lois Wilson and Edward Everett Horton have the chief supporting roles.

The picture is adapted from the story, "The Miracle of Hate," and Farnum plays the role of an engineer whose greatest fight is to conquer himself and his ugly suspicions of his wife and best friend.

Art Landry and his orchestra, holding over, will be an added attraction.

"GIRL OF LIMBERLOST" DUE AT MISSION SOON

Those who have read Gene Stratton Porter's story, "A Girl of the Limberlost," will welcome the announcement that the author's own picturized version of her novel will open at the Mission Theater commencing next Monday.

Mrs. Porter saw to it that the picture followed the book closely, and personally selected the cast of players whose portrayal of the characters brings out in bold relief all the deft touches—the drama, comedy and romance—that characterize the author's descriptive ability.

"A Girl of the Limberlost" was produced under the direction of James Leo Meehan and, in addition to telling a dramtically romantic story, is doubly interesting because of the introduction of woodland creatures in their natural haunts.

DANCE FOR PICTURE

Ernest Belcher and a group of fifteen artists from his Celeste School of Dancing have just returned from Catalina Island where they appeared in numerous scenes for Jack Conway's latest production for William Fox. The ballet master and his pupils were on the magic isle for three days and some beautiful terpsichorean scenes were obtained, it is said.

GRAVEL BUSINESS—
This is unquestionably one of the finest openings that has ever been presented through this office. A business which did over a quarter of a million dollars last year, can be purchased for the sum of $5500 cash. This amount representing less than half of the actual value of the present equipment. Anyone reading this ad and knowing anything about the nature of such a business would be inclined to say there was something wrong on the very face of these statements. You convince us that you have the ready cash and are interested in the proof of the foregoing and we will give you every opportunity of making your own investigations. Positively no information given otherwise.

Sims, according to probation officers, who investigated the case, is the son of Harvey Sims, a member of the Los Angeles police force.

The three boys were said to be members of a gang of youthful hold-up men who made their headquarters at Slauson avenue and Vermont avenues. Quinenberry, according to the probation officer's report, admitted taking part in twenty-one hold-ups, stating however, that he always carried out the robberies by using a cigarette holder or wrench to cow his victims.

Quinenberry told the officers, according to the report, that he was impelled to go into a life of crime by Ernest Gonzales, to whom he said he was introduced by a girl friend, Evangeline Beaudeau.

The probation officers have recommended that the boys be declared wards of Juvenile Court and committed to the Preston State School at Ione for the period of their minority. Hearing of the cases will be resumed next Wednesday before Judge Vicini.

BOYS ARE HELD AS HIGHWAYMEN

Trio Said to Have Been Linked to Score of Hold-ups

Probation Officers Advise Sentence to Ione

Hearing is Continued Until Next Wednesday

Charged with four counts of robbery, and, according to the police, responsible for more than a score of hold-ups in the southwestern section of the city, three youths, all under 19 years of age, were arraigned yesterday before Judge Vicini, sitting in Judge Archbald's Juvenile Court.

The boys are Robert Quinenberry, 16 years of age; Walter Mills, 18, and Charles Sims, 17. Quinenberry, according to the police, is the son of Mrs. Mamie Cleo Quinenberry, 342 West Fifty-sixth street, secretary to a church pastor. Young Quinenberry's father, a bank president, is said to have

BUILDINGS GO BEGGING AT AUCTION

School Board Sells Seven for $1895; Three Fail to Bring Minimum Bid

The auctioneering business proved to be not so good at the Board of Education rooms yesterday when Robert L. Burns, chairman of the board's building committee, knocked down a number of stores and houses to highest bidders.

Five houses and two stores brought a total of $1895. Three houses and a store failed to sell and, except for one of the stores which will be wrecked, will be readvertised for bidders.

Board officials are unable to account for the apparent lack of interest in auctioning the houses. According to Assistant Secretary Griffin, about 500 houses and stores have been auctioned off by the board during the past four years. They are buildings that the board acquires when purchasing property on which to build new schools or to build additions to old schools.

Usually the buildings are structures in poor condition and not worth taking away. They are listed and advertised, interested persons appearing at the board rooms and making their bids. Another auction sale will be conducted September 10, the following structures to be disposed of and the minimum prices that will be accepted:

One five-room cottage, 994 East Thirty-sixth street, $250; three-room cottage, 1027 East Thirty-seventh street, $25; ten-room, two-story house and shed, 3280 Arroyo Seco avenue, $150; one five-room cottage and shed, 2625 Lan Franco street, $350; three-room California house, 4317 South Olive street, $150; one two-story duplex, eleven-room flat building, double garage and shed, 4321-23 South Olive street, $1000; frame store building, bakery building, four-room frame cottage and shed, 152 North Utah street, $100.

MAN JAILED HERE DENIES OLD MURDER

Local Prisoner Says He Was in Mexico at Time of Memphis Killing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Aug. 20.—John Resinsky alias John Welden, reported held in Los Angeles on a burglary charge, was convicted in the fall of 1916 of the murder of Mae Goodwin, demi-mondaine of Memphis and so-called queen of the underworld. After making two previous efforts he escaped from the Shelby County Jail in April, 1917, and since that time has been sought by Tennessee authorities.

Resinsky first appeared in Memphis in 1916 after having served a term in the Wisconsin penitentiary for burglary. With him he brought diamonds said to have been worth about $10,000 which it is said he left in the keeping of the Goodwin woman.

On the night of October 9, 1916 he went to Mae Goodwin's home and demanded the diamonds. It is said the woman refused to give them up. He is then said to have started to shoot at her. She grabbed a pistol and before she was killed, managed to wound Resinsky in the head. He got the diamonds.

Resinsky fled and went to Columbus, Miss., where he hid in the belfry of a negro church. A broken bell rope led to his discovery. The sexton, going into the belfry, to repair the rope, saw Resinsky and reported the fugitive to the authorities. He was captured and en route to Memphis attempted to escape by throwing snuff in the eyes of a detective guard. The latter, although nearly blinded, fired one shot that brought Resinsky to a halt.

Harry Trafole, alias H. Barnett, held under bond of $3000 on a burglary charge, denied at the County Jail last night that he is John Resinsky, convicted murderer and escaped convict from Memphis, Tenn. He said that he was in Vera Cruz in 1917. He denied ever having been in Memphis.

He said he was in Vera Cruz for two years, but, according to Night Jailer Miller, is unable to speak Spanish. His jail record shows that he was born in France, is 39 years of age, and his nearest living relative is Martin Trafole, an artist, living in Rouen, France.

He was arrested at San Pedro, August 13, was arraigned and committed to the County Jail on the same day. Officer A. J. Farrell turned him over to county custody. Trafole has been ordered held without bail pending investigation of the Memphis charge. The identification bureau was responsible for the prisoner being identified as Resinsky.

CHICAGO SUSPECT HELD

Max Waxman, said to be a leather-goods manufacturer of Chicago, was arrested yesterday on a fugitive warrant from that city charging him with failure to provide for his wife and three children. He will be held at the City Jail awaiting his return to Chicago, it was stated.

SPECTATOR INDICTS DUNLAP

Adds Another Highway Robbery to List of Charges; State Expects to Conclude Today

A court spectator yesterday added another highway robbery to the long list of crimes charged against Harry Dunlap, asserted badge bandit, who is on trial before Judge Crail on seven counts of robbery, one of criminal assault, and one of assault with intent to commit murder.

While witnesses were identifying Dunlap as the bandit who held up a party of six on the Foothill Boulevard, C. O. Ridernhour, 819 West Forty-ninth street, worked his way into the crowded courtroom. Later he made a written statement to Assistant Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Bright that he recognized Dunlap as the bandit who had held him up during the latter part of April, 1923, and robbed him of $8.

TWO IDENTIFY DUNLAP

Witnesses yesterday told of two more robberies in which they identified Dunlap as the bandit. In one of these there were six victims, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Townsend, J. C. Lane, Vernon Jones and Eunice and Elsie Prescott. Lane was knocked down with a gun in the hands of the badge bandit, according to the witnesses, when he objected to the offensive manner in which the women of the party were being treated during the hold-up.

Tire trouble caused the party to stop their car on the Foothill Boulevard near the Mt. Wilson toll house, Lane testified. While the tire was being changed, the witness said Dunlap approached from the rear, fired two shots in the air and shouting, "This is a hold-up! Stick 'em up!" The women were then ordered out of the machine, and he treated them roughly in lining them up to be searched, Lane said. As the searching was going on, the bandit keeping his pistol trained on the victims and talking in a surly manner, Lane testified he protested at the manner in which the women were being talked to and searched. Without warning the bandit struck him with the gun, Lane testified.

After taking what valuables the party had, the bandit disappeared down the road, the witness said. One of the party went to the toll house and reported the robbery, Lane said. About the same versions of the hold-up were given by three others of the victims, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend and Vernon Jones.

WITNESS PROVIDES MIRTH

Jack Biscomb, another of the asserted victims of the badge bandit, provided much amusement for the spectators by his manner on the stand while details of the hold-up in which he testified Dunlap took his money and gun. Biscomb, a farmer from East Long Beach, stated that he had "introduced" himself to a young lady and took her riding. While the car was parked some distance out on South Figueroa street Biscomb said Dunlap came up to the machine and wanted to know what they were doing there. Jumping from the car the witness said he covered Dunlap with a pistol which he had in the car. Dunlap then flashed a badge, Biscomb testified, declaring he was an officer searching for a stolen car. As Dunlap walked to the rear of the car, the witness said he put his pistol in his pocket, and got in the car again after the badge bandit said everything was all right. Before Biscomb could start the car, he testified Dunlap appeared from the other side of the machine, leveled a pistol and flashlight at the couple and relieved the witness of his money and gun.

Biscomb identified an automatic pistol found on Dunlap at the time of his capture in Detroit as being the same one taken from him the night of the hold-up.

Milton Golden and A. V. Kaufman, attorneys for Dunlap, tried to learn the name and address of Biscomb's companion, but the witness insisted that he never knew her name or where she lived. Biscomb was still undergoing cross-examination when court adjourned until today.

MORE DEPUTIES CALLED

A hurry call for more deputy sheriffs to handle the crowd in the corridor who could not gain admittance to the already filled courtroom was sent to the Sheriff's office shortly after court convened following the noon recess. The crowd threatened to break through the barrier and past the one deputy stationed in the corridor. For the balance of the day three deputies held back the impatient throng.

Other witnesses yesterday were Allen Tomlinson, a hardware merchant of Whittier, who testified to selling the automatic pistol to Biscomb. From his gun record the witness identified the pistol found on Dunlap as being the same one.

The defense recalled Hattie Zellner, who testified for the prosecution Tuesday, in an attempt to impeach her on the question of whether the headlights of the machine in which she was riding with Ray Durke at the time of the hold-up were burning. She declared that they were.

Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke, who are handling the prosecution, stated they expected to complete their case today.

PROTEST ON BUILDING BY CITY HEARD

Contractor's Complaint in Construction Without Bids Before Board

The Board of Public Works yesterday held a hearing of the construction industries joint committee complaint of the use by the city of day labor without competitive bidding from contractors. The committee, it was explained, has been formed recently, and represents the building industry.

Specific complaint was made of the construction of the Newton-street police substation by the city without contractors' bids, and the contractors evidently felt that this would be a precedent against competitive bids. Commissioner Eldridge, however, explained that this substation was undertaken in great haste because of the needs of the police department and that the city had the machinery to build it without the delay of taking bids.

"While I personally believe that the city can do the work at a lower figure than the contractors," he said, "I have agreed with other members of the board to ask for bids for the other stations."

"There is not a man in this room who questions the city's right to do the work if the City Engineer can do it cheaper than the contractors' bids," said L. S. Atkinson, Jr., chairman of the construction Industries joint committee. "But if the city is to have a construction department let it compete with the contractors. We believe it is the essence of good business to call for bids. Experience has shown that generally the contractors' bids are lower than the city estimates of the cost of a work. This is because a number of minds figuring on how cheap
